

Japan Credit Rating Agency, Ltd. (JCR) announces the following credit rating.

TOYOTA MOTOR CORPORATION (security code: 7203)

<Affirmation>

CP: J-1+

Rationale

- (1) TOYOTA MOTOR CORPORATION (the "Company") is one of the world's largest automakers. It has competitive advantages among automakers in its wide-ranging vehicle types, leading environmental/safety technology and strong financial foundation, and its Group including suppliers is highly capable of reducing costs. The Company is moving ahead with the Toyota New Global Architecture ("TNGA"), an initiative for higher development efficiency and making better cars. Half of the global sales cars will be TNGA models around 2020. It plans to tackle environment-conscious cars in every direction including electric vehicles (EV). The Company, Mazda Motor Corporation and DENSO CORPORATION in September 2017 established a new company to jointly develop EV. In December 2017, it announced that it would begin studying the feasibility of a joint automotive prismatic battery business with Panasonic Corporation.
- (2) The Company keeps a high level of profit on the back of globally balanced earnings base and its capacity to reduce cost as much as 300 billion yen a year. Development of EV is accelerating against the background of tightening of environmental regulations in many countries. JCR sees that the Company will be able to cope well with a shifting towards EV by leveraging its technologies nurtured in production and development of hybrid vehicles and proactive alliances with other companies. A high level of capital investment will continue into the future due to startup of TNGA model, but JCR sees that its net fund volume of the Automotive operations will continue to increase and that its strong financial base will be maintained. Taking the above into consideration, JCR affirmed rating for the Company.
- (3) It expect its operating income for the fiscal year ending March 2018 (FY2017) to increase 0.3% year-on-year to 2.0 trillion yen. Despite the increasing sales incentives in North American market, sales of vehicles are relatively firm both in Japan and abroad centering on CAMRY, which is full TNGA model. It is highly likely that the volume increase of EV may increase its cost in the medium and long run. JCR will pay attention to whether the Company can keep the current profitability through higher development efficiency by TNGA.
- (4) The Company keeps a strong financial base as shown by its net fund volume (total of cash & cash equivalents, JGBs, etc. less interest-bearing debt) of the Automotive operations excluding sales finance of 7.7 trillion yen as of March 31, 2017. For the sales finance business, its bad debt ratio slightly increased for FY2016, but it still keeps the ratio at a low level through stricter credit policy.

2 The version of the procedure or methodology used to determine the credit rating; as Required by Paragraph (a)(1)(ii)(B) of Rule 17g-7

- Please see the news release.

3 The Main Assumptions and Principles used in Constructing the Procedures and Methodologies used to Determine the Credit Rating as Required by Paragraph (a)(1)(ii)(C) of Rule 17g-7

- The credit rating methodology assumes, in principle, to be applied to assess the likelihood of a given debt payment in light of its issuer's condition and business environment, etc. in the relevant future. There is certain limitation, however, in the time horizon that the rating foresees.
- The credit rating methodology assumes, in principle, that the factors posted in the below are particularly important for such likelihood to be determined, and that the rating determination is made by evaluating each of them not only quantitatively but also employing qualitative analyses.

A) Business Bases

The likelihood of a given debt payment is highly conditional to its issuer's business bases - how they can be maintained/ expanded into the future and thereby secure earnings and cash flows in adequacy and in a sustainable way.

B) Financial Grounds and Asset Quality

The likelihood of debt payment is highly dependent on the degree of the issuer's indebtedness and loss absorption capacity in terms of equity capital. Also notable is that a financial institution might see a significant loss of financial grounds as a result of changes in value of the assets under its possession.

C) Liquidity Positions

The likelihood of debt payment is highly dependent on the adequacy of the issuer's cash and other sources of repayment (liquidity positions).

D) Related Parties' Status and Stance of Support/ Assistance for the Issuer

The likelihood of debt payment is affected one way or the other by the issuer's related parties such as parent company, subsidiary, guarantor, and the government of the issuer's business domicile, etc. - by their own conditions and/ or position of support/ assistance for the issuer.

E) Order of Seniority in Debt Payment

The likelihood of debt payment can be different between given debts of the same issuer. The likelihood of debt payment for an individual debt is dependent on the issuer's discretion, and/ or its rank relative to other debts of the same issuer in the order of seniority in principal/ interest payment which is determined by design as financial product or by laws, etc.

4 The Potential Limitations of the Credit Rating as Required by Paragraph (a)(1)(ii)(D) of Rule 17g-7

The credit rating is not intended to estimate the probability of default or the loss on given default, either.
- The objective of the credit rating herewith presented does not include any concerns other than the likelihood of debt payment, such as risks of price changes, market liquidity, etc.
- The credit rating herewith presented is necessary to be reviewed along with possible changes of the issuer of rated objects in its business performance and/ or circumstances which include regulatory environment, and hence subject to possible alteration.

The resultant alteration of the credit rating is usually by a notch, with possibility of a few notches if and when the change in the business bases is large.

B) Financial Grounds and Asset Quality

The credit rating is subject to alteration if the issuer increases/ decreases its debt/ capital or vice versa and thereby makes its individual debt payment liability less or more bearable and its loss absorption capacity into the future decreased or increased. Also, the changes in the quality of asset under the issuer's holding may affect the credit rating, since such changes could raise or lower the likelihood of future loss of the issuer's financial grounds. The resultant alteration of the credit rating is usually by a notch, with possibility of a few notches if and when the change in the financial grounds and/ or asset quality is large.

C) Liquidity Positions

The credit rating is subject to alteration if there is a change in the issuer's financial management policy or in the relations with fund procurement sources and the change thereby makes its liquidity positions improve or deteriorate. The resultant alteration of the credit rating is usually by a notch, with possibility of a few notches if and when the change is large.

D) Related Parties' Status and Stance of Support/ Assistance for the Issuer

The credit rating is subject to alteration if there is a change in the issuer's parent company or subsidiary, guarantor or other provider of credit enhancement, or the government of the issuer's business domicile, or other related parties' own conditions and/ or position of support/ assistance for the issuer, and the change thereby makes its business bases, financial grounds and/ or liquidity positions improve or deteriorate, and/ or making the effectiveness of guarantee and other credit enhancement improve or deteriorate. The resultant alteration of the credit rating is usually a notch, with possibility of a few notches if and when the change is large.

E) Order of Seniority in Debt Payment and Non-Payment Forgiven by Contract

The credit rating is subject to alteration if there is a change in the rated debt's status in the order of seniority relative to other debts caused by the improvement/ deterioration of the issuer's financial condition. The resultant alteration of the credit rating is usually a notch, with possibility of a few notches if and when the change is large. Also, in case of the financial products for which non-payment of interest/ principal is contractually permissible, the credit rating is subject to alteration if and when the likelihood of such non-payment is projected to increase or decrease. The resultant alteration of the credit rating could be by a notch but often as much as a few notches.

The credit rating is subject to alteration if there is a rise/ fall in the general economy and/ or the markets inducing the issuer's revenues/ expenses to increase/ decrease and vice versa, etc. The resultant alteration of the credit rating is usually by a notch, with possibility of a few notches if and when the change is exceptionally large.
