

Japan Credit Rating Agency, Ltd. (JCR) announces the following credit rating.

FUJI SOFT INCORPORATED (security code: 9749)

<Outlook Change>

Long-term Issuer Rating: A-
Outlook: from Stable to Positive

<Affirmation>

CP: J-1

Rationale

- (1) FUJI SOFT INCORPORATED (the “Company”) is a major independent information service provider. The core system integration business engages in, among others, development of software to be embedded in automobiles, machine tools, digital home appliances and others; contracted development of systems for corporations; system maintenance and operation; sales of its own products such as the “more NOTE” paperless system; and license sales of overseas vendors’ products. It has stable customer bases as demand comes from a wide range of sectors. There are few companies which have expertise both in IT and OT (operation technologies), and the Company intends to develop business domains combining these technologies. As for the facility business, which engages in leasing of office buildings, the Company plans to down-scale the business and is now considering real estate securitization.
- (2) The Company is on a growth path and the performance level is expected to rise. On the back of the trend toward DX, demand for IT investment is expanding in a wide range of industries. JCR foresees it will be able to maintain a growth trend of earnings through making investments in the human resources and others on the strength of good customer foundation. In addition, a rise in operating profit margin can also be expected because the Company is working on the initiatives toward improving profitability. On the other hand, financial standing is sound. Based on the above, JCR has affirmed the rating on the Company while revising the outlook from Stable to Positive. Checking the capital allocation in relation to the real estate securitization and the impact on the financials in addition to progress in profit growth, JCR will consider upgrading of the Company’s ratings.
- (3) For the fiscal year ending December 2023 (FY2023), the Company projects net sales and operating income to improve 7.6% and 9.5% over the year to 300 billion yen and 20 billion yen, respectively. Performance of the system construction business is strong primarily for the automotive-related and machine manufacturing and financial service sectors, and it will likely drive the overall performance. No major changes are expected in the business environment for the foreseeable future. The cycle of recruitment and provision of training are working well, and the Company will likely secure more employees through this to cope with the growing demand. Furthermore, it can also expect outcome through increasing added-value by strengthening cross-business synergies and expansion of full outsourcing contract deals, among others. JCR will pay attention to whether the Company can accelerate the profit growth by increasing operating income per person.
- (4) As at the end of the second quarter of FY2023, financial base is sound, as indicated by the equity capital of 139.2 billion yen and the equity ratio of 57.4%. Meanwhile, it is assumed funds required for capital investments will be covered by funds on hand and cash flows from operating activities. Currently, the Company is working on securitization of real estate it holds to improve capital efficiency. Since the scale will likely be tens of billions of yen, the ways to utilize the cash should be watched. JCR believes there will be no major changes in the disciplined financial management; however, will check the future policy.

The Main Assumptions and Principles used in Constructing the Procedures and Methodologies used to Determine the Credit Rating as Required by Paragraph (a)(1)(ii)(C) of Rule 17g-7

- The credit rating methodology assumes, in principle, to be applied to assess the likelihood of a given debt payment in light of its issuer's condition and business environment, etc. in the relevant future. There is certain limitation, however, in the time horizon that the rating foresees.
- The credit rating methodology assumes, in principle, that the factors posted in the below are particularly important for such likelihood to be determined, and that the rating determination is made by evaluating each of them not only quantitatively but also employing qualitative analyses.

A) Business Bases

The likelihood of a given debt payment is highly conditional to its issuer's business bases - how they can be maintained/ expanded into the future and thereby secure earnings and cash flows in adequacy and in a sustainable way.

B) Financial Grounds and Asset Quality

The likelihood of debt payment is highly dependent on the degree of the issuer's indebtedness and loss absorption capacity in terms of equity capital. Also notable is that a financial institution might see a significant loss of financial grounds as a result of changes in value of the assets under its possession.

C) Liquidity Positions

The likelihood of debt payment is highly dependent on the adequacy of the issuer's cash and other sources of repayment (liquidity positions).

D) Related Parties' Status and Stance of Support/ Assistance for the Issuer

The likelihood of debt payment is affected one way or the other by the issuer's related parties such as parent company, subsidiary, guarantor, and the government of the issuer's business domicile, etc. - by their own conditions and/ or position of support/ assistance for the issuer.

E) Order of Seniority in Debt Payment

The likelihood of debt payment can be different between given debts of the same issuer. The likelihood of debt payment for an individual debt is dependent on the issuer's discretion, and/ or its rank relative to other debts of the same issuer in the order of seniority in principal/ interest payment which is determined by design as financial product or by laws, etc.
