

Japan Credit Rating Agency, Ltd. (JCR) announces the following credit rating.

Sompo Warranty Inc. (security code: -)

<Affirmation>

Long-term Issuer Rating: AA
Outlook: Stable

Rationale

- (1) Sompo Warranty Inc. ("SWT") is a consolidated subsidiary of Sompo Holdings, Inc. ("SHD") and is an operator specialized in providing extended product warranty ("warranty") services. SHD owns a 100% of voting rights in SWT, and has strong unity in terms of decision-makings and business operations as shown that Sompo Japan Insurance Inc. ("SJ"), Sompo Holdings Group (the "Group")'s core non-life insurance company, sends multiple directors, including the President, to SWT. This indicates that the Group's degree of involvement in SWT is high. SWT's warranty business is positioned to help expanding peripheral business of the Group's domestic non-life insurance business and its strategical and functional significance for the Group is reasonably high as evidenced that many positive outcomes from collaboration with SJ for the sales perspective can be recognized. Furthermore, SWT has been receiving various support from the Group such as human resources, system, sales and risk control, among others, and received a capital enhancement from SHD when the financial structure changed in relation to change in the accounting standards it has adopted. Based on the above, JCR determined SWT's issuer rating AA, which is one notch below the Group's group creditworthiness of AA+ equivalent.
- (2) Claiming itself as a leading company driving the extended warrantee industry, SWT operates businesses such as provision of quality/performance warrantee and repair for various products, call centers and consulting, among others. The warranty business is to provide repair and other services at no cost for the defects and malfunctions that occur during a specified period of time after the expiration of manufacturer's warranty. SWT mainly deals with home appliances and housing equipment, and has many transactions with major consumer electronics retailers, housing-related business operators, online shopping companies and others. As for the performance, it has been maintaining a growth trend for earnings over the medium term, securing a certain amount of profits, even though considering the change in the accounting standards for recognition of warrantee fee income. Having said large that, due to SWT's high degree of business concentration to small number of companies, an impact of trend in large amount of contracts on the overall business and profit / loss is large. JCR views that SWT's issue to address is to disperse risk through expanding the business scale; therefore will pay attention to whether it can build up customers, from which a reasonable business size can be expected, through strengthening collaboration with SJ.
- (3) Warranty providers have close relations with non-life insurance companies. SWT on its part avoids the risk of a greater-than-expected increase in costs and achieves stable business operations by concluding insurance contracts with parties like SJ for all extended warranties. Because extended warranty covers a long period of time, product users and client companies are seeking stability and reliability in the warranty business. Therefore, SWT being a part of the Group not only creates synergies in terms of sales but also appears to be working positively for ensuring reliability, in JCR's view.

The Main Assumptions and Principles used in Constructing the Procedures and Methodologies used to Determine the Credit Rating as Required by Paragraph (a)(1)(ii)(C) of Rule 17g-7

- The credit rating methodology assumes, in principle, to be applied to assess the likelihood of a given debt payment in light of its issuer's condition and business environment, etc. in the relevant future. There is certain limitation, however, in the time horizon that the rating foresees.
- The credit rating methodology assumes, in principle, that the factors posted in the below are particularly important for such likelihood to be determined, and that the rating determination is made by evaluating each of them not only quantitatively but also employing qualitative analyses.

A) Business Bases

The likelihood of a given debt payment is highly conditional to its issuer's business bases - how they can be maintained/ expanded into the future and thereby secure earnings and cash flows in adequacy and in a sustainable way.

B) Financial Grounds and Asset Quality

The likelihood of debt payment is highly dependent on the degree of the issuer's indebtedness and loss absorption capacity in terms of equity capital. Also notable is that a financial institution might see a significant loss of financial grounds as a result of changes in value of the assets under its possession.

C) Liquidity Positions

The likelihood of debt payment is highly dependent on the adequacy of the issuer's cash and other sources of repayment (liquidity positions).

D) Related Parties' Status and Stance of Support/ Assistance for the Issuer

The likelihood of debt payment is affected one way or the other by the issuer's related parties such as parent company, subsidiary, guarantor, and the government of the issuer's business domicile, etc. - by their own conditions and/ or position of support/ assistance for the issuer.

E) Order of Seniority in Debt Payment

The likelihood of debt payment can be different between given debts of the same issuer. The likelihood of debt payment for an individual debt is dependent on the issuer's discretion, and/ or its rank relative to other debts of the same issuer in the order of seniority in principal/ interest payment which is determined by design as financial product or by laws, etc.

4 The Potential Limitations of the Credit Rating as Required by Paragraph (a)(1)(ii)(D) of Rule 17g-7
