

Japan Credit Rating Agency, Ltd. (JCR) announces the following credit rating.

KPP GROUP HOLDINGS CO., LTD. (security code: 9274)

<Rating Change>

CP:

from J-2 to J-1

Rationale

- (1) On October 1, KOKUSAI PULP&PAPER CO., LTD. shifted to a holding company structure and changed the trading name to KPP GROUP HOLDINGS CO., LTD. (the "Company"). In addition to operating the real estate leasing business, the Company assumes roles such as formulation of the strategies and allocation of management resources for the entire group. The Company has strong governance over the operating companies under its umbrella such as holding 100% shares of major operating companies including newly established KOKUSAI PULP&PAPER CO., LTD. ("KOKUSAI PULP"), which undertakes domestic businesses, Antalis (Europe), Spicers Limited (Oceania). Given the strong unity in the group, JCR reflects creditworthiness of the entire group in the rating of the Company. KOKUSAI PULP, a leading paper agent in Japan, has a broad business relationships with leading paper manufactures in Japan. It has a stable customer base including companies in the publishing and printing industries. The Company has been actively expanding its business. Overseas, it acquired Antalis, the largest paper trading company in Europe in 2020 following the acquisition of Spicers Limited in 2019.
- (2) Through overseas M&As, the Company's business structure and performance have drastically changing. The profit level of overseas businesses, primarily in Europe and Oceania, substantially exceeds that of domestic business, which was the mainstay until now. The Company has diversified the revenue sources in terms of geographic regions through decreasing degree of dependence on the domestic market, which is continuously shrinking. It also diversified the businesses in the portfolio through capturing businesses in new segments with growth potential such as packaging and visual communication. Although the trend in demand for paper is weak worldwide, JCR views the Company can maintain the high profit level going forward through shifting to growth areas and developing the businesses in North America among others. The financial structure is expected to improve. Based on the above, JCR has upgraded rating on CP of the Company from J-2 to J-1.
- (3) For the fiscal year ending March 2023 (FY2022), the Company projects an operating profit of 12.0 billion yen, up 27.9% year-on-year, marking the record high for two fiscal years in a row. In the overseas paper business, upward price revisions to products are continuing due partly to tight supply and demand conditions and soaring material and fuel prices, and the Company's margin is on increase. The packaging and visual communication businesses have also been steady. In the domestic businesses, the Company was able to make price revisions for the first time in three years and commissions are expected to expand. Although attention needs to be paid to the overseas market conditions, JCR assumes the Company can ensure a higher profit level than that in the past.
- (4) Financial indicators are on improvement as shown by the equity ratio of 20.0% at the end of the first quarter of FY2022 (19.4% at the end of the previous fiscal year). A considerable amount of financial burden arose in the event of acquiring Antalis; however, the Company's ability to generate cash flow has substantially increased and the equity capital is increasing. JCR assumes the Company continues to make a certain size of investment primarily in overseas M&As going forward. However, JCR believes the financial structure will continue to improve for the foreseeable future as it will unlikely carry out large-scale transactions, which will have a large impact on the financial structure.

3 The Main Assumptions and Principles used in Constructing the Procedures and Methodologies used to Determine the Credit Rating as Required by Paragraph (a)(1)(ii)(C) of Rule 17g-7

- The credit rating methodology assumes, in principle, to be applied to assess the likelihood of a given debt payment in light of its issuer's condition and business environment, etc. in the relevant future. There is certain limitation, however, in the time horizon that the rating foresees.
- The credit rating methodology assumes, in principle, that the factors posted in the below are particularly important for such likelihood to be determined, and that the rating determination is made by evaluating each of them not only quantitatively but also employing qualitative analyses.

A) Business Bases

The likelihood of a given debt payment is highly conditional to its issuer's business bases - how they can be maintained/ expanded into the future and thereby secure earnings and cash flows in adequacy and in a sustainable way.

B) Financial Grounds and Asset Quality

The likelihood of debt payment is highly dependent on the degree of the issuer's indebtedness and loss absorption capacity in terms of equity capital. Also notable is that a financial institution might see a significant loss of financial grounds as a result of changes in value of the assets under its possession.

C) Liquidity Positions

The likelihood of debt payment is highly dependent on the adequacy of the issuer's cash and other sources of repayment (liquidity positions).

D) Related Parties' Status and Stance of Support/ Assistance for the Issuer

The likelihood of debt payment is affected one way or the other by the issuer's related parties such as parent company, subsidiary, guarantor, and the government of the issuer's business domicile, etc. - by their own conditions and/ or position of support/ assistance for the issuer.

E) Order of Seniority in Debt Payment

The likelihood of debt payment can be different between given debts of the same issuer. The likelihood of debt payment for an individual debt is dependent on the issuer's discretion, and/ or its rank relative to other debts of the same issuer in the order of seniority in principal/ interest payment which is determined by design as financial product or by laws, etc.
