

Japan Credit Rating Agency, Ltd. (JCR) announces the following credit rating.

AIR WATER INC. (security code: 4088)

<Outlook Change>

Long-term Issuer Rating: A+
Outlook: from Stable to Positive

<Affirmation>

Bonds: A+
Shelf Registration: Preliminary A+

Rationale

- (1) AIR WATER INC. (the “Company”) operates the Industrial Gas Business along with other segments ranging widely from Chemical Business and Energy Business to Medical Business and Agriculture & Food Products Business. It has a stable domestic business foundation for the core Industrial Gas Business and is also strengthening the overseas business through M&As and collaboration with leading trading firms. In its vision for the fiscal year ending March 2031 (FY2030), “terrAWell 30,” it defines the global environment and wellness as growth axes and aims to increase corporate value by solving social issues on the strength of diverse management resources and community-based business foundation, which have been developed over the years.
- (2) Earnings base is becoming stronger in all segments. For the Industrial Gas Business, earnings growth is driven by electronics-related businesses, including semiconductors, and the Indian business. For the Energy Business, Agriculture & Food Products Business and Logistics Business, too, business foundation has been strengthened through ongoing M&As. The current surge in the prices of raw materials and fuels is a risk factor, but JCR predicts that the Company will continue steady growth into the future by taking advantage of the well-diversified portfolio developed through wide-ranging business operations. While the Company remains aggressive in growth investments, it will likely be able to maintain a certain level of a financial position. Based on the above, JCR, while affirming the ratings on the Company, changed the outlook to Positive. Whether the Company can keep achieving profit growth despite the severe business environment will be closely watched.
- (3) The Company forecasts an operating income (IFRS) of 70 billion yen for FY2022, improving 7.4% from the previous year to mark a new high again. While being affected by soaring prices of raw materials and fuels especially for the Industrial Gas Business, Seawater Business and Logistics Business, including electricity costs, the Company intends to steadily press ahead with the selling price pass-through. Moreover, all segments are expected to keep expanding thanks to M&As. Looking ahead, JCR will watch whether the Company can create synergies among businesses and improve profitability through the organizational reform implemented in April 2022, digital transformation, etc., while also achieving business expansion.
- (4) The ratio of equity attributable to owners of the parent and net D/E ratio as of June 30, 2022 were 38.8% and 0.79x, as opposed to 38.7% and 0.80x at the end of FY2021. Despite ongoing large growth investments, centering on M&As, financial soundness is maintained as equity capital is expanding steadily with profit accumulation. Under the new medium-term management plan for FY2022 through FY2024, total spending over the three years is projected at 400 billion yen, which is greater than operating cash flow, but, given the stable cash flow generation capacity, JCR assumes that financial risks are not likely to increase.

The Main Assumptions and Principles used in Constructing the Procedures and Methodologies used to Determine the Credit Rating as Required by Paragraph (a)(1)(ii)(C) of Rule 17g-7

- The credit rating methodology assumes, in principle, to be applied to assess the likelihood of a given debt payment in light of its issuer's condition and business environment, etc. in the relevant future. There is certain limitation, however, in the time horizon that the rating foresees.
- The credit rating methodology assumes, in principle, that the factors posted in the below are particularly important for such likelihood to be determined, and that the rating determination is made by evaluating each of them not only quantitatively but also employing qualitative analyses.

A) Business Bases

The likelihood of a given debt payment is highly conditional to its issuer's business bases - how they can be maintained/ expanded into the future and thereby secure earnings and cash flows in adequacy and in a sustainable way.

B) Financial Grounds and Asset Quality

The likelihood of debt payment is highly dependent on the degree of the issuer's indebtedness and loss absorption capacity in terms of equity capital. Also notable is that a financial institution might see a significant loss of financial grounds as a result of changes in value of the assets under its possession.

C) Liquidity Positions

The likelihood of debt payment is highly dependent on the adequacy of the issuer's cash and other sources of repayment (liquidity positions).

D) Related Parties' Status and Stance of Support/ Assistance for the Issuer

The likelihood of debt payment is affected one way or the other by the issuer's related parties such as parent company, subsidiary, guarantor, and the government of the issuer's business domicile, etc. - by their own conditions and/ or position of support/ assistance for the issuer.

E) Order of Seniority in Debt Payment

The likelihood of debt payment can be different between given debts of the same issuer. The likelihood of debt payment for an individual debt is dependent on the issuer's discretion, and/ or its rank relative to other debts of the same issuer in the order of seniority in principal/ interest payment which is determined by design as financial product or by laws, etc.

4 The Potential Limitations of the Credit Rating as Required by Paragraph (a)(1)(ii)(D) of Rule 17g-7

- The credit rating herewith presented by JCR is its summary opinion with regard to the likelihood of given debt payment and hence not necessarily a perfect representation of such likelihood. The credit rating is not intended to estimate the probability of default or the loss on given default, either.
- The objective of the credit rating herewith presented does not include any concerns other than the likelihood of debt payment, such as risks of price changes, market liquidity, etc.
- The credit rating herewith presented is necessary to be reviewed along with possible changes of the issuer of rated objects in its business performance and/ or circumstances which include regulatory environment, and hence subject to possible alteration.

Consequently, the credit rating determined on the grounds of such information does not constitute, explicitly or implicitly, any representation or warrant of JCR on the information itself or any consequences of its use in terms of accuracy, relevance, timeliness, wholeness, market value, or usefulness for any specific purposes.

The resultant alteration of the credit rating is usually by a notch, with possibility of a few notches if and when the change in the business bases is large.

B) Financial Grounds and Asset Quality

The credit rating is subject to alteration if the issuer increases/ decreases its debt/ capital or vice versa and thereby makes its individual debt payment liability less or more bearable and its loss absorption capacity into the future decreased or increased. Also, the changes in the quality of asset under the issuer's holding may affect the credit rating, since such changes could raise or lower the likelihood of future loss of the issuer's financial grounds. The resultant alteration of the credit rating is usually by a notch, with possibility of a few notches if and when the change in the financial grounds and/ or asset quality is large.

C) Liquidity Positions

The credit rating is subject to alteration if there is a change in the issuer's financial management policy or in the relations with fund procurement sources and the change thereby makes its liquidity positions improve or deteriorate. The resultant alteration of the credit rating is usually by a notch, with possibility of a few notches if and when the change is large.

D) Related Parties' Status and Stance of Support/ Assistance for the Issuer

The credit rating is subject to alteration if there is a change in the issuer's parent company or subsidiary, guarantor or other provider of credit enhancement, or the government of the issuer's business domicile, or other related parties' own conditions and/ or position of support/ assistance for the issuer, and the change thereby makes its business bases, financial grounds and/ or liquidity positions improve or deteriorate, and/ or making the effectiveness of guarantee and other credit enhancement improve or deteriorate. The resultant alteration of the credit rating is usually a notch, with possibility of a few notches if and when the change is large.

E) Order of Seniority in Debt Payment and Non-Payment Forgiven by Contract

The credit rating is subject to alteration if there is a change in the rated debt's status in the order of seniority relative to other debts caused by the improvement/ deterioration of the issuer's financial condition. The resultant alteration of the credit rating is usually a notch, with possibility of a few notches if and when the change is large. Also, in case of the financial products for which non-payment of interest/ principal is contractually permissible, the credit rating is subject to alteration if and when the likelihood of such non-payment is projected to increase or decrease. The resultant alteration of the credit rating could be by a notch but often as much as a few notches.

F) Rise and Fall in General Economy and Markets

The credit rating is subject to alteration if there is a rise/ fall in the general economy and/ or the markets inducing the issuer's revenues/ expenses to increase/ decrease and vice versa, etc. The resultant alteration of the credit rating is usually by a notch, with possibility of a few notches if and when the change is exceptionally large.

G) Various Events

The credit rating is subject to alteration on occurrence of various events, such as change in the issuer's major shareholders, M&A and other organizational change, accident, violation of the law, litigation, legal/ regulatory change, natural disaster, etc., which are unforeseeable at the time when the credit rating is determined, causing a significant change on the issuer's business bases, financial grounds, etc. The resultant alteration of the credit rating could be by a notch but more often than not as much as a few notches.

Information on the Sensitivity of the Credit Rating to Assumptions Made as Required by Paragraph (a)(1)(ii)(M) of Rule 17g-7

B) Financial Grounds and Asset Quality

The credit rating herewith presented could be changed if and when the assumptions made at the time of its determination turn out to be inaccurate with regard to the issuer's financial grounds and asset

The change could be as much as a few notches if the issuer's financial structure differs so much and thereby the balance between debts shifted so greatly. Rating change is also possible in case of the financial products for which non-payment of interest/ principal is contractually permissible, if and when the assumptions made at the time of its determination turns out to be inaccurate. The change of the credit rating is assumed to be by a notch but often as much as a few notches.
