

Japan Credit Rating Agency, Ltd. (JCR) announces the following credit rating.

RICOH LEASING COMPANY, LTD. (security code: 8566)

<Assignment>

Shelf Registration: Preliminary AA-

<Affirmation>

Long-term Issuer Rating: AA-

Outlook: Stable

Bonds: AA-

CP: J-1+

Rationale

- (1) RICOH LEASING COMPANY, LTD. (the "Company") is a leasing company belonging to the Ricoh Group. The Company is an equity method affiliate of RICOH COMPANY, LTD. ("RICOH") and MIZUHO Leasing Company, Limited ("MIZUHO Leasing"). It has strengths in the small-amount lease and installment sales for SMEs. Transactions from "RICOH distribution channels," through RICOH Group's sales companies and distributors, account for approximately 40% of the transaction volume of lease and installment sales. The ratings reflect the Company's standalone creditworthiness, such as its sound assets, high capital adequacy and stable earning capacity. The key factor for rating is whether the Company can improve the profit level with diversification of revenue sources while maintaining the financial soundness.
- (2) The Company has a good customer base with approximately 400,000 customers mainly consisting of SMEs. Amid sluggish growth in the transaction volume related to the mainstay leasing and installment sales, the Company is working to develop operations, such as housing rental and real estate-related services, solar power generation, and collection agency services, into its new business pillars, and the efforts are bringing results gradually. It is actively investing in the cultivation of new business areas through establishment of an ESG-focused investment quota, and in the strengthening of business foundations including human resources and IT infrastructures. Partnerships with Mizuho Leasing, which formed a business alliance with the Company in 2020, are also making some progress. JCR will pay attention to whether these initiatives will lead to the enhancement of its earning capacity.
- (3) The Company's business performance has been steady. While the transaction volume related to leasing and installment sales is sluggish, the transaction volume related to new business fields such as solar power generation and housing rental is steadily increasing. The collection agency service is also performing well, reflecting the growing need for non-contact payments. Profit-focused initiatives have taken hold, and yields on new contracts have been improving. The Company expects to secure stable profits for the time being as credit costs remain constrained. Its ROA (on an ordinary profit basis) is in the mid-1% range, which is favorable in comparison to major leasing companies, and JCR sees that the Company will be able to maintain high earning capacity going forward.
- (4) The asset quality is good. The soundness of its asset quality is maintained, backed by the portfolio well-diversified into small amounts, conservative credit decisions, receivables management and policy for provisions. As of the end of the second quarter of the fiscal year ending March 2023, the equity capital was 205.8 billion yen and the equity ratio was 17%. Although total assets have been on an uptrend in line with business expansion, equity capital has increased against the backdrop of steady profit accumulation, and capital adequacy is high. In addition to indirect funding from many financial institutions, it has a diverse funding base, including corporate bonds and CP. Hence there are no particular concerns about liquidity.

The Main Assumptions and Principles used in Constructing the Procedures and Methodologies used to Determine the Credit Rating as Required by Paragraph (a)(1)(ii)(C) of Rule 17g-7

- The credit rating methodology assumes, in principle, to be applied to assess the likelihood of a given debt payment in light of its issuer's condition and business environment, etc. in the relevant future. There is certain limitation, however, in the time horizon that the rating foresees.
- The credit rating methodology assumes, in principle, that the factors posted in the below are particularly important for such likelihood to be determined, and that the rating determination is made by evaluating each of them not only quantitatively but also employing qualitative analyses.

A) Business Bases

The likelihood of a given debt payment is highly conditional to its issuer's business bases - how they can be maintained/ expanded into the future and thereby secure earnings and cash flows in adequacy and in a sustainable way.

B) Financial Grounds and Asset Quality

The likelihood of debt payment is highly dependent on the degree of the issuer's indebtedness and loss absorption capacity in terms of equity capital. Also notable is that a financial institution might see a significant loss of financial grounds as a result of changes in value of the assets under its possession.

C) Liquidity Positions

The likelihood of debt payment is highly dependent on the adequacy of the issuer's cash and other sources of repayment (liquidity positions).

D) Related Parties' Status and Stance of Support/ Assistance for the Issuer

The likelihood of debt payment is affected one way or the other by the issuer's related parties such as parent company, subsidiary, guarantor, and the government of the issuer's business domicile, etc. - by their own conditions and/ or position of support/ assistance for the issuer.

E) Order of Seniority in Debt Payment

The likelihood of debt payment can be different between given debts of the same issuer. The likelihood of debt payment for an individual debt is dependent on the issuer's discretion, and/ or its rank relative to other debts of the same issuer in the order of seniority in principal/ interest payment which is determined by design as financial product or by laws, etc.

4 The Potential Limitations of the Credit Rating as Required by Paragraph (a)(1)(ii)(D) of Rule 17g-7

- The credit rating herewith presented by JCR is its summary opinion with regard to the likelihood of given debt payment and hence not necessarily a perfect representation of such likelihood. The credit rating is not intended to estimate the probability of default or the loss on given default, either.
- The objective of the credit rating herewith presented does not include any concerns other than the likelihood of debt payment, such as risks of price changes, market liquidity, etc.
- The credit rating herewith presented is necessary to be reviewed along with possible changes of the issuer of rated objects in its business performance and/ or circumstances which include regulatory environment, and hence subject to possible alteration.

5 Information on the Uncertainty of the Credit Rating as Required by Paragraph (a)(1)(ii)(E) of Rule 17g-7

Consequently, the credit rating determined on the grounds of such information does not constitute, explicitly or implicitly, any representation or warrant of JCR on the information itself or any consequences of its use in terms of accuracy, relevance, timeliness, wholeness, market value, or usefulness for any specific purposes.

11 Explanation or Measure of the Potential Volatility of the Credit Rating as Required by Paragraph (a)(1)(ii)(K) of Rule 17g-7

A) Business Bases

The credit rating is subject to alteration if there is improvement or deterioration of the issuer's business bases, since its revenue, etc. may improve or deteriorate by the change in its business management policies, clients' preferences, competitive situation, or a technological innovation. The resultant alteration of the credit rating is usually by a notch, with possibility of a few notches if and when the change in the business bases is large.

B) Financial Grounds and Asset Quality

The credit rating is subject to alteration if the issuer increases/ decreases its debt/ capital or vice versa and thereby makes its individual debt payment liability less or more bearable and its loss absorption capacity into the future decreased or increased. Also, the changes in the quality of asset under the issuer's holding may affect the credit rating, since such changes could raise or lower the likelihood of future loss of the issuer's financial grounds. The resultant alteration of the credit rating is usually by a notch, with possibility of a few notches if and when the change in the financial grounds and/ or asset quality is large.

C) Liquidity Positions

The credit rating is subject to alteration if there is a change in the issuer's financial management policy or in the relations with fund procurement sources and the change thereby makes its liquidity positions improve or deteriorate. The resultant alteration of the credit rating is usually by a notch, with possibility of a few notches if and when the change is large.

D) Related Parties' Status and Stance of Support/ Assistance for the Issuer

The credit rating is subject to alteration if there is a change in the issuer's parent company or subsidiary, guarantor or other provider of credit enhancement, or the government of the issuer's business domicile, or other related parties' own conditions and/ or position of support/ assistance for the issuer, and the change thereby makes its business bases, financial grounds and/ or liquidity positions improve or deteriorate, and/ or making the effectiveness of guarantee and other credit enhancement improve or deteriorate. The resultant alteration of the credit rating is usually a notch, with possibility of a few notches if and when the change is large.

E) Order of Seniority in Debt Payment and Non-Payment Forgiven by Contract

The credit rating is subject to alteration if there is a change in the rated debt's status in the order of seniority relative to other debts caused by the improvement/ deterioration of the issuer's financial condition. The resultant alteration of the credit rating is usually a notch, with possibility of a few notches if and when the change is large. Also, in case of the financial products for which non-payment of interest/ principal is contractually permissible, the credit rating is subject to alteration if and when the likelihood of such non-payment is projected to increase or decrease. The resultant alteration of the credit rating could be by a notch but often as much as a few notches.

F) Rise and Fall in General Economy and Markets

The credit rating is subject to alteration if there is a rise/ fall in the general economy and/ or the markets inducing the issuer's revenues/ expenses to increase/ decrease and vice versa, etc. The resultant alteration of the credit rating is usually by a notch, with possibility of a few notches if and when the change is exceptionally large.

G) Various Events

The credit rating is subject to alteration on occurrence of various events, such as change in the issuer's major shareholders, M&A and other organizational change, accident, violation of the law, litigation, legal/ regulatory change, natural disaster, etc., which are unforeseeable at the time when the credit rating is determined, causing a significant change on the issuer's business bases, financial grounds, etc. The resultant alteration of the credit rating could be by a notch but more often than not as much as a few notches.
