

Japan Credit Rating Agency, Ltd. (JCR) announces the following credit rating.

EXEDY Corporation (security code: 7278)

<Affirmation>

Long-term Issuer Rating: A+
Outlook: Stable
Bonds: A+

Rationale

- (1) EXEDY Corporation (the "Company") is one of the world's leading manufacturers of torque converters for automatic transmissions ("AT") and clutches for manual transmissions ("MT"). The Company has established a solid customer base centering on Japanese automakers on the strength of the excellent technological capabilities and cost competitiveness, and is one of the world's top manufacturers of torque converters. Assuming a medium- to long-term decline in demand for torque converters, the Company is focusing on strengthening the MT aftermarket business and expanding new businesses.
- (2) Although the shift to BEVs has slowed mainly in Europe and the U.S., it remains a major medium- to long-term challenge to create and cultivate new revenue sources to replace torque converters. While new businesses may take time to contribute to profit, the MT business has high profitability on the back of stable demand for repairs, and is expected to continue contributing to profit; therefore, it is considered possible to secure consolidated profit at roughly the current level over the medium term. The financial position is sound, and the Company plans to carry out growth investments and shareholder returns under a certain level of financial discipline; thus, there are no particular concerns at this time. Based on the above, JCR has affirmed the ratings on the Company with Stable outlook.
- (3) For the fiscal year ended March 2026 (FY2025), operating profit (IFRS) was planned at 22.0 billion yen, a 0.7% increase year on year (announced in the results for the third quarter of FY2025). Although labor and other costs are increasing, the dissolution of the unprofitable U.S. subsidiary and product price revisions are expected to contribute to earnings. Profitability in the torque converter and MT businesses is currently improving, and strengthening the aftermarket parts business is also expected to have an effect. Therefore, mid-term stable performance is likely to continue. JCR is monitoring the extent to which the new businesses contribute to profit.
- (4) At the end of the third quarter of FY2025, the ratio of equity attributable to owners of the parent was 60.2%, a favorable level. There was a large share buyback in FY2024, but the financial position remains sound with a substantially no-debt status. It plans to continue proactive growth investments and shareholder returns, but intends to maintain a ratio of equity attributable to owners of the parent at around 60%, and the likelihood of a significant deterioration in the financial position is low.

3

The Main Assumptions and Principles used in Constructing the Procedures and Methodologies used to Determine the Credit Rating as Required by Paragraph (a)(1)(ii)(C) of Rule 17g-7

- The credit rating methodology assumes, in principle, to be applied to assess the likelihood of a given debt payment in light of its issuer's condition and business environment, etc. in the relevant future. There is certain limitation, however, in the time horizon that the rating foresees.
- The credit rating methodology assumes, in principle, that the factors posted in the below are particularly important for such likelihood to be determined, and that the rating determination is made by evaluating each of them not only quantitatively but also employing qualitative analyses.

A) Business Bases

The likelihood of a given debt payment is highly conditional to its issuer's business bases - how they can be maintained/ expanded into the future and thereby secure earnings and cash flows in adequacy and in a sustainable way.

B) Financial Grounds and Asset Quality

The likelihood of debt payment is highly dependent on the degree of the issuer's indebtedness and loss absorption capacity in terms of equity capital. Also notable is that a financial institution might see a significant loss of financial grounds as a result of changes in value of the assets under its possession.

C) Liquidity Positions

The likelihood of debt payment is highly dependent on the adequacy of the issuer's cash and other sources of repayment (liquidity positions).

D) Related Parties' Status and Stance of Support/ Assistance for the Issuer

The likelihood of debt payment is affected one way or the other by the issuer's related parties such as parent company, subsidiary, guarantor, and the government of the issuer's business domicile, etc. - by their own conditions and/ or position of support/ assistance for the issuer.

E) Order of Seniority in Debt Payment

The likelihood of debt payment can be different between given debts of the same issuer. The likelihood of debt payment for an individual debt is dependent on the issuer's discretion, and/ or its rank relative to other debts of the same issuer in the order of seniority in principal/ interest payment which is determined by design as financial product or by laws, etc.

4 The Potential Limitations of the Credit Rating as Required by Paragraph (a)(1)(ii)(D) of Rule 17g-7

The resultant alteration of the credit rating is usually by a notch, with possibility of a few notches if and when the change in the business bases is large.

B) Financial Grounds and Asset Quality

The credit rating is subject to alteration if the issuer increases/ decreases its debt/ capital or vice versa and thereby makes its individual debt payment liability less or more bearable and its loss absorption capacity into the future decreased or increased. Also, the changes in the quality of asset under the issuer's holding may affect the credit rating, since such changes could raise or lower the likelihood of future loss of the issuer's financial grounds. The resultant alteration of the credit rating is usually by a notch, with possibility of a few notches if and when the change in the financial grounds and/ or asset quality is large.

C) Liquidity Positions

The credit rating is subject to alteration if there is a change in the issuer's financial management policy or in the relations with fund procurement sources and the change thereby makes its liquidity positions improve or deteriorate. The resultant alteration of the credit rating is usually by a notch, with possibility of a few notches if and when the change is large.

The resultant alteration of the credit rating is usually a notch, with possibility of a few notches if and when the change is large.

E) Order of Seniority in Debt Payment and Non-Payment Forgiven by Contract

The credit rating is subject to alteration if there is a change in the rated debt's status in the order of seniority relative to other debts caused by the improvement/ deterioration of the issuer's financial condition. The resultant alteration of the credit rating is usually a notch, with possibility of a few notches if and when the change is large. Also, in case of the financial products for which non-payment of interest/ principal is contractually permissible, the credit rating is subject to alteration if and when the likelihood of such non-payment is projected to increase or decrease. The credit rating is subject to alteration if there is a rise/ fall in the general economy and/ or the markets inducing the issuer's revenues/ expenses to increase/ decrease and vice versa, etc. The resultant alteration of the credit rating is usually by a notch, with possibility of a few notches if and when the change is exceptionally large.
