

Japan Credit Rating Agency, Ltd. (JCR) announces the following credit rating.

Kyoyu Lease Co., Ltd. (security code: -)

<Assignment>

Long-term Issuer Rating: A
Outlook: Stable
CP: J-1

Rationale

- (1) Kyoyu Lease Co., Ltd. (the “Company”) is a leasing company in the OKB Group (the “Group”) led by The Ogaki Kyoritsu Bank, Ltd. (long-term issuer rating: A/Stable; “OKB”). It has certain business bases mainly in Gifu and Aichi prefectures thanks to OKB’s strong presence there. OKB holds 100% voting rights in the Company, including indirect ones, and the latter’s directors all come from OKB. Their unity is also strong in terms of business administration, including risk management. OKB is pursuing a basic strategy of enhancing the consultation-type business model by leveraging the collective strengths of the Group. Given that the Company is the only company in the Group to assume the leasing function, JCR considers its significance in the Group to be high. In light of the degrees of OKB’s control and involvement, as well as the Company’s managerial importance in the Group, JCR assigned an A long-term issuer rating to the Company, which is equivalent to OKB’ rating, and placed the Stable outlook.
- (2) Ordinary income before deducting credit costs remains steady at around 1 billion yen. Although downward pressure on yields on operating assets has increased partly because of intensifying competition, the Company has built up operating assets by basically leveraging the stable customer base, thus maintaining ordinary income before credit costs at the current level. Meanwhile, it changed its sales policy from volume-based sales to one that places more emphasis on profitability in the fiscal year ended March 2022 (FY2021). Yields on new contract rose sharply in FY2022 thanks in part to the strengthening of proposal activities rooted in local needs, including the use of various subsidy systems and promotion of energy-saving-related investments. JCR assumes that these efforts will help absorb the impact of growth in financing costs due to rising market interest rates and business performance will continue to be strong for a while longer.
- (3) Credit management is performed integrally with OKB. Majority of the Company’s credit customers are OKB’s customers, and common credit customers are classified into same categories in principle. Moreover, credit customers’ exposure is aggregated and managed on a group-wide basis. As for the reserve method, the Company, like OKB, conservatively sets aside reserves for potentially bankrupt debtors exceeding a certain credit amount. In FY2022, credit costs grew to 1.0 billion yen from FY2021’s 0.1 billion yen, while ordinary income dropped to 70 million yen from 930 million yen, which however owes much to large credit customers. Given that the ratio of delinquent receivables to total credit is kept low and that conservative reserves are made, JCR views that credit costs will remain within the range absorbable by periodic profit and loss.
- (4) Equity ratio as of March 31, 2023 was 13.1%, which is high even in comparison to major leasing companies. Given that the Company is planning on replacement with operating assets with higher profitability and that its business performance has been strong, JCR assumes that the current level of capital can be maintained for the time being, too. Financing base is stable. The Company makes stable transactions with a number of financial institutions with OKB at the core. It is also working to diversify financing sources by considering the use of CP other than indirect means.

3

The Main Assumptions and Principles used in Constructing the Procedures and Methodologies used to Determine the Credit Rating as Required by Paragraph (a)(1)(ii)(C) of Rule 17g-7

- The credit rating methodology assumes, in principle, to be applied to assess the likelihood of a given debt payment in light of its issuer's condition and business environment, etc. in the relevant future. There is certain limitation, however, in the time horizon that the rating foresees.
- The credit rating methodology assumes, in principle, that the factors posted in the below are particularly important for such likelihood to be determined, and that the rating determination is made by evaluating each of them not only quantitatively but also employing qualitative analyses.

A) Business Bases

The likelihood of a given debt payment is highly conditional to its issuer's business bases - how they can be maintained/ expanded into the future and thereby secure earnings and cash flows in adequacy and in a sustainable way.

B) Financial Grounds and Asset Quality

The likelihood of debt payment is highly dependent on the degree of the issuer's indebtedness and loss absorption capacity in terms of equity capital. Also notable is that a financial institution might see a significant loss of financial grounds as a result of changes in value of the assets under its possession.

C) Liquidity Positions

The likelihood of debt payment is highly dependent on the adequacy of the issuer's cash and other sources of repayment (liquidity positions).

D) Related Parties' Status and Stance of Support/ Assistance for the Issuer

The likelihood of debt payment is affected one way or the other by the issuer's related parties such as parent company, subsidiary, guarantor, and the government of the issuer's business domicile, etc. - by their own conditions and/ or position of support/ assistance for the issuer.

E) Order of Seniority in Debt Payment

The likelihood of debt payment can be different between given debts of the same issuer. The likelihood of debt payment for an individual debt is dependent on the issuer's discretion, and/ or its rank relative to other debts of the same issuer in the order of seniority in principal/ interest payment which is determined by design as financial product or by laws, etc.

4 The Potential Limitations of the Credit Rating as Required by Paragraph (a)(1)(ii)(D) of Rule 17g-7

- The credit rating herewith presented by JCR is its summary opinion with regard to the likelihood of given debt payment and hence not necessarily a perfect representation of such likelihood. The credit rating is not intended to estimate the probability of default or the loss on given default, either.
- The objective of the credit rating herewith presented does not include any concerns other than the likelihood of debt payment, such as risks of price changes, market liquidity, etc.
- The credit rating herewith presented is necessary to be reviewed along with possible changes of the issuer of rated objects in its business performance and/ or circumstances which include regulatory environment, and hence subject to possible alteration.

5 Information on the Uncertainty of the Credit Rating as Required by Paragraph (a)(1)(ii)(E) of Rule 17g-7

Consequently, the credit rating determined on the grounds of such information does not constitute, explicitly or implicitly, any representation or warrant of JCR on the information itself or any consequences of its use in terms of accuracy, relevance, timeliness, wholeness, market value, or usefulness for any specific purposes.

Also, the changes in the quality of asset under the issuer's holding may affect the credit rating, since such changes could raise or lower the likelihood of future loss of the issuer's financial grounds. The resultant alteration of the credit rating is usually by a notch, with possibility of a few notches if and when the change in the financial grounds and/ or asset quality is large.

C) Liquidity Positions

The credit rating is subject to alteration if there is a change in the issuer's financial management policy or in the relations with fund procurement sources and the change thereby makes its liquidity positions improve or deteriorate. The resultant alteration of the credit rating is usually a notch, with possibility of a few notches if and when the change is large.

E) Order of Seniority in Debt Payment and Non-Payment Forgiven by Contract

The resultant alteration of the credit rating is usually a notch, with possibility of a few notches if and when the change is large. Also, in case of the financial products for which non-payment of interest/ principal is contractually permissible, the credit rating is subject to alteration if and when the likelihood of such non-payment is projected to increase or decrease. The credit rating is subject to alteration if there is a rise/ fall in the general economy and/ or the markets inducing the issuer's revenues/ expenses to increase/ decrease and vice versa, etc. The resultant alteration of the credit rating is usually by a notch, with possibility of a few notches if and when the change is exceptionally large.
