

Japan Credit Rating Agency, Ltd. (JCR) announces the following credit rating.

Toho Zinc Co., Ltd. (security code: 5707)

<Affirmation>

Long-term Issuer Rating: BBB-
Outlook: Stable
CP: J-2

Rationale

- (1) Toho Zinc Co., Ltd. (the “Company”) is a major non-ferrous smelter, ranking third and first in the domestic market shares for zinc and lead respectively. For the Mineral Resources business, Endeavour Mine was closed at the end of 2019 and only Rasp Mine is currently in operation. In recent year, the Company has been pushing ahead with development of Abra Lead Mine, which is scheduled to start production in the first half of 2023. Since the business performance worsened during the period from the fiscal year ended March 2019 (FY2018) through FY2019 due to a fall in the non-ferrous market, the Company is aiming to make a structural shift to the business susceptible to such market condition, through use of market hedging and strengthening of businesses other than of Smelting and Refining and Mineral Resources businesses.
- (2) The Company’s earnings are becoming more stable. It has built a structure to maintain a certain level of profits even in the phase where the non-ferrous market falls, through expansion of hedge transactions. In addition, cost reduction in the Smelting and Refining business is progressing by shortening zinc smelting process. Meanwhile, Abra Lead Mine is scheduled to start operation going forward. Whether it is able to make profit contribution by advancing the launch of the mine as scheduled needs to be confirmed. The Company’s financials improved in comparison to FY2019 in which a large net loss was recorded, but somewhat deteriorated compared to the end-FY2020, partly because of an increase in working capital from a trouble in production facilities. Based on the above, JCR has affirmed the ratings on the Company with Stable outlook.
- (3) FY2022 ordinary income is projected to be 5.8 billion yen, down 38.0% year on year. Despite higher costs for electricity, etc. being a factor behind the lower income, the Company expects to secure steady income. It seems possible to secure a certain level of income from FY2023 onward. As the supply and demand for zinc is loosened due to restrained production at smelters in Europe and other factors, the current level of smelting margins is assumed to be maintained. In addition, the ore quality is expected to improve at Rasp Mine, which is currently in a lull for high-grade ore bodies. Although their business scales are relatively small, Environmental & Recycling, Electronic Components, and Advanced Materials are expected to continue to make profit contribution.
- (4) The equity ratio at the end of the first quarter of FY2022 was 33.7%, which deteriorated from 36.5% at end-FY2020. Interest-bearing debt and total assets increased against the backdrop of an increase in goods in process due to the trouble in production facilities and a rise in the non-ferrous metal market. Going forward, optimization of the inventory level of goods in process will advance, and its equity capital will expand with earnings accumulation, which should improve its financial position.

3

The Main Assumptions and Principles used in Constructing the Procedures and Methodologies used to Determine the Credit Rating as Required by Paragraph (a)(1)(ii)(C) of Rule 17g-7

- The credit rating methodology assumes, in principle, to be applied to assess the likelihood of a given debt payment in light of its issuer's condition and business environment, etc. in the relevant future. There is certain limitation, however, in the time horizon that the rating foresees.
- The credit rating methodology assumes, in principle, that the factors posted in the below are particularly important for such likelihood to be determined, and that the rating determination is made by evaluating each of them not only quantitatively but also employing qualitative analyses.

A) Business Bases

The likelihood of a given debt payment is highly conditional to its issuer's business bases - how they can be maintained/ expanded into the future and thereby secure earnings and cash flows in adequacy and in a sustainable way.

B) Financial Grounds and Asset Quality

The likelihood of debt payment is highly dependent on the degree of the issuer's indebtedness and loss absorption capacity in terms of equity capital. Also notable is that a financial institution might see a significant loss of financial grounds as a result of changes in value of the assets under its possession.

C) Liquidity Positions

The likelihood of debt payment is highly dependent on the adequacy of the issuer's cash and other sources of repayment (liquidity positions).

D) Related Parties' Status and Stance of Support/ Assistance for the Issuer

The likelihood of debt payment is affected one way or the other by the issuer's related parties such as parent company, subsidiary, guarantor, and the government of the issuer's business domicile, etc. - by their own conditions and/ or position of support/ assistance for the issuer.

E) Order of Seniority in Debt Payment

The likelihood of debt payment can be different between given debts of the same issuer. The likelihood of debt payment for an individual debt is dependent on the issuer's discretion, and/ or its rank relative to other debts of the same issuer in the order of seniority in principal/ interest payment which is determined by design as financial product or by laws, etc.

4 The Potential Limitations of the Credit Rating as Required by Paragraph (a)(1)(ii)(D) of Rule 17g-7

- The credit rating herewith presented by JCR is its summary opinion with regard to the likelihood of given debt payment and hence not necessarily a perfect representation of such likelihood. The credit rating is not intended to estimate the probability of default or the loss on given default, either.
- The objective of the credit rating herewith presented does not include any concerns other than the likelihood of debt payment, such as risks of price changes, market liquidity, etc.
- The credit rating herewith presented is necessary to be reviewed along with possible changes of the issuer of rated objects in its business performance and/ or circumstances which include regulatory environment, and hence subject to possible alteration.

The resultant alteration of the credit rating is usually by a notch, with possibility of a few notches if and when the change in the business bases is large.

B) Financial Grounds and Asset Quality

The credit rating is subject to alteration if the issuer increases/ decreases its debt/ capital or vice versa and thereby makes its individual debt payment liability less or more bearable and its loss absorption capacity into the future decreased or increased. Also, the changes in the quality of asset under the issuer's holding may affect the credit rating, since such changes could raise or lower the likelihood of future loss of the issuer's financial grounds. The resultant alteration of the credit rating is usually by a notch, with possibility of a few notches if and when the change in the financial grounds and/ or asset quality is large.

C) Liquidity Positions

The credit rating is subject to alteration if there is a change in the issuer's financial management policy or in the relations with fund procurement sources and the change thereby makes its liquidity positions improve or deteriorate. The resultant alteration of the credit rating is usually by a notch, with possibility of a few notches if and when the change is large.

The resultant alteration of the credit rating is usually a notch, with possibility of a few notches if and when the change is large.

E) Order of Seniority in Debt Payment and Non-Payment Forgiven by Contract

The credit rating is subject to alteration if there is a change in the rated debt's status in the order of seniority relative to other debts caused by the improvement/ deterioration of the issuer's financial condition. The resultant alteration of the credit rating is usually a notch, with possibility of a few notches if and when the change is large. Also, in case of the financial products for which non-payment of interest/ principal is contractually permissible, the credit rating is subject to alteration if and when the likelihood of such non-payment is projected to increase or decrease. The resultant alteration of the credit rating could be by a notch but often as much as a few notches.

F) Rise and Fall in General Economy and Markets

The credit rating is subject to alteration if there is a rise/ fall in the general economy and/ or the markets inducing the issuer's revenues/ expenses to increase/ decrease and vice versa, etc. The resultant alteration of the credit rating is usually by a notch, with possibility of a few notches if and when the change is exceptionally large.

G) Various Events
