

Japan Credit Rating Agency, Ltd. (JCR) announces the following credit rating.

KROSAKI HARIMA CORPORATION (security code: 5352)

<Affirmation>

Long-term Issuer Rating: A-
Outlook: Stable
CP: J-1

Rationale

- (1) KROSAKI HARIMA CORPORATION (the “Company”) is a major refractory manufacturer and a consolidated subsidiary of NIPPON STEEL CORPORATION (“NIPPON STEEL”; 46.9% voting rights as of March 31, 2022). Most of the Company’s refractories are used in the steel production process, and approximately half of which are sold to the NIPPON STEEL Group. Overseas, the Company has made progress in production capacity enhancement, operation improvement, etc. in India, and the degree of contribution to the performance is on rise. In Europe, it has strengthened the sales capabilities through working with ArcelorMittal Refractories, a local refractory manufacturer.
- (2) JCR incorporates NIPPON STEEL’s creditworthiness into the Company’s rating. Many of refractories used in the production process of NIPPON STEEL are the Company’s products, and not a small number of products were developed jointly with NIPPON STEEL. Particularly, its refractories are important in the production process of NIPPON STEEL’s high-grade steel, and no other companies can replace the Company’s position. It has a strong tie with NIPPON STEEL for human resources as shown that the Company’s president and representative director is from the latter, which also sends officers and employees. There are no particular concerns over the Company as the performance will likely be good for the time being and the financial position also remains at a good level. Based on the above, JCR has affirmed the rating on the Company with Stable outlook.
- (3) The Company projects ordinary income to increase 32.5% over the year to 11.5 billion yen for the fiscal year ending March 2023 (FY2022), expecting to renew the record high. Overseas sales are brisk, and progress in passing increases in raw material costs on to selling prices will also likely boost the profits. For FY2023 onward, the performance will likely be steady. JCR sees demand for refractories will grow through picking up the crude steel output in Japan along with recovery of auto production. Profit contribution of the overseas businesses can still be expected in the future through realizing the effect of production capacity enhancement in India and sales expansion made in Europe by the collaboration with the partner company.
- (4) DER as of the end of the second quarter of FY2022 was 0.5x, staying almost flat from the end of FY2021. At present, working capital requirements are rising due to rising raw material prices; however, interest-bearing debt will likely decrease from a medium-term perspective since the Company does not plan any large scale investment for the foreseeable future. Moreover, JCR views the financial condition will improve with a continuous increase in equity capital through profit accumulation.

3

The Main Assumptions and Principles used in Constructing the Procedures and Methodologies used to Determine the Credit Rating as Required by Paragraph (a)(1)(ii)(C) of Rule 17g-7

- The credit rating methodology assumes, in principle, to be applied to assess the likelihood of a given debt payment in light of its issuer's condition and business environment, etc. in the relevant future. There is certain limitation, however, in the time horizon that the rating foresees.
- The credit rating methodology assumes, in principle, that the factors posted in the below are particularly important for such likelihood to be determined, and that the rating determination is made by evaluating each of them not only quantitatively but also employing qualitative analyses.

A) Business Bases

The likelihood of a given debt payment is highly conditional to its issuer's business bases - how they can be maintained/ expanded into the future and thereby secure earnings and cash flows in adequacy and in a sustainable way.

B) Financial Grounds and Asset Quality

The likelihood of debt payment is highly dependent on the degree of the issuer's indebtedness and loss absorption capacity in terms of equity capital. Also notable is that a financial institution might see a significant loss of financial grounds as a result of changes in value of the assets under its possession.

C) Liquidity Positions

The likelihood of debt payment is highly dependent on the adequacy of the issuer's cash and other sources of repayment (liquidity positions).

D) Related Parties' Status and Stance of Support/ Assistance for the Issuer

The likelihood of debt payment is affected one way or the other by the issuer's related parties such as parent company, subsidiary, guarantor, and the government of the issuer's business domicile, etc. - by their own conditions and/ or position of support/ assistance for the issuer.

E) Order of Seniority in Debt Payment

The likelihood of debt payment can be different between given debts of the same issuer. The likelihood of debt payment for an individual debt is dependent on the issuer's discretion, and/ or its rank relative to other debts of the same issuer in the order of seniority in principal/ interest payment which is determined by design as financial product or by laws, etc.

4 The Potential Limitations of the Credit Rating as Required by Paragraph (a)(1)(ii)(D) of Rule 17g-7

- The credit rating herewith presented by JCR is its summary opinion with regard to the likelihood of given debt payment and hence not necessarily a perfect representation of such likelihood. The credit rating is not intended to estimate the probability of default or the loss on given default, either.
- The objective of the credit rating herewith presented does not include any concerns other than the likelihood of debt payment, such as risks of price changes, market liquidity, etc.
- The credit rating herewith presented is necessary to be reviewed along with possible changes of the issuer of rated objects in its business performance and/ or circumstances which include regulatory environment, and hence subject to possible alteration.

Also, the changes in the quality of asset under the issuer's holding may affect the credit rating, since such changes could raise or lower the likelihood of future loss of the issuer's financial grounds. The resultant alteration of the credit rating is usually by a notch, with possibility of a few notches if and when the change in the financial grounds and/ or asset quality is large.

The resultant alteration of the credit rating is usually a notch, with possibility of a few notches if and when the change is large.

E) Order of Seniority in Debt Payment and Non-Payment Forgiven by Contract

Also, in case of the financial products for which non-payment of interest/ principal is contractually permissible, the credit rating is subject to alteration if and when the likelihood of such non-payment is projected to increase or decrease.
