

Japan Credit Rating Agency, Ltd. (JCR) announces the following credit rating.

DISCO CORPORATION (security code: 6146)

<Affirmation>

Long-term Issuer Rating: AA-
Outlook: Stable

Rationale

- (1) DISCO CORPORATION (the "Company") is a semiconductor production equipment manufacturer that specializes in three areas of "Kiru, Kezuru, Migaku (cutting, grinding and polishing)." It has overwhelming market shares for precision processing equipment such as dicing saws, grinders and polishers and for precision processing tools (consumables) that are installed in precision processing equipment to be used as cutting tools. The Company responds to the customers' needs by, for example, offering processing tests for various materials as requested by the customers. As its strength, the Company serves the customers with the optimal combination and processing method of precision processing equipment and precision processing tools. Through these, the Company keeps its customers.
- (2) The Company holds strong business bases in the three "cutting, grinding and polishing" fields. It also handles consumables, enabling a stable business performance as a semiconductor production equipment manufacturer. In addition to progressing sales expansion of consumables on the back of cumulative increase of the number of equipment in use, maintenance parts business is also in an expansion direction. Sales of laser saws, which succeeded in commercialization, are also steady. The overall income is currently strong and it will post a record operating income for 4 years in a row in the fiscal year ending March 2018 (FY2017). Having a high equity ratio, it enjoys a good financial structure and can even expect an entering into a completely debt free condition. Despite the fact that quantitative indicators for size are not sufficient, indicators for profitability and financial stability are very good. Taking the above into consideration, JCR affirmed rating for the Company with Stable outlook.
- (3) It expects its operating income to increase for 6 years in a row in FY2017, up 45.5% year-on-year to 45.6 billion yen. Its ratio of operating profit to sales will exceed 20% for 4 straight years. Demand for equipment centering on that for semiconductor memory is strong, and shipments of precision processing tools are also strong against the background of equipment users' high capital utilization rate. Looking at FY2018, there are no significant adverse factors.
- (4) The Company's equity ratio as of September 30, 2017 stood high at 81.2%. It has enhanced its equity capital through stable accumulation of periodic income and also increased ready liquidity. It is highly likely that the Company will achieve a debt-free status by the end of March 2018 thanks to progress of repayment of borrowings. Its capital investments will remain at a relatively high level over the next several years due to investment for expansion of the Kuwabata Plant. However, it will be able to absorb the burden by increasing its cash flow generation capacity.

- The credit rating methodology assumes, in principle, that the factors posted in the below are particularly important for such likelihood to be determined, and that the rating determination is made by evaluating each of them not only quantitatively but also employing qualitative analyses.

A) Business Bases

The likelihood of a given debt payment is highly conditional to its issuer's business bases - how they can be maintained/ expanded into the future and thereby secure earnings and cash flows in adequacy and in a sustainable way.

B) Financial Grounds and Asset Quality

C) Liquidity Positions

The likelihood of debt payment is highly dependent on the adequacy of the issuer's cash and other sources of repayment (liquidity positions).

E) Order of Seniority in Debt Payment

The likelihood of debt payment can be different between given debts of the same issuer. The likelihood of debt payment for an individual debt is dependent on the issuer's discretion, and/ or its rank relative to other debts of the same issuer in the order of seniority in principal/ interest payment which is determined by design as financial product or by laws, etc.
