Japan-CLP is a unique Japanese enterprise group, established under the common recognition that the industry should consider the risks seriously and start any actions positively in order to realize sustainable decarbonizing society. As was introduced by NHK Special, named “Shocks of decarbonizing revolution”, Japan-CLP members participated in COP23 as a group of observers and joined the discussions about decarbonizing in the world. As was such activities, they are playing an important role for policy recommendations and developing decarbonized business.

As was explained, the members of Japan-CLP acknowledge that transforming to sustainable decarbonizing society would be their next business chance. They try to communicate with political appointees, industries and citizens to develop next activities mainly in Japan and Asian regions.

JCR hopes to strengthen its network with these corporations who positively develop their business for decarbonizing society. At the same time, we would like to develop our activities to connect environmental issues and financial market as a credit rating agency, one of the players of the financial market.
