

Japan Credit Rating Agency, Ltd. (JCR) announces the following credit rating.

OSG Corporation (security code: 6136)

<Affirmation>

Long-term Issuer Rating: A
Outlook: Stable

Rationale

- (1) OSG Corporation (the "Company") is a major manufacturer of cutting tools. It produces taps for processing internal threads, as well as drills and end mills. In particular, it has strength in cutting tools for finish processing where high accuracy is required. It has a well-differentiated position in the industry on the back of its high product development capability and ability to make proposals for processing methods. With bases in 35 countries around the world, it has extensive global manufacturing, sales and support structures.
- (2) Its solid business foundation remains unchanged. Even as growth in its core automotive industry business slows, it maintains strong cash flow generation capacity, supported by growth areas such as micro and precision processing. As the contribution of growth areas to earnings is expected to continue to rise, JCR believes that the Company will be able to maintain solid earning capacity for the foreseeable future. Its financial structure is sound, and it is assumed to remain at a sound level. Based on the above, JCR has affirmed the rating on the Company with Stable outlook.
- (3) Operating income for the fiscal year ending November 2026 (FY2026) is planned at 22.0 billion yen (an 8.2% increase year on year). Domestic demand is solid, and demand growth is also expected in each overseas region. Therefore, sales will likely remain strong. Meanwhile, a sharp rise in raw material prices due to China's export restrictions on rare metals is a near-term risk factor. Currently, profitability is maintained through measures such as quotes on a case-by-case basis for specialty products, but JCR will confirm whether earning capacity continues to improve sustainably even under such circumstances.
- (4) As of the end of the first quarter of the FY2026, the equity ratio was 68.8% (67.5% at the end of FY2025), indicating a sound financial structure. In addition, with liquidity on hand exceeds the balance of interest-bearing debt, financial flexibility is also high. Going forward, interest-bearing debt may increase due to capital investments to expand capacity in growth areas and higher shareholder returns. However, since an increase in equity capital with the accumulation of profits is also expected, JCR believes that the current level of financial structure can be maintained.

The Main Assumptions and Principles used in Constructing the Procedures and Methodologies used to Determine the Credit Rating as Required by Paragraph (a)(1)(ii)(C) of Rule 17g-7

- The credit rating methodology assumes, in principle, to be applied to assess the likelihood of a given debt payment in light of its issuer's condition and business environment, etc. in the relevant future. There is certain limitation, however, in the time horizon that the rating foresees.
- The credit rating methodology assumes, in principle, that the factors posted in the below are particularly important for such likelihood to be determined, and that the rating determination is made by evaluating each of them not only quantitatively but also employing qualitative analyses.

A) Business Bases

The likelihood of a given debt payment is highly conditional to its issuer's business bases - how they can be maintained/ expanded into the future and thereby secure earnings and cash flows in adequacy and in a sustainable way.

B) Financial Grounds and Asset Quality

The likelihood of debt payment is highly dependent on the degree of the issuer's indebtedness and loss absorption capacity in terms of equity capital. Also notable is that a financial institution might see a significant loss of financial grounds as a result of changes in value of the assets under its possession.

C) Liquidity Positions

The likelihood of debt payment is highly dependent on the adequacy of the issuer's cash and other sources of repayment (liquidity positions).

D) Related Parties' Status and Stance of Support/ Assistance for the Issuer

The likelihood of debt payment is affected one way or the other by the issuer's related parties such as parent company, subsidiary, guarantor, and the government of the issuer's business domicile, etc. - by their own conditions and/ or position of support/ assistance for the issuer.

E) Order of Seniority in Debt Payment

The likelihood of debt payment can be different between given debts of the same issuer. The likelihood of debt payment for an individual debt is dependent on the issuer's discretion, and/ or its rank relative to other debts of the same issuer in the order of seniority in principal/ interest payment which is determined by design as financial product or by laws, etc.

4 The Potential Limitations of the Credit Rating as Required by Paragraph (a)(1)(ii)(D) of Rule 17g-7

- The objective of the credit rating herewith presented does not include any concerns other than the likelihood of debt payment, such as risks of price changes, market liquidity, etc.
- The credit rating herewith presented is necessary to be reviewed along with possible changes of the issuer of rated objects in its business performance and/ or circumstances which include regulatory environment, and hence subject to possible alteration.

Also, the changes in the quality of asset under the issuer's holding may affect the credit rating, since such changes could raise or lower the likelihood of future loss of the issuer's financial grounds.
