

Japan Credit Rating Agency, Ltd. (JCR) announces the following credit rating.

SINANEN HOLDINGS CO., LTD. (security code: 8132)

<Affirmation>

Long-term Issuer Rating: A-
Outlook: Stable
CP: J-1

Rationale

- (1) SINANEN HOLDINGS CO., LTD. (the "Company") is the pure holding company of the SINANEN HOLDINGS Group (the "Group"). The Company engages in management of group companies, etc., and given the strong management integrity, JCR incorporates the Group's overall creditworthiness into the ratings on the Company. The Company is one of the leading companies in Japan in terms of sales volume of core products of LP gas and kerosene. It also deals in a wide range of other businesses, such as sales of bicycles, bicycle sharing, environment and recycling, production and sales of antimicrobial agents, systems, and building management. It intends to expand the businesses other than the oil & gas including new businesses.
- (2) For the fiscal year ended March 2023 (FY2022), the Company substantially decreased profits. However, JCR believes the profit level will likely recover over the medium term, making improvements in FY2023 onward. In the electric power sales, the main factor causing the performance deterioration, profits are expected to improve through reflecting the increased procurement costs to sales prices, reviewing the procurement position, etc. Sales of LP gas and petroleum products are expected to continue to underpin the performance, and the businesses other than the oil & gas will also likely increase profits gradually. Going forward, the Company intends to increase investments for the long-last business portfolio transformation; however, the favorable financial position will likely be maintained for the foreseeable future. Based on the above, JCR has affirmed the ratings on the Company with Stable outlook.
- (3) For FY2023, operating income is expected to grow for the first time in two fiscal years, forecasting at 2.3 billion yen, up 87.3% from the previous fiscal year. Although cost increases including personnel expenses and deterioration of trading margin in the oil business will be the factors causing profit decrease, improving profitability of electric power sales and a full-year contribution of upward price revisions of LP gas will exceed such factors. Since the negative factor relating to the position adjustments for electricity supply and demand, which remained until in the first quarter of FY2023, diminishes for FY2024, further profit growth is expected. Having said that, as for the electric power sales, prices may remain highly volatile going forward; therefore, the Company's issue to address is to restrain profit fluctuations.
- (4) The equity ratio at the end of FY2022 was at a good level, standing at 52.9%, 51.2% at the end of the previous fiscal year, and the balance of cash and deposits still exceeds that of interest-bearing debt. The Company virtually withdraws from the planned large-scale onshore wind-power generation project in Korea. In the third mid-term management plan started from FY2023, the Company plans an investment of around 50 billion yen for five years; however, only some of the investment targets have been confirmed presently. JCR believes the plan will not give a large impact on the financial position for the foreseeable future.

3 The Main Assumptions and Principles used in Constructing the Procedures and Methodologies used to Determine the Credit Rating as Required by Paragraph (a)(1)(ii)(C) of Rule 17g-7

- The credit rating methodology assumes, in principle, to be applied to assess the likelihood of a given debt payment in light of its issuer's condition and business environment, etc. in the relevant future. There is certain limitation, however, in the time horizon that the rating foresees.
- The credit rating methodology assumes, in principle, that the factors posted in the below are particularly important for such likelihood to be determined, and that the rating determination is made by evaluating each of them not only quantitatively but also employing qualitative analyses.

A) Business Bases

The likelihood of a given debt payment is highly conditional to its issuer's business bases - how they can be maintained/ expanded into the future and thereby secure earnings and cash flows in adequacy and in a sustainable way.

B) Financial Grounds and Asset Quality

The likelihood of debt payment is highly dependent on the degree of the issuer's indebtedness and loss absorption capacity in terms of equity capital. Also notable is that a financial institution might see a significant loss of financial grounds as a result of changes in value of the assets under its possession.

C) Liquidity Positions

The likelihood of debt payment is highly dependent on the adequacy of the issuer's cash and other sources of repayment (liquidity positions).

D) Related Parties' Status and Stance of Support/ Assistance for the Issuer

The likelihood of debt payment is affected one way or the other by the issuer's related parties such as parent company, subsidiary, guarantor, and the government of the issuer's business domicile, etc. - by their own conditions and/ or position of support/ assistance for the issuer.

E) Order of Seniority in Debt Payment

The likelihood of debt payment can be different between given debts of the same issuer. The likelihood of debt payment for an individual debt is dependent on the issuer's discretion, and/ or its rank relative to other debts of the same issuer in the order of seniority in principal/ interest payment which is determined by design as financial product or by laws, etc.

4 The Potential Limitations of the Credit Rating as Required by Paragraph (a)(1)(ii)(D) of Rule 17g-7
