

Japan Credit Rating Agency, Ltd. (JCR) announces the following credit rating.

Marubeni Private Real Estate Investment Trust (security code: -)

<Outlook Change>

Long-term Issuer Rating: AA-
Outlook: from Stable to Positive

Rationale

- (1) Marubeni Private Real Estate Investment Trust (the “Corporation”) is an unlisted open-end investment corporation. Its asset management company, Marubeni Asset Management Co., Ltd. (“Marubeni AM”), is sponsored by Marubeni Corporation (the “Sponsor”), a general trading company. The Corporation aims to secure stable earnings over the long term by building an optimum portfolio in responding to economic conditions and trends in the real estate market while leveraging the expertise and know-how of the Marubeni Group in diverse business domains. As a diversified J-REIT, it disperses risks by investing in a wide-range of real estate properties, including office buildings, commercial facilities, housings and hotels, and turning its eyes also to major regional cities while focusing on the Tokyo metropolitan area. The portfolio currently consists of 76 properties with a total acquisition price of 334.3 billion yen.
- (2) Under the investment policy that is conscious of quality and profitability, the asset size is steadily expanding. JCR assumes that the Corporation will continue to acquire various asset types of properties from a wide range of acquisition routes even amid the COVID-19 pandemic, and that the stabilization of portfolio cash flows will be strengthened through the diversification effect. Although some of hotels held were affected by the pandemic, earnings are on a recovering trend. On the financial front, the Corporation has been continuing sound financial management, as indicated by the details of interest-bearing debt financing, LTV control that gives consideration to financial stability, among others. Based on the above, JCR has affirmed the rating, but changed the outlook to Positive. JCR will continue to confirm trends in external growth and financial management as well as the status of property operations going forward, and will reflect them in the rating.
- (3) The period-end occupancy rates of the entire portfolio have been high at 95% or more since the commencement of the operation. For single-tenant properties, the Corporation has restrained the significant downturn risk of the occupancy rate of the entire portfolio by concluding long-term leasing contracts with tenants, and other measures. JCR assumes that the various experiences and know-how of the Sponsor and Marubeni AM in the real estate business as well as information network, etc. as a general trading company will be used in leasing operations to support the Corporation’s stable properties operations.
- (4) There are no particular concerns over the Corporation’s financial management in general, as shown by the fact that the total asset-based LTV is controlled within the normal range set by Marubeni AM despite the growing asset size. With regard to refund requests of investment units by investors, JCR sees that the Corporation can take agile responses, in light of the cash on hand, loan facilities for flexible financing, possessing assets with relatively high liquidity, among others. Moreover, as the maximum number of investment units to be refunded is limited to a certain percentage by rules, a risk that LTV will rise sharply in a short period due to such refund is constrained.

The Main Assumptions and Principles used in Constructing the Procedures and Methodologies used to Determine the Credit Rating as Required by Paragraph (a)(1)(ii)(C) of Rule 17g-7

- The credit rating methodology assumes, in principle, to be applied to assess the likelihood of a given debt payment in light of its issuer's condition and market environment, etc. in the relevant future. There is certain limitation, however, in the time horizon that the rating foresees
- The credit rating methodology assumes, in principle, that the factors posted in the below are particularly important for such likelihood to be determined, and that the rating determination is made by evaluating each of them not only quantitatively but also employing qualitative analyses.

A) Portfolios

The likelihood of a given debt payment is highly conditional to its issuer's portfolios - how they can be maintained/ enhanced into the future and thereby secure earnings and cash flows in adequacy and in a sustainable way.

B) Financial Grounds and Asset Quality

The likelihood of debt payment is highly dependent on the degree of the issuer's indebtedness and loss absorption capacity in terms of equity capital. Also notable is that a J-REIT might see a significant loss of financial grounds as a result of changes in value of the assets under its possession.

C) Liquidity Positions

The likelihood of debt payment is highly dependent on the adequacy of the issuer's cash and other sources of repayment (liquidity positions) including certainty of refinancing.

D) Related Parties' Status and Stance of Support/ Assistance for the Issuer

The likelihood of debt payment is affected one way or the other by the issuer's related parties such as sponsor, asset manager, guarantor, and the government of the issuer's business domicile, etc. - by their own conditions and/ or position of support/ assistance for the issuer.

E) Order of Seniority in Debt Payment

The likelihood of debt payment can be different between given debts of the same issuer. The likelihood of debt payment for an individual debt is dependent on the issuer's discretion, and/ or its rank relative to other debts of the same issuer in the order of seniority in principal/ interest payment which is determined by design as financial product or by laws, etc.

4 The Potential Limitations of the Credit Rating as Required by Paragraph (a)(1)(ii)(D) of Rule 17g-7

- The credit rating herewith presented by JCR is its summary opinion with regard to the likelihood of given debt payment and hence not necessarily a perfect representation of such likelihood. The credit rating is not intended to estimate the probability of default or the loss on given default, either.
- The objective of the credit rating herewith presented does not include any concerns other than the likelihood of debt payment, such as risks of price changes, market liquidity, etc.
- The credit rating herewith presented is necessary to be reviewed along with possible changes of the issuer of rated objects in its business performance and/ or circumstances which include regulatory environment, and hence subject to possible alteration.

11 Explanation or Measure of the Potential Volatility of the Credit Rating as Required by Paragraph (a)(1)(ii)(K) of Rule 17g-7

A) Portfolios

The credit rating is subject to alteration if there is improvement or deterioration of quality, competitive strength and diversification in the issuer's portfolios, since its revenue, etc. may improve or deteriorate by the change in its investment strategies, tenants' preferences, competitive situation, or a technological innovation. The resultant alteration of the credit rating is usually by a notch, with possibility of a few notches if and when the change in the portfolios is large.

B) Financial Grounds and Asset Quality

The credit rating is subject to alteration if the issuer increases/ decreases its debt/ capital or vice versa and thereby makes its individual debt payment liability less or more bearable and its loss absorption capacity into the future decreased or increased. Also, the changes in the quality of asset under the issuer's holding may affect the credit rating, since such changes could raise or lower the likelihood of future loss of the issuer's financial grounds. The resultant alteration of the credit rating is usually by a notch, with possibility of a few notches if and when the change in the financial grounds and/ or asset quality is large.

C) Liquidity Positions

The credit rating is subject to alteration if there is a change in the issuer's financial management policy or in the relations with fund procurement sources and the change thereby makes its liquidity positions improve or deteriorate. The resultant alteration of the credit rating is usually by a notch, with possibility of a few notches if and when the change is large.

D) Related Parties' Status and Stance of Support/ Assistance for the Issuer

The credit rating is subject to alteration if there is a change in the issuer's sponsor or asset manager, guarantor or other provider of credit enhancement, or the government of the issuer's business domicile, or other related parties' own conditions and/ or position of support/ assistance for the issuer, and the change thereby makes its portfolios, financial grounds and/ or liquidity positions improve or deteriorate, and/ or making the effectiveness of guarantee and other credit enhancement improve or deteriorate. The resultant alteration of the credit rating is usually a notch, with possibility of a few notches if and when the change is large.

E) Order of Seniority in Debt Payment and Non-Payment Forgiven by Contract

The credit rating is subject to alteration if there is a change in the rated debt's status in the order of seniority relative to other debts caused by the improvement/ deterioration of the issuer's financial condition. The resultant alteration of the credit rating is usually a notch, with possibility of a few notches if and when the change is large. Also, in case of the financial products for which non-payment of interest/ principal is contractually permissible, the credit rating is subject to alteration if and when the likelihood of such non-payment is projected to increase or decrease. The resultant alteration of the credit rating could be by a notch but often as much as a few notches.

F) Rise and Fall in General Economy and Markets

The credit rating is subject to alteration if there is a rise/ fall in the general economy and/ or the markets, of e.g. real estate or interest rates, inducing the issuer's revenues/ expenses to increase/ decrease and vice versa, etc. The resultant alteration of the credit rating is usually by a notch, with possibility of a few notches if and when the change is exceptionally large.

G) Various Events

The credit rating is subject to alteration on occurrence of various events, such as change in the issuer's sponsor or asset manager, M&A and other organizational change, accident, violation of the law, litigation, legal/ regulatory change, natural disaster, etc., which are unforeseeable at the time when the credit rating is determined, causing a significant change on the issuer's business bases, financial grounds, etc. The resultant alteration of the credit rating could be by a notch but more often than not as much as a few notches.
