

Japan Credit Rating Agency, Ltd. (JCR) announces the following credit rating.

SEIBU HOLDINGS INC. (security code: 9024)

<Affirmation>

Long-term Issuer Rating:	A-
Outlook:	Negative
Bonds:	A-
Shelf Registration:	Preliminary A-

Rationale

- (1) SEIBU HOLDINGS INC. (the “Company”) is the pure holding company of the SEIBU Group (the “Group”) having Seibu Railway Co., Ltd. (“SR”) at the core of the Urban Transportation and Regional segment, Japan’s largest hotel chain operator Prince Hotels, Inc. (“PH”) at the core of the Hotel and Leisure segment and Seibu Properties Inc. (“PR”) engaging in real estate leasing and sales, along with others. Given its strong unity with the Group in terms of management, capital, financing, etc., the ratings reflect the Group’s overall creditworthiness. The Company plans to conduct an internal reorganization of the Group on April 1, 2022 to split the operation and asset management of the Hotel and Leisure segment into two separate subsidiaries; hotel operation will be transferred to a new company, SEIBU PRINCE HOTELS WORLDWIDE INC., and asset management to SEIBU REALTY SOLUTIONS INC., a joint venture by PH and PR.
- (2) The Company continues to be affected by the COVID crisis in the railway, bus, hotel and other businesses; yet, demand has bottomed out, and business structural reforms are successfully lowering the break-even point. However, given sluggish recovery in the Hotel and Leisure segment hit hard by the crisis, close attention must be paid to trends in future demand and progress in cost-cutting efforts. The Company is currently liquidating its assets under the asset-light strategy with an eye to restoring the financial base that has drastically deteriorated amid the crisis. Although its earnings capacity and finances can be improved much further, JCR considers that there still is some leeway to observe progress in the measures taken. Accordingly, JCR affirmed the ratings on the Company and retained the Negative outlook.
- (3) The Company forecasts an operating loss of 8 billion yen for the fiscal year ending March 2022 (FY2021), as opposed to the previous year’s 51.5 billion yen in operating loss. While the Real Estate and Construction segments are expected to fare well, the Urban Transportation & Regional and Hotel & Leisure segments will likely post operating loss for two years in a row. At a time when trends in demand is unpredictable, efforts to lower the break-even point remain vital. The Company intends to press ahead with structural reforms toward FY2023, including revising timetables for railway and bus operations, renewing ticket office operations, optimizing the rolling stock and bringing hotel operations in-house, and aims to cut fixed costs by 11 billion yen from FY2019. JCR will in the meantime look at whether the Company can increase the effectiveness of its own efforts to reduce fixed costs by steadily implementing the above measures.
- (4) Equity ratio and net DER as of the end of FY2020 both worsened to 17.6% and 3.0x from 21.5% and 2.5x a year before. While net interest-bearing debt almost remained flat with investment containment, the issuance of preferred shares by SR and PH, etc., net loss reporting pushed down equity capital from 367.2 billion yen at the end of FY2019 to 299.7 billion yen at the end of FY2020. Given business outlook and so forth, financial structure as of the end of FY2021 is not likely to deteriorate further. Also, the Company, while selling all shares in Seibu Construction Supply Co., Ltd., liquidated Shin-Yokohama Square Building, Shibakoen 2-chome Building and Shin- Yokohama Seibu Building. Looking ahead, it plans to liquidate hotel assets, too. JCR will monitor progress in asset liquidation, as well as how far the financial position will improve as a result.

1 The Symbol, Number, or Score in the Rating Scale used to Denote Credit Rating Categories and Notches and, the Identity of the Obligor or the Identity and a Description of the Security or Money Market Instrument as Required by Paragraph (a)(1)(ii)(A) of Rule 17g-7

- Please see the news release. If the credit rating is a private rating, please see the report for private rating.

3 The Main Assumptions and Principles used in Constructing the Procedures and Methodologies used to Determine the Credit Rating as Required by Paragraph (a)(1)(ii)(C) of Rule 17g-7

- The credit rating methodology assumes, in principle, to be applied to assess the likelihood of a given debt payment in light of its issuer's condition and business environment, etc. in the relevant future. There is certain limitation, however, in the time horizon that the rating foresees.
- The credit rating methodology assumes, in principle, that the factors posted in the below are particularly important for such likelihood to be determined, and that the rating determination is made by evaluating each of them not only quantitatively but also employing qualitative analyses.

A) Business Bases

The likelihood of a given debt payment is highly conditional to its issuer's business bases - how they can be maintained/ expanded into the future and thereby secure earnings and cash flows in adequacy and in a sustainable way.

B) Financial Grounds and Asset Quality

The likelihood of debt payment is highly dependent on the degree of the issuer's indebtedness and loss absorption capacity in terms of equity capital. Also notable is that a financial institution might see a significant loss of financial grounds as a result of changes in value of the assets under its possession.

C) Liquidity Positions

The likelihood of debt payment is highly dependent on the adequacy of the issuer's cash and other sources of repayment (liquidity positions).

D) Related Parties' Status and Stance of Support/ Assistance for the Issuer

The likelihood of debt payment is affected one way or the other by the issuer's related parties such as parent company, subsidiary, guarantor, and the government of the issuer's business domicile, etc. - by their own conditions and/ or position of support/ assistance for the issuer.

E) Order of Seniority in Debt Payment

The likelihood of debt payment can be different between given debts of the same issuer. The likelihood of debt payment for an individual debt is dependent on the issuer's discretion, and/ or its rank relative to other debts of the same issuer in the order of seniority in principal/ interest payment which is determined by design as financial product or by laws, etc.

4 The Potential Limitations of the Credit Rating as Required by Paragraph (a)(1)(ii)(D) of Rule 17g-7

- The credit rating herewith presented by JCR is its summary opinion with regard to the likelihood of given debt payment and hence not necessarily a perfect representation of such likelihood. The credit rating is not intended to estimate the probability of default or the loss on given default, either.
- The objective of the credit rating herewith presented does not include any concerns other than the likelihood of debt payment, such as risks of price changes, market liquidity, etc.
- The credit rating herewith presented is necessary to be reviewed along with possible changes of the issuer of rated objects in its business performance and/ or circumstances which include regulatory environment, and hence subject to possible alteration.

11 Explanation or Measure of the Potential Volatility of the Credit Rating as Required by Paragraph (a)(1)(ii)(K) of Rule 17g-7

A) Business Bases

The credit rating is subject to alteration if there is improvement or deterioration of the issuer's business bases, since its revenue, etc. may improve or deteriorate by the change in its business management policies, clients' preferences, competitive situation, or a technological innovation. The resultant alteration of the credit rating is usually by a notch, with possibility of a few notches if and when the change in the business bases is large.

B) Financial Grounds and Asset Quality

The credit rating is subject to alteration if the issuer increases/ decreases its debt/ capital or vice versa and thereby makes its individual debt payment liability less or more bearable and its loss absorption capacity into the future decreased or increased. Also, the changes in the quality of asset under the issuer's holding may affect the credit rating, since such changes could raise or lower the likelihood of future loss of the issuer's financial grounds. The resultant alteration of the credit rating is usually by a notch, with possibility of a few notches if and when the change in the financial grounds and/ or asset quality is large.

C) Liquidity Positions

The credit rating is subject to alteration if there is a change in the issuer's financial management policy or in the relations with fund procurement sources and the change thereby makes its liquidity positions improve or deteriorate. The resultant alteration of the credit rating is usually by a notch, with possibility of a few notches if and when the change is large.

D) Related Parties' Status and Stance of Support/ Assistance for the Issuer

The credit rating is subject to alteration if there is a change in the issuer's parent company or subsidiary, guarantor or other provider of credit enhancement, or the government of the issuer's business domicile, or other related parties' own conditions and/ or position of support/ assistance for the issuer, and the change thereby makes its business bases, financial grounds and/ or liquidity positions improve or deteriorate, and/ or making the effectiveness of guarantee and other credit enhancement improve or deteriorate. The resultant alteration of the credit rating is usually a notch, with possibility of a few notches if and when the change is large.

E) Order of Seniority in Debt Payment and Non-Payment Forgiven by Contract

The credit rating is subject to alteration if there is a change in the rated debt's status in the order of seniority relative to other debts caused by the improvement/ deterioration of the issuer's financial condition. The resultant alteration of the credit rating is usually a notch, with possibility of a few notches if and when the change is large. Also, in case of the financial products for which non-payment of interest/ principal is contractually permissible, the credit rating is subject to alteration if and when the likelihood of such non-payment is projected to increase or decrease. The resultant alteration of the credit rating could be by a notch but often as much as a few notches.

F) Rise and Fall in General Economy and Markets

The credit rating is subject to alteration if there is a rise/ fall in the general economy and/ or the markets inducing the issuer's revenues/ expenses to increase/ decrease and vice versa, etc. The resultant alteration of the credit rating is usually by a notch, with possibility of a few notches if and when the change is exceptionally large.

G) Various Events

The credit rating is subject to alteration on occurrence of various events, such as change in the issuer's major shareholders, M&A and other organizational change, accident, violation of the law, litigation, legal/ regulatory change, natural disaster, etc., which are unforeseeable at the time when the credit rating is determined, causing a significant change on the issuer's business bases, financial grounds, etc. The resultant alteration of the credit rating could be by a notch but more often than not as much as a few notches.

Information on the Sensitivity of the Credit Rating to Assumptions Made as Required by Paragraph (a)(1)(ii)(M) of Rule 17g-7

A) Business Bases

The credit rating herewith presented could be changed if and when the assumptions made at the time of its determination turn out to be inaccurate with regard to the issuer's business bases and powers of earning or cash flow generation, etc. The resultant change of the credit rating is most likely by a notch, as JCR speculates, but possibly as much as a few notches if the development is rapid in improvement or deterioration of the issuer's business bases on some drastic change in the operational environments, etc.

B) Financial Grounds and Asset Quality

The credit rating herewith presented could be changed if and when the assumptions made at the time of its determination turn out to be inaccurate with regard to the issuer's financial grounds and asset quality. The resultant change of the credit rating is most likely by a notch, as JCR speculates, but possibly as much as a few notches if the development is rapid in improvement or deterioration of the issuer's financial grounds and/ or asset quality on some drastic change in its business bases.

C) Liquidity Risks

The credit rating herewith presented could be changed if and when the assumptions made at the time of its determination turn out to be inaccurate with regard to the issuer's liquidity positions. D) Order of Seniority in Debt Payment and Non-Payment Forgiven by Contract

The credit rating herewith presented could be changed if and when the assumptions made at the time of its determination turn out to be inaccurate with regard to the order of seniority in repayment of interests and principal. JCR assumes the resultant change of the credit rating is most likely by a notch. The change could be as much as a few notches if the issuer's financial structure differs so much and thereby the balance between debts shifted so greatly. Rating change is also possible in case of the financial products for which non-payment of interest/ principal is contractually permissible, if and when the assumptions made at the time of its determination turns out to be inaccurate. The change of the credit rating is assumed to be by a notch but often as much as a few notches.

E) Rise and Fall in General Economy and Markets

The credit rating herewith presented could be changed if and when the assumptions made at the time of its determination turn out to be inaccurate with regard to the prospects of general economy and markets.
