

Japan Credit Rating Agency, Ltd. (JCR) announces the following credit rating.

INPEX CORPORATION (security code: 1605)

<Affirmation>

Long-term Issuer Rating: AA+
Outlook: Stable

Rationale

- (1) INPEX CORPORATION (the "Company") is Japan's largest oil and natural gas developer. It has a number of good interests both at home and abroad. It is viewed as a core company responsible for the stable supply of energy for Japan as the government aims to raise the ratio of self-development. The Minister of Economy, Trade and Industry is the largest shareholder (19.97% of total shares as of December 31, 2022) and, by holding golden shares, also possesses veto rights for certain major corporate decisions. While receiving support from the government through high-level resource diplomacy when acquiring resource interests, the Company is pressing ahead with projects by utilizing financial support from government-affiliated financial institutions and other organizations.
- (2) The Ichthys LNG Project in Australia in which it participates as the operator keeps running steadily and is now a major source of profits. Other projects are also producing almost as planned. Moreover, high crude oil prices and a weak yen are pushing up profits. As regards the Abadi LNG Project in Indonesia, which has been delayed due to the COVID crisis, work is progressing towards a final investment decision despite a change in partners. The Company has been launching various projects in the 5 net zero businesses, too. Financial base is solid and presents no particular concerns for the time being. Based on the above, JCR affirmed the rating on the Company with Stable outlook.
- (3) Ordinary income for the fiscal year ending December 2023 (FY2023) is expected to drop 10.5% over the year to 1,291.0 billion yen, falling for the first time in three years but still reaching the second highest level after the previous year when a new high was achieved. While growth in sales volume and the weak yen will work positively, negative factors such as a decline in crude oil prices are likely to have a greater impact. JCR assumes that overall performance will remain robust into FY2024 and beyond. Production volumes of crude oil and natural gas from the Ichthys LNG Project and others are expected to remain more or less stable. Even though trends in crude oil prices require attention, a sharp drop is hardly likely for the time being.
- (4) Financial structure has been improving, as indicated by equity ratio standing at 61.9% and D/E ratio at 0.3x as of September 30, 2023. Equity capital is building up with profit accumulation, and interest-bearing debt is decreasing thanks to cash flow improvement. The Company is expected to maintain the good financial structure going forward, too, to prepare for the Abadi LNG Project, next large-scale investment.

3 The Main Assumptions and Principles used in Constructing the Procedures and Methodologies used to Determine the Credit Rating as Required by Paragraph (a)(1)(ii)(C) of Rule 17g-7

- The credit rating methodology assumes, in principle, to be applied to assess the likelihood of a given debt payment in light of its issuer's condition and business environment, etc. in the relevant future. There is certain limitation, however, in the time horizon that the rating foresees.
- The credit rating methodology assumes, in principle, that the factors posted in the below are particularly important for such likelihood to be determined, and that the rating determination is made by evaluating each of them not only quantitatively but also employing qualitative analyses.

A) Business Bases

The likelihood of a given debt payment is highly conditional to its issuer's business bases - how they can be maintained/ expanded into the future and thereby secure earnings and cash flows in adequacy and in a sustainable way.

B) Financial Grounds and Asset Quality

The likelihood of debt payment is highly dependent on the degree of the issuer's indebtedness and loss absorption capacity in terms of equity capital. Also notable is that a financial institution might see a significant loss of financial grounds as a result of changes in value of the assets under its possession.

C) Liquidity Positions

The likelihood of debt payment is highly dependent on the adequacy of the issuer's cash and other sources of repayment (liquidity positions).

D) Related Parties' Status and Stance of Support/ Assistance for the Issuer

The likelihood of debt payment is affected one way or the other by the issuer's related parties such as parent company, subsidiary, guarantor, and the government of the issuer's business domicile, etc. - by their own conditions and/ or position of support/ assistance for the issuer.

E) Order of Seniority in Debt Payment

The likelihood of debt payment can be different between given debts of the same issuer. The likelihood of debt payment for an individual debt is dependent on the issuer's discretion, and/ or its rank relative to other debts of the same issuer in the order of seniority in principal/ interest payment which is determined by design as financial product or by laws, etc.

4 The Potential Limitations of the Credit Rating as Required by Paragraph (a)(1)(ii)(D) of Rule 17g-7

Also, the changes in the quality of asset under the issuer's holding may affect the credit rating, since such changes could raise or lower the likelihood of future loss of the issuer's financial grounds. The resultant alteration of the credit rating is usually by a notch, with possibility of a few notches if and when the change in the financial grounds and/ or asset quality is large.
