

Japan Credit Rating Agency, Ltd. (JCR) announces the following credit rating.

GAKKEN HOLDINGS CO., LTD. (security code: 9470)

<Affirmation>

Long-term Issuer Rating: BBB
Outlook: Stable
Bonds: BBB

Rationale

- (1) GAKKEN HOLDINGS CO., LTD. (the “Company”) is a holding company for a group of companies engaging widely in the Educational domain and the Healthcare and Nursing domain. The group’s integrity is strong, and ratings reflect the creditworthiness of the group as a whole. It has strengths in the extensive knowledge and contents in education, as well as a favorable brand image. In the Educational domain, it runs diverse businesses including Gakken Classroom, cram schools, and the production and sale of children’s books and study-aid books. In the Healthcare and Nursing domain, it mainly operates serviced apartments for the elderly, group homes, and child raising support facilities. The Company is active in growth investments in both fields, including M&As, and in July 2023, it made Ichishin Holdings Co., Ltd (“Ichishin HD”) a consolidated subsidiary pursuant to the effective control approach. Ichishin HD is a company that operates cram schools and others in the Tokyo metropolitan area, of which the Company was the largest shareholder.
- (2) The Company is assumed to be able to secure stable profit primarily in the Healthcare and Nursing domain. The business environment in the Educational domain is becoming increasingly difficult due to factors such as the declining birthrate. On the other hand, in the Healthcare and Nursing domain, serviced apartments for the elderly and group homes remain highly competitive, and earnings are expected to expand as the number of facilities increases. On the financial front, interest-bearing debt is on the rise with active investments, but a certain level of soundness is maintained. The Company has a large amount of unexpired lease fees under operating lease transactions stemming from the leasing of facilities in the Healthcare and Nursing domain, but there are no concerns about rate payment with the high business stability. Based on the above, JCR has affirmed the ratings on the Company with Stable outlook.
- (3) The Company plans an operating profit for the fiscal year ended September 2023 (FY2023) of 5.6 billion yen (down 12.9% year on year). In the Educational domain, a decline in the number of students at cram schools and a decrease in sales in the publishing business were factors of the lower income, but the Healthcare and Nursing domain performed well and appears to have secured a certain level of profit. The Company will likely be able to ensure solid profit from FY2024 onwards. In the Educational domain, e-learning for nurses and study-aid books are stable sources of earnings, and Ichishin HD, which has become a consolidated subsidiary, is expected to contribute to earnings. In the Healthcare and Nursing domain, the number of facilities is increasing while maintaining high occupancy rates. Additionally, in November, the Company plans to acquire a company involved in housing for the elderly, and growth is also expected through M&As.
- (4) The Company maintains a certain financial position, with an equity ratio of 38.3% as of the end of the third quarter of the FY2023. As the Company is setting aside 50 billion yen for growth investments until 2025 and focusing on M&As, etc., interest-bearing debt has been on the rise in recent years. It should be noted that if growth investment continues to progress while cash flow generation ability stagnates, the burden on the financial base may rapidly increase. JCR will pay attention to the earnings contribution of companies which joined the group, their synergy effects with existing businesses and progress in recovering investments.

The Main Assumptions and Principles used in Constructing the Procedures and Methodologies used to Determine the Credit Rating as Required by Paragraph (a)(1)(ii)(C) of Rule 17g-7

- The credit rating methodology assumes, in principle, to be applied to assess the likelihood of a given debt payment in light of its issuer's condition and business environment, etc. in the relevant future. There is certain limitation, however, in the time horizon that the rating foresees.
- The credit rating methodology assumes, in principle, that the factors posted in the below are particularly important for such likelihood to be determined, and that the rating determination is made by evaluating each of them not only quantitatively but also employing qualitative analyses.

A) Business Bases

The likelihood of a given debt payment is highly conditional to its issuer's business bases - how they can be maintained/ expanded into the future and thereby secure earnings and cash flows in adequacy and in a sustainable way.

B) Financial Grounds and Asset Quality

The likelihood of debt payment is highly dependent on the degree of the issuer's indebtedness and loss absorption capacity in terms of equity capital. Also notable is that a financial institution might see a significant loss of financial grounds as a result of changes in value of the assets under its possession.

C) Liquidity Positions

The likelihood of debt payment is highly dependent on the adequacy of the issuer's cash and other sources of repayment (liquidity positions).

D) Related Parties' Status and Stance of Support/ Assistance for the Issuer

The likelihood of debt payment is affected one way or the other by the issuer's related parties such as parent company, subsidiary, guarantor, and the government of the issuer's business domicile, etc. - by their own conditions and/ or position of support/ assistance for the issuer.

E) Order of Seniority in Debt Payment

The likelihood of debt payment can be different between given debts of the same issuer. The likelihood of debt payment for an individual debt is dependent on the issuer's discretion, and/ or its rank relative to other debts of the same issuer in the order of seniority in principal/ interest payment which is determined by design as financial product or by laws, etc.

4 The Potential Limitations of the Credit Rating as Required by Paragraph (a)(1)(ii)(D) of Rule 17g-7

- The credit rating herewith presented by JCR is its summary opinion with regard to the likelihood of given debt payment and hence not necessarily a perfect representation of such likelihood. The credit rating is not intended to estimate the probability of default or the loss on given default, either.
- The objective of the credit rating herewith presented does not include any concerns other than the likelihood of debt payment, such as risks of price changes, market liquidity, etc.
- The credit rating herewith presented is necessary to be reviewed along with possible changes of the issuer of rated objects in its business performance and/ or circumstances which include regulatory environment, and hence subject to possible alteration.

11 Explanation or Measure of the Potential Volatility of the Credit Rating as Required by Paragraph (a)(1)(ii)(K) of Rule 17g-7

A) Business Bases

The credit rating is subject to alteration if there is improvement or deterioration of the issuer's business bases, since its revenue, etc. may improve or deteriorate by the change in its business management policies, clients' preferences, competitive situation, or a technological innovation. The resultant alteration of the credit rating is usually by a notch, with possibility of a few notches if and when the change in the business bases is large.

B) Financial Grounds and Asset Quality

The credit rating is subject to alteration if the issuer increases/ decreases its debt/ capital or vice versa and thereby makes its individual debt payment liability less or more bearable and its loss absorption capacity into the future decreased or increased. Also, the changes in the quality of asset under the issuer's holding may affect the credit rating, since such changes could raise or lower the likelihood of future loss of the issuer's financial grounds. The resultant alteration of the credit rating is usually by a notch, with possibility of a few notches if and when the change in the financial grounds and/ or asset quality is large.

C) Liquidity Positions

The credit rating is subject to alteration if there is a change in the issuer's financial management policy or in the relations with fund procurement sources and the change thereby makes its liquidity positions improve or deteriorate. The resultant alteration of the credit rating is usually by a notch, with possibility of a few notches if and when the change is large.

D) Related Parties' Status and Stance of Support/ Assistance for the Issuer

The credit rating is subject to alteration if there is a change in the issuer's parent company or subsidiary, guarantor or other provider of credit enhancement, or the government of the issuer's business domicile, or other related parties' own conditions and/ or position of support/ assistance for the issuer, and the change thereby makes its business bases, financial grounds and/ or liquidity positions improve or deteriorate, and/ or making the effectiveness of guarantee and other credit enhancement improve or deteriorate. The resultant alteration of the credit rating is usually a notch, with possibility of a few notches if and when the change is large.

E) Order of Seniority in Debt Payment and Non-Payment Forgiven by Contract

The credit rating is subject to alteration if there is a change in the rated debt's status in the order of seniority relative to other debts caused by the improvement/ deterioration of the issuer's financial condition. The resultant alteration of the credit rating is usually a notch, with possibility of a few notches if and when the change is large. Also, in case of the financial products for which non-payment of interest/ principal is contractually permissible, the credit rating is subject to alteration if and when the likelihood of such non-payment is projected to increase or decrease. The resultant alteration of the credit rating could be by a notch but often as much as a few notches.

F) Rise and Fall in General Economy and Markets

The credit rating is subject to alteration if there is a rise/ fall in the general economy and/ or the markets inducing the issuer's revenues/ expenses to increase/ decrease and vice versa, etc. The resultant alteration of the credit rating is usually by a notch, with possibility of a few notches if and when the change is exceptionally large.

G) Various Events
