

Japan Credit Rating Agency, Ltd. (JCR) announces the following credit rating.

Kyodo Housing Loan Co., Ltd. (security code: -)

<Assignment>

Long-term Issuer Rating: A+
Outlook: Stable

Rationale

- (1) Kyodo Housing Loan Co., Ltd. (“KHL”) is a nonbank specialized in housing loans and is 100% owned by JA Bank with The Norinchukin Bank having a stake of over 90%. It has been operating the housing loan business since its foundation in 1979 while also offering guarantees on housing loans of Japan Agricultural Cooperatives (“JA”) since 2006 and Japan Fisheries Cooperatives (“JF”) since 2013. The rating on KHL strongly reflects Norinchukin Bank’s creditworthiness in light of KHL’s ties with the parent Norinchukin Bank, high significance in the retail strategy of JA Bank, etc.
- (2) KHL has a firm business model differentiated from other companies’ for both the loan and guarantee businesses, and these two segments complement each other to support management. As of March 31, 2021, loan balance was a bit less than 200 billion yen and guarantee balance 2.1 trillion yen. Operating revenue is accounted for 60% by the loan business-related and 40% by the guarantee business-related.
- (3) In the loan business, KHL by leveraging its own know-how meticulously deals with the transactions to which the scoring criteria of general banks, etc. are less likely to be applicable. This increases the convenience of housing-related companies that come to KHL, consequently contributing to strengthening their relations. Loan balance remains steady, and yield is high. KHL’s unique screening system hardly allows other banks, etc. to follow in terms of costs and so forth, and JCR therefore assumes that loan balance will keep growing steadily into the future.
- (4) In the guarantee business, too, KHL diligently handles individual transactions by, for instance, leveraging qualitative information based on its own screening know-how gained in the loan business. Guarantee fee rates are set in many different stages according to the level of risk exposure and are relatively low. KHL’s guarantee balance has grown rapidly, doubling in the last five years, supporting JA/JF in promoting housing loans. KHL also provides sales assistance to JA/JF by giving advice related to the moves of housing-related companies and real estate practice. JCR assumes that guarantee balance will keep growing going forward, too, with the expansion of JA/JF’s housing loans.
- (5) Asset quality is good. As regards loans, delinquency rate is low, and defaults are very few, even in the past. For guarantees, too, delinquency rate is extremely low, and so is the rate of subrogated payments, making the amount of the right to indemnification exercised small. JCR views that KHL’s screening style to explore and examine diverse quantitative and qualitative factors as much as possible is functioning well in both the loan and guarantee businesses.
- (6) Because of low guarantee fee rates, etc., ROA based on ordinary income (including guarantee balance) is low, standing at 0.1% for the fiscal year ended March 2021, and the size of the income is also small. However, as credit costs are controlled at a low level, profitability is ensured for both the guarantee and loan businesses. Despite a gradual increase in SG&A expenses partly due to the enhanced manpower, KHL has been reporting net income of over 1 billion yen for nine straight years. Guarantee fee income grew with the expansion of the guarantee business, and, thanks to this and steady growth in interest on loans, operating revenue has been improving consistently, though gradually. KHL will probably secure net income going forward, too, with the expansion of guarantee balance.
- (7) KHL has a sufficient risk buffer, i.e. net assets plus provision for losses on guarantees, which amounted to 43.4 billion yen as of March 31, 2021. Equity ratio based on total assets including guarantee balance is relatively high. JCR views that KHL has enough risk buffer to fully withstand generally predictable stresses.
- (8) As interest rates remain extremely low, both JA and JF face the immediate challenge of strengthening their loan functions, and in particular boosting housing loans is probably the top priority. KHL having the highest level of housing loan-related expertise and knowhow in the Norinchukin Bank Group is expected to be totally involved by not only offering guarantees but also providing advice on sales techniques, connecting Norinchukin Bank and JA/JF in product development, etc. In light of the above factors, JCR assumes that Norinchukin Bank is most likely to support KHL as necessary in a timely and appropriate manner.

- Please see the news release. If the credit rating is a private rating, please see the report for private rating.

3 The Main Assumptions and Principles used in Constructing the Procedures and Methodologies used to Determine the Credit Rating as Required by Paragraph (a)(1)(ii)(C) of Rule 17g-7

- The credit rating methodology assumes, in principle, to be applied to assess the likelihood of a given debt payment in light of its issuer's condition and business environment, etc. in the relevant future. There is certain limitation, however, in the time horizon that the rating foresees.
- The credit rating methodology assumes, in principle, that the factors posted in the below are particularly important for such likelihood to be determined, and that the rating determination is made by evaluating each of them not only quantitatively but also employing qualitative analyses.

A) Business Bases

The likelihood of a given debt payment is highly conditional to its issuer's business bases - how they can be maintained/ expanded into the future and thereby secure earnings and cash flows in adequacy and in a sustainable way.

B) Financial Grounds and Asset Quality

The likelihood of debt payment is highly dependent on the degree of the issuer's indebtedness and loss absorption capacity in terms of equity capital. Also notable is that a financial institution might see a significant loss of financial grounds as a result of changes in value of the assets under its possession.

C) Liquidity Positions

The likelihood of debt payment is highly dependent on the adequacy of the issuer's cash and other sources of repayment (liquidity positions).

D) Related Parties' Status and Stance of Support/ Assistance for the Issuer

The likelihood of debt payment is affected one way or the other by the issuer's related parties such as parent company, subsidiary, guarantor, and the government of the issuer's business domicile, etc. - by their own conditions and/ or position of support/ assistance for the issuer.

E) Order of Seniority in Debt Payment

The likelihood of debt payment can be different between given debts of the same issuer. The likelihood of debt payment for an individual debt is dependent on the issuer's discretion, and/ or its rank relative to other debts of the same issuer in the order of seniority in principal/ interest payment which is determined by design as financial product or by laws, etc.

4 The Potential Limitations of the Credit Rating as Required by Paragraph (a)(1)(ii)(D) of Rule 17g-7

The resultant alteration of the credit rating is usually a notch, with possibility of a few notches if and when the change is large.
