

Japan Credit Rating Agency, Ltd. (JCR) announces the following credit rating.

TAKARA HOLDINGS INC. (security code: 2531)

<Rating Change>

Long-term Issuer Rating: from A to A+
Outlook: from Positive to Stable
Bonds: from A to A+
Shelf Registration: Preliminary A to Preliminary A+

<Affirmation>

CP: J-1

Rationale

- (1) TAKARA HOLDINGS INC. (the "Company") is the holding company of the TAKARA Group (the "Group"). In addition to the alcoholic beverages and seasonings business (Takara Shuzo Co., Ltd.), it also operates the alcoholic beverages and Japanese food wholesales business for overseas markets (TAKARA SHUZO INTERNATIONAL CO., LTD.), the bio business including bioindustry support and gene therapy (TAKARA BIO INC., "TAKARA BIO") and other businesses. The Japanese food wholesales business for overseas markets has been expanding its network in recent years through M&As and other means. The bio business has a strong presence in Japan and Asia in terms of research reagents, and it is strengthening the contract business (CDMO business) for products related to regenerative medicine and genetic analysis/testing. Although TAKARA BIO has a certain degree of independence as a listed company, the unity of the Group is strong, and JCR reflects the entire Group's creditworthiness in the ratings for the Company.
- (2) The Company is strengthening its business base and improving its profit level. The earnings environment for the alcoholic beverages and seasonings business is severe due to rising raw material and fuel prices and other factors. However, the diversification in earnings sources and geography are progressing thanks to the expansion of the Japanese food wholesales business for overseas markets and the bio business. Demand for COVID-19-related products in the bio business, which has boosted results in recent years, is expected to peak out going forward, but for the time being, the Group as a whole will likely be able to secure a higher level of profits than before. In addition, against the backdrop of the strong performance in recent years, profit accumulation has progressed and the financial base has been enhanced. Based on the above, JCR has upgraded the rating on the Company by one notch and changed the outlook to Stable.
- (3) For the fiscal year ending March 2023 (FY2022), the Company forecasts an operating income of 35.4 billion yen, down 18.3% year on year. Factors behind the income decrease is the impact of lower profits in the bio business stemming from changes in the product mix and an increase in R&D expenses, among others. That said, with the alcoholic beverages and Japanese food wholesales businesses for overseas markets assumed to perform well, profits are planned to be second to the previous fiscal year, in which hit the record high. Until the latter half of the 2010s, even when the operating income was strong, it was in the 10 billion-yen range. However, thanks to the progress of portfolio reforms, it is now able to secure profits significantly exceeding the level. For the time being, the expansion of the global Japanese food market, stable growth of research reagents, and the spread of gene/cell therapy will likely serve as positive factors for its business performance.
- (4) The equity ratio at the end of the second quarter of FY2022 was 53.3%. There is ample liquidity on hand, and the entire Group is in a net cash position. Shareholders' equity increased to 195.3 billion yen at the said date, after entering the 100 billion-yen level at the end of FY2012. Going forward, in the Japanese food wholesales business for overseas markets and the bio businesses, investments may continue to expand to improve their bases. Although the amount of investments will become larger than before, the impact on the financials is considered to be limited as the cash flow generation capacity has been growing.

2 The version of the procedure or methodology used to determine the credit rating; as Required by Paragraph (a)(1)(ii)(B) of Rule 17g-7

- Please see the news release. If the credit rating is a private rating, please see the report for private rating.

3 The Main Assumptions and Principles used in Constructing the Procedures and Methodologies used to Determine the Credit Rating as Required by Paragraph (a)(1)(ii)(C) of Rule 17g-7

- The credit rating methodology assumes, in principle, to be applied to assess the likelihood of a given debt payment in light of its issuer's condition and business environment, etc. in the relevant future. There is certain limitation, however, in the time horizon that the rating foresees.
- The credit rating methodology assumes, in principle, that the factors posted in the below are particularly important for such likelihood to be determined, and that the rating determination is made by evaluating each of them not only quantitatively but also employing qualitative analyses.

A) Business Bases

The likelihood of a given debt payment is highly conditional to its issuer's business bases - how they can be maintained/ expanded into the future and thereby secure earnings and cash flows in adequacy and in a sustainable way.

B) Financial Grounds and Asset Quality

The likelihood of debt payment is highly dependent on the degree of the issuer's indebtedness and loss absorption capacity in terms of equity capital. Also notable is that a financial institution might see a significant loss of financial grounds as a result of changes in value of the assets under its possession.

C) Liquidity Positions

The likelihood of debt payment is highly dependent on the adequacy of the issuer's cash and other sources of repayment (liquidity positions).

D) Related Parties' Status and Stance of Support/ Assistance for the Issuer

The likelihood of debt payment is affected one way or the other by the issuer's related parties such as parent company, subsidiary, guarantor, and the government of the issuer's business domicile, etc. - by their own conditions and/ or position of support/ assistance for the issuer.

E) Order of Seniority in Debt Payment

The likelihood of debt payment can be different between given debts of the same issuer. The likelihood of debt payment for an individual debt is dependent on the issuer's discretion, and/ or its rank relative to other debts of the same issuer in the order of seniority in principal/ interest payment which is determined by design as financial product or by laws, etc.

4 The Potential Limitations of the Credit Rating as Required by Paragraph (a)(1)(ii)(D) of Rule 17g-7

- The credit rating herewith presented by JCR is its summary opinion with regard to the likelihood of given debt payment and hence not necessarily a perfect representation of such likelihood. The credit rating is not intended to estimate the probability of default or the loss on given default, either.
- The objective of the credit rating herewith presented does not include any concerns other than the likelihood of debt payment, such as risks of price changes, market liquidity, etc.
- The credit rating herewith presented is necessary to be reviewed along with possible changes of the issuer of rated objects in its business performance and/ or circumstances which include regulatory environment, and hence subject to possible alteration.

Consequently, the credit rating determined on the grounds of such information does not constitute, explicitly or implicitly, any representation or warrant of JCR on the information itself or any consequences of its use in terms of accuracy, relevance, timeliness, wholeness, market value, or usefulness for any specific purposes.

11 Explanation or Measure of the Potential Volatility of the Credit Rating as Required by Paragraph (a)(1)(ii)(K) of Rule 17g-7

A) Business Bases

The credit rating is subject to alteration if there is improvement or deterioration of the issuer's business bases, since its revenue, etc. may improve or deteriorate by the change in its business management policies, clients' preferences, competitive situation, or a technological innovation. The resultant alteration of the credit rating is usually by a notch, with possibility of a few notches if and when the change in the business bases is large.

B) Financial Grounds and Asset Quality

The credit rating is subject to alteration if the issuer increases/ decreases its debt/ capital or vice versa and thereby makes its individual debt payment liability less or more bearable and its loss absorption capacity into the future decreased or increased. Also, the changes in the quality of asset under the issuer's holding may affect the credit rating, since such changes could raise or lower the likelihood of future loss of the issuer's financial grounds. The resultant alteration of the credit rating is usually by a notch, with possibility of a few notches if and when the change in the financial grounds and/ or asset quality is large.

C) Liquidity Positions

The credit rating is subject to alteration if there is a change in the issuer's financial management policy or in the relations with fund procurement sources and the change thereby makes its liquidity positions improve or deteriorate. The resultant alteration of the credit rating is usually by a notch, with possibility of a few notches if and when the change is large.

D) Related Parties' Status and Stance of Support/ Assistance for the Issuer

The credit rating is subject to alteration if there is a change in the issuer's parent company or subsidiary, guarantor or other provider of credit enhancement, or the government of the issuer's business domicile, or other related parties' own conditions and/ or position of support/ assistance for the issuer, and the change thereby makes its business bases, financial grounds and/ or liquidity positions improve or deteriorate, and/ or making the effectiveness of guarantee and other credit enhancement improve or deteriorate. The resultant alteration of the credit rating is usually a notch, with possibility of a few notches if and when the change is large.

E) Order of Seniority in Debt Payment and Non-Payment Forgiven by Contract

The credit rating is subject to alteration if there is a change in the rated debt's status in the order of seniority relative to other debts caused by the improvement/ deterioration of the issuer's financial condition. The resultant alteration of the credit rating is usually a notch, with possibility of a few notches if and when the change is large. Also, in case of the financial products for which non-payment of interest/ principal is contractually permissible, the credit rating is subject to alteration if and when the likelihood of such non-payment is projected to increase or decrease. The resultant alteration of the credit rating could be by a notch but often as much as a few notches.

F) Rise and Fall in General Economy and Markets

The credit rating is subject to alteration if there is a rise/ fall in the general economy and/ or the markets inducing the issuer's revenues/ expenses to increase/ decrease and vice versa, etc. The resultant alteration of the credit rating is usually by a notch, with possibility of a few notches if and when the change is exceptionally large.

G) Various Events

The credit rating is subject to alteration on occurrence of various events, such as change in the issuer's major shareholders, M&A and other organizational change, accident, violation of the law, litigation, legal/ regulatory change, natural disaster, etc., which are unforeseeable at the time when the credit rating is determined, causing a significant change on the issuer's business bases, financial grounds, etc. The resultant alteration of the credit rating could be by a notch but more often than not as much as a few notches.

Information on the Sensitivity of the Credit Rating to Assumptions Made as Required by Paragraph (a)(1)(ii)(M) of Rule 17g-7

B) Financial Grounds and Asset Quality

The credit rating herewith presented could be changed if and when the assumptions made at the time of its determination turn out to be inaccurate with regard to the issuer's financial grounds and asset

The change could be as much as a few notches if the issuer's financial structure differs so much and thereby the balance between debts shifted so greatly. Rating change is also possible in case of the financial products for which non-payment of interest/ principal is contractually permissible, if and when the assumptions made at the time of its determination turns out to be inaccurate. The change of the credit rating is assumed to be by a notch but often as much as a few notches.
