

Japan Credit Rating Agency, Ltd. (JCR) announces the following credit rating.

Tosei Reit Investment Corporation (security code: 3451)

<Outlook Change>

Long-term Issuer Rating: A-
Outlook: from Stable to Positive

<Affirmation>

Bonds: A-

Rationale

- (1) Tosei Reit Investment Corporation (“Tosei Reit”) is a J-REIT investing primarily in small- and medium-sized offices, retail facilities, residential properties and logistics facilities in the Tokyo economic bloc. It is sponsored by TOSEI CORPORATION (“TOSEI”), a general real estate company with strength in the real estate revitalization business, and its assets are managed by TOSEI’s wholly owned subsidiary Tosei Asset Advisors, Inc., whose assets under management amount to as much as over 2.1 trillion yen, centering on the assets entrusted by foreign-affiliated private placement funds.
- (2) Tosei Reit’s current asset size reaches 59 properties with the total acquisition price of 78.2 billion yen, and there have been no specific moves with respect to property acquisitions over the past year, including capital increases and property replacements. Yet, the portfolio, which has been built by taking advantage of the sponsor’s good judgment and revitalization capabilities, ensures a certain degree of diversification, and stability in its performance even in the midst of the COVID crisis can also be observed. By asset type, the occupancy rate is around 95% for offices, falling slightly from pre-COVID 98% or so due to the weakening leasing market, but remains steady at over 97% for residential properties and logistics facilities. The portfolio as a whole exhibits high profitability with an occupancy rate of 96.8% (as of December 31, 2022) and acquisition price-based NOI yield of around 6%. On the financial front, given also stable LTV control, composition of lenders, etc., JCR finds no particular concerns. JCR assumes that further growth and stable investment management of Tosei Reit can be expected thanks to the extensive knowhow and networks of the sponsor and asset manager whose business is expanding. Based on the above, JCR, while affirming the ratings on Tosei Reit, changed the outlook to Positive. Looking ahead, JCR will watch whether the asset size will expand through the acquisition of the properties from which yields can be reasonably expected in line with the asset manager’s strategy and will reflect progress in the efforts made to that end in the ratings.
- (3) The portfolio is accounted for 43.3% by offices, 7.3% by retail facilities and 49.4% by residential properties, and the weight of residential properties is increasing. Given the inflow of population into the Tokyo economic bloc and trends in the robust housing market, steady performance can be expected into the future. In the real estate trading market, the property acquisition environment is severe due to a decline in transaction yields, but JCR predicts that Tosei Reit will be able to find acquisition opportunities in the environment with a relatively few competitions thanks to the pipeline support agreement with TOSEI having strength in old and revitalized properties. JCR is also watching efforts aimed at external growth, including improving the ability to procure funds from the equity market. The average age of the properties as of October 31, 2022 was approximately 29 years, and some properties are reasonably decrepit with their ages. JCR will keep an eye on the asset manager’s initiatives aimed at quickly filling vacancies and maintaining/increasing rents.
- (4) On the financial front, total asset-based LTV as of October 31, 2022 was 47.7%, remaining within the target range of 45% to 50%. Moreover, market value-based appraisal LTV (interest-bearing debt / (total assets + unrealized gains)) stays low at 41.0% because of unrealized gains on portfolio properties, which serve as a financial buffer. In terms of financing, thanks to the efforts made to extend debt periods (average remaining period: 3.1 years), fix interest rates (fixed-interest debt ratio: 100%) and level out maturities, Tosei Reit can resist interest rate hikes to a certain extent. It makes transactions with financial institutions in a balanced manner, centering on three mega banks. It is also striving to diversify financing channels, including green bonds/loans, and extend debt periods in response to growing interest in ESG investments.

The Main Assumptions and Principles used in Constructing the Procedures and Methodologies used to Determine the Credit Rating as Required by Paragraph (a)(1)(ii)(C) of Rule 17g-7

- The credit rating methodology assumes, in principle, to be applied to assess the likelihood of a given debt payment in light of its issuer's condition and market environment, etc. in the relevant future. There is certain limitation, however, in the time horizon that the rating foresees
- The credit rating methodology assumes, in principle, that the factors posted in the below are particularly important for such likelihood to be determined, and that the rating determination is made by evaluating each of them not only quantitatively but also employing qualitative analyses.

A) Portfolios

The likelihood of a given debt payment is highly conditional to its issuer's portfolios - how they can be maintained/ enhanced into the future and thereby secure earnings and cash flows in adequacy and in a sustainable way.

B) Financial Grounds and Asset Quality

The likelihood of debt payment is highly dependent on the degree of the issuer's indebtedness and loss absorption capacity in terms of equity capital. Also notable is that a J-REIT might see a significant loss of financial grounds as a result of changes in value of the assets under its possession.

C) Liquidity Positions

The likelihood of debt payment is highly dependent on the adequacy of the issuer's cash and other sources of repayment (liquidity positions) including certainty of refinancing.

D) Related Parties' Status and Stance of Support/ Assistance for the Issuer

The likelihood of debt payment is affected one way or the other by the issuer's related parties such as sponsor, asset manager, guarantor, and the government of the issuer's business domicile, etc. - by their own conditions and/ or position of support/ assistance for the issuer.

E) Order of Seniority in Debt Payment

The likelihood of debt payment can be different between given debts of the same issuer. The likelihood of debt payment for an individual debt is dependent on the issuer's discretion, and/ or its rank relative to other debts of the same issuer in the order of seniority in principal/ interest payment which is determined by design as financial product or by laws, etc.

4 The Potential Limitations of the Credit Rating as Required by Paragraph (a)(1)(ii)(D) of Rule 17g-7

- The credit rating herewith presented by JCR is its summary opinion with regard to the likelihood of given debt payment and hence not necessarily a perfect representation of such likelihood. - The objective of the credit rating herewith presented does not include any concerns other than the likelihood of debt payment, such as risks of price changes, market liquidity, etc.
- The credit rating herewith presented is necessary to be reviewed along with possible changes of the issuer of rated objects in its business performance and/ or circumstances which include regulatory environment, and hence subject to possible alteration.

11 Explanation or Measure of the Potential Volatility of the Credit Rating as Required by Paragraph (a)(1)(ii)(K) of Rule 17g-7

A) Portfolios

The credit rating is subject to alteration if there is improvement or deterioration of quality, competitive strength and diversification in the issuer's portfolios, since its revenue, etc. may improve or deteriorate by the change in its investment strategies, tenants' preferences, competitive situation, or a technological innovation. The resultant alteration of the credit rating is usually by a notch, with possibility of a few notches if and when the change in the portfolios is large.

B) Financial Grounds and Asset Quality

The credit rating is subject to alteration if the issuer increases/ decreases its debt/ capital or vice versa and thereby makes its individual debt payment liability less or more bearable and its loss absorption capacity into the future decreased or increased. Also, the changes in the quality of asset under the issuer's holding may affect the credit rating, since such changes could raise or lower the likelihood of future loss of the issuer's financial grounds. The resultant alteration of the credit rating is usually by a notch, with possibility of a few notches if and when the change in the financial grounds and/ or asset quality is large.

C) Liquidity Positions

The credit rating is subject to alteration if there is a change in the issuer's financial management policy or in the relations with fund procurement sources and the change thereby makes its liquidity positions improve or deteriorate. The resultant alteration of the credit rating is usually by a notch, with possibility of a few notches if and when the change is large.

D) Related Parties' Status and Stance of Support/ Assistance for the Issuer

The credit rating is subject to alteration if there is a change in the issuer's sponsor or asset manager, guarantor or other provider of credit enhancement, or the government of the issuer's business domicile, or other related parties' own conditions and/ or position of support/ assistance for the issuer, and the change thereby makes its portfolios, financial grounds and/ or liquidity positions improve or deteriorate, and/ or making the effectiveness of guarantee and other credit enhancement improve or deteriorate. The resultant alteration of the credit rating is usually a notch, with possibility of a few notches if and when the change is large.

E) Order of Seniority in Debt Payment and Non-Payment Forgiven by Contract

The credit rating is subject to alteration if there is a change in the rated debt's status in the order of seniority relative to other debts caused by the improvement/ deterioration of the issuer's financial condition. The resultant alteration of the credit rating is usually a notch, with possibility of a few notches if and when the change is large. Also, in case of the financial products for which non-payment of interest/ principal is contractually permissible, the credit rating is subject to alteration if and when the likelihood of such non-payment is projected to increase or decrease. The resultant alteration of the credit rating could be by a notch but often as much as a few notches.

F) Rise and Fall in General Economy and Markets

The credit rating is subject to alteration if there is a rise/ fall in the general economy and/ or the markets, of e.g. real estate or interest rates, inducing the issuer's revenues/ expenses to increase/ decrease and vice versa, etc. The resultant alteration of the credit rating is usually by a notch, with possibility of a few notches if and when the change is exceptionally large.

G) Various Events

The credit rating is subject to alteration on occurrence of various events, such as change in the issuer's sponsor or asset manager, M&A and other organizational change, accident, violation of the law, litigation, legal/ regulatory change, natural disaster, etc., which are unforeseeable at the time when the credit rating is determined, causing a significant change on the issuer's business bases, financial grounds, etc. The resultant alteration of the credit rating could be by a notch but more often than not as much as a few notches.
