

Japan Credit Rating Agency, Ltd. (JCR) announces the following credit rating.

LIFE CORPORATION (security code: 8194)

<Affirmation>

Long-term Issuer Rating: A
Outlook: Stable

Rationale

- (1) LIFE CORPORATION (the “Company”) is a major supermarket chain with stores in the two major metropolitan areas: the Kinki Region and the Tokyo Metropolitan Area. It is an equity method affiliate of Mitsubishi Corporation, which holds 25.6% of the voting rights as of the end of the fiscal year ended February 2025 (FY2024). As of the end of FY2024, the number of stores was 314 (305 a year earlier), with 170 (167) stores in the Kinki Region and 144 (138) stores in the Tokyo Metropolitan Area, resulting in a well-balanced structure. Looking at the sales composition ratio for FY2024, the Tokyo Metropolitan Area accounted for 50.6% and the Kinki Region for 49.4%, marking the first time that the Tokyo Metropolitan Area surpassed the Kinki Region. Efforts are underway to break away from commoditized competition, such as the development of private label (“PL”) products and the expansion of online supermarkets.
- (2) Business performance has been steady. Same-store sales are increasing through the development of value-added products and competitively priced products that meet a wide range of customer needs. Although labor and other costs are on the rise, the Company is working to improve the streamlining of store operations, which has helped it maintain profitability. Going forward, earning capacity is expected to be enhanced by ameliorating store competitiveness and advancing operation efficiency. Capital investment is expected to remain at a certain level, primarily in store-related matters. However, judging from the cash flow generation capacity, its financial soundness will likely be maintained. Based on the above, JCR has affirmed the rating on the Company with Stable outlook.
- (3) Operating income for FY2024 was 25.2 billion yen (up 4.8% year on year), marking the second consecutive period of increased income. Although gross profit margins declined due to strategic price reductions, factors such as the expansion of unique products including PL products and increased same-store sales due to price appeal contributed to the Company’s performance. The Company plans to increase operating income for FY2025 to 25.7 billion yen (up 1.7% year on year), taking into account growth in same-store sales and an improvement in gross profit margins. Going forward, sales of the health and nature-oriented PL product “BIO-RAL” are expected to grow further thanks to a rise in the number of items and the opening of standalone stores. Additionally, in order to improve productivity, the expansion of fully self-service checkout machines and electronic shelf labels is expanding, and these are expected to have an effect.
- (4) It appears possible to improve the financial structure by taking into account off-balance sheet lease obligations. In recent years, capital investment has remained at a level of 20 to 30 billion yen, mainly for new store openings and renovations of existing stores. Overall capital investment for FY2025 is planned to be 21.2 billion yen (25 billion yen in FY2024) because of an increase in investment in the renovations of existing stores it is focusing on and systems for streamlining, but a decrease in investment in new store openings. A certain amount of capital investment will likely continue in the future for growth, but given the cash flow generation capacity, free cash flow is expected to remain positive. In addition, equity capital is likely to increase with the accumulation of profits.

The Main Assumptions and Principles used in Constructing the Procedures and Methodologies used to Determine the Credit Rating as Required by Paragraph (a)(1)(ii)(C) of Rule 17g-7

- The credit rating methodology assumes, in principle, to be applied to assess the likelihood of a given debt payment in light of its issuer's condition and business environment, etc. in the relevant future. There is certain limitation, however, in the time horizon that the rating foresees.
- The credit rating methodology assumes, in principle, that the factors posted in the below are particularly important for such likelihood to be determined, and that the rating determination is made by evaluating each of them not only quantitatively but also employing qualitative analyses.

A) Business Bases

The likelihood of a given debt payment is highly conditional to its issuer's business bases - how they can be maintained/ expanded into the future and thereby secure earnings and cash flows in adequacy and in a sustainable way.

B) Financial Grounds and Asset Quality

The likelihood of debt payment is highly dependent on the degree of the issuer's indebtedness and loss absorption capacity in terms of equity capital. Also notable is that a financial institution might see a significant loss of financial grounds as a result of changes in value of the assets under its possession.

C) Liquidity Positions

The likelihood of debt payment is highly dependent on the adequacy of the issuer's cash and other sources of repayment (liquidity positions).

D) Related Parties' Status and Stance of Support/ Assistance for the Issuer

The likelihood of debt payment is affected one way or the other by the issuer's related parties such as parent company, subsidiary, guarantor, and the government of the issuer's business domicile, etc. - by their own conditions and/ or position of support/ assistance for the issuer.

E) Order of Seniority in Debt Payment

The likelihood of debt payment can be different between given debts of the same issuer. The likelihood of debt payment for an individual debt is dependent on the issuer's discretion, and/ or its rank relative to other debts of the same issuer in the order of seniority in principal/ interest payment which is determined by design as financial product or by laws, etc.

4 The Potential Limitations of the Credit Rating as Required by Paragraph (a)(1)(ii)(D) of Rule 17g-7
