<Affirmation>

Joint EMTN Program: AA

Rationale

- (1) Mizuho Securities Co., Ltd. (the “Company”) is a securities subsidiary of Mizuho Financial Group, Inc. (“MHFG”), and MHFG holds 100% voting rights in the Company. MHFG promotes the integrated management of banks, trust companies and securities companies under the in-house company structure. The Company is integrated into the framework of the MHFG Group (the “Group”) in terms of business administration, risk management, finance and capital management, and the degree of MHFG’s involvement in the Company, including personnel affairs, is high. Moreover, the Company is managerially highly important to the Group as it plays the central role in the securities strategy in the MHFG. Based on the above, JCR has determined the Company’s issuer rating to be at the same level as the Group’s creditworthiness, which is equivalent to the AA rating.
- (2) The Company’s business base is solid. In the retail division, the Group as a whole has established a sales structure by customer segment through collaboration among banking, trust and securities companies, and the Company is strengthening the sales activities targeting the high-net-worth segment. It is also strengthening capturing the asset building segment through the capital and business alliance with Rakuten Securities, Inc. In terms of fundamental items such as the balance of assets under management and the number of securities accounts, there are certain differences between the Company and major securities companies in the top class in Japan, but the amount of assets introduced continues to show a net increase, and the assets under management are steadily building up. In the wholesale division, the Company has a top-class track record for the domestic bond-related operations. Overseas, it is promoting CIB model in the U.S. and has outperforming the peers in Japan for underwriting investment grade bonds leveraging the effect of collaboration between the bank and securities company. Through promoting integrated sales activities with U.S. M&A advisory firm of Greenhill & Co., Inc., inter-departmental collaboration and strengthening products, the Company is working to further grow and enhance the competitiveness of the U.S. business. It is also making progress of the initiative to diversify the CIB revenue stream other than the U.S. through acquiring advisory companies and others. JCR will pay attention to the progress and outcome of such initiatives whether they will expand the business foundation.
- (3) The Company’s earning capacity, including the U.S. securities company subject to the internal control, is relatively good. Fluctuation in ordinary income is large from a long-term perspective due partly to a high proportion of revenue of the wholesale business, but it has secured a relatively high level. For the fiscal year ended March 2025 (FY2024), the ordinary income increased nearly 20% from the previous fiscal year to around 200 billion yen. In the global markets, both equity and fixed income increased revenue. Furthermore, the global investment banking (“GIB”) raised the profit level through involving in large deals in the DCM and M&A, and profits of retail/corporate also recovered. In the first half of FY2025, it also secured a 20% increase in profits from a year before to around 130 billion yen on the back of expansion of profits in GIB. JCR will keep an eye on whether it will be able to maintain/expand the profit level in the midst of the phase where business environment is prone to change.

- (4) As at the end of September 2025, consolidated shareholders' equity stood at 1 trillion yen, providing a sufficient buffer against risks, and the consolidated capital adequacy ratio was in the lower 300% range, indicating that the Company's capital adequacy is decent. In the phase where risk exposure increases and others, the capital adequacy ratio is controlled to remain above a certain level by subordinated loans extended MHFG and other means; therefore, capital support from MHFG can be expected as needed in the future as well. There are little concerns over the risk management side as it has a small amount of low liquid assets and market risk also stays at a level that can be comfortably absorbed by the equity capital even under the considerable stress. As for fund procurement, there are no particular concerns over the liquidity as the Company has secured sufficient credit facilities centering on Mizuho Bank, Ltd.

The assumptions for the credit ratings and the definitions of the rating symbols are published as "Types of Credit Ratings and Definitions of Rating Symbols" (January 6, 2014) in Information about JCR Ratings on JCR's website (<https://www.jcr.co.jp/en/>).

Outline of the rating methodology is shown as "JCR's Rating Methodology" (October 1, 2024), "Securities" (April 2, 2025), and "Rating Methodology for Financial Groups' Holding Companies and Group Companies" (September 1, 2022) in Information about JCR Ratings on JCR's website (<https://www.jcr.co.jp/en/>).

The rating stakeholder participated in the rating process of the aforementioned credit ratings.

A program rating is assigned to evaluate the creditworthiness of a program. The credit standing of an individual note issued under the program may be regarded as the same as that of the rated program. However, JCR does not consider the credit standing of the individual note as the same as that of the program, in the cases where the principal and interest payments of the individual note rely on the credit standing of a third party rather than the issuer of the program and notes (e.g. credit linked notes and exchangeable notes). JCR usually does not assign a rating to the individual note issued under the program, unless the issuer solicits a rating.

The Main Assumptions and Principles used in Constructing the Procedures and Methodologies used to Determine the Credit Rating as Required by Paragraph (a)(1)(ii)(C) of Rule 17g-7

- The credit rating methodology assumes, in principle, to be applied to assess the likelihood of a given debt payment in light of its issuer's condition and business environment, etc. in the relevant future. There is certain limitation, however, in the time horizon that the rating foresees.
- The credit rating methodology assumes, in principle, that the factors posted in the below are particularly important for such likelihood to be determined, and that the rating determination is made by evaluating each of them not only quantitatively but also employing qualitative analyses.

A) Business Bases

The likelihood of a given debt payment is highly conditional to its issuer's business bases - how they can be maintained/ expanded into the future and thereby secure earnings and cash flows in adequacy and in a sustainable way.

B) Financial Grounds and Asset Quality

The likelihood of debt payment is highly dependent on the degree of the issuer's indebtedness and loss absorption capacity in terms of equity capital. Also notable is that a financial institution might see a significant loss of financial grounds as a result of changes in value of the assets under its possession.

C) Liquidity Positions

The likelihood of debt payment is highly dependent on the adequacy of the issuer's cash and other sources of repayment (liquidity positions).

D) Related Parties' Status and Stance of Support/ Assistance for the Issuer

The likelihood of debt payment is affected one way or the other by the issuer's related parties such as parent company, subsidiary, guarantor, and the government of the issuer's business domicile, etc. - by their own conditions and/ or position of support/ assistance for the issuer.

E) Order of Seniority in Debt Payment

The likelihood of debt payment can be different between given debts of the same issuer. The likelihood of debt payment for an individual debt is dependent on the issuer's discretion, and/ or its rank relative to other debts of the same issuer in the order of seniority in principal/ interest payment which is determined by design as financial product or by laws, etc.

4 The Potential Limitations of the Credit Rating as Required by Paragraph (a)(1)(ii)(D) of Rule 17g-7

- The credit rating herewith presented by JCR is its summary opinion with regard to the likelihood of given debt payment and hence not necessarily a perfect representation of such likelihood. The credit rating is not intended to estimate the probability of default or the loss on given default, either.
- The objective of the credit rating herewith presented does not include any concerns other than the likelihood of debt payment, such as risks of price changes, market liquidity, etc.
- The credit rating herewith presented is necessary to be reviewed along with possible changes of the issuer of rated objects in its business performance and/ or circumstances which include regulatory environment, and hence subject to possible alteration.

11 Explanation or Measure of the Potential Volatility of the Credit Rating as Required by Paragraph (a)(1)(ii)(K) of Rule 17g-7

A) Business Bases

The credit rating is subject to alteration if there is improvement or deterioration of the issuer's business bases, since its revenue, etc. may improve or deteriorate by the change in its business management policies, clients' preferences, competitive situation, or a technological innovation. The resultant alteration of the credit rating is usually by a notch, with possibility of a few notches if and when the change in the business bases is large.

B) Financial Grounds and Asset Quality

The credit rating is subject to alteration if the issuer increases/ decreases its debt/ capital or vice versa and thereby makes its individual debt payment liability less or more bearable and its loss absorption capacity into the future decreased or increased. Also, the changes in the quality of asset under the issuer's holding may affect the credit rating, since such changes could raise or lower the likelihood of future loss of the issuer's financial grounds. The resultant alteration of the credit rating is usually by a notch, with possibility of a few notches if and when the change in the financial grounds and/ or asset quality is large.

C) Liquidity Positions

The credit rating is subject to alteration if there is a change in the issuer's financial management policy or in the relations with fund procurement sources and the change thereby makes its liquidity positions improve or deteriorate. The resultant alteration of the credit rating is usually by a notch, with possibility of a few notches if and when the change is large.

D) Related Parties' Status and Stance of Support/ Assistance for the Issuer

The credit rating is subject to alteration if there is a change in the issuer's parent company or subsidiary, guarantor or other provider of credit enhancement, or the government of the issuer's business domicile, or other related parties' own conditions and/ or position of support/ assistance for the issuer, and the change thereby makes its business bases, financial grounds and/ or liquidity positions improve or deteriorate, and/ or making the effectiveness of guarantee and other credit enhancement improve or deteriorate. The resultant alteration of the credit rating is usually a notch, with possibility of a few notches if and when the change is large.

E) Order of Seniority in Debt Payment and Non-Payment Forgiven by Contract

The credit rating is subject to alteration if there is a change in the rated debt's status in the order of seniority relative to other debts caused by the improvement/ deterioration of the issuer's financial condition. The resultant alteration of the credit rating is usually a notch, with possibility of a few notches if and when the change is large. Also, in case of the financial products for which non-payment of interest/ principal is contractually permissible, the credit rating is subject to alteration if and when the likelihood of such non-payment is projected to increase or decrease. The resultant alteration of the credit rating could be by a notch but often as much as a few notches.

F) Rise and Fall in General Economy and Markets

The credit rating is subject to alteration if there is a rise/ fall in the general economy and/ or the markets inducing the issuer's revenues/ expenses to increase/ decrease and vice versa, etc. The resultant alteration of the credit rating is usually by a notch, with possibility of a few notches if and when the change is exceptionally large.

G) Various Events

The credit rating is subject to alteration on occurrence of various events, such as change in the issuer's major shareholders, M&A and other organizational change, accident, violation of the law, litigation, legal/ regulatory change, natural disaster, etc., which are unforeseeable at the time when the credit rating is determined, causing a significant change on the issuer's business bases, financial grounds, etc. The resultant alteration of the credit rating could be by a notch but more often than not as much as a few notches.
