

Japan Credit Rating Agency, Ltd. (JCR) announces the following credit rating.

KAGA ELECTRONICS CO., LTD. (security code: 8154)

<Affirmation>

Long-term Issuer Rating: A
Outlook: Stable
Bonds: A

Rationale

- (1) KAGA ELECTRONICS CO., LTD. (the "Company") is an independent electronics trading company handling electronic components, semiconductors, as well as information equipment such as PCs and peripherals, and home electric appliances. Engaging also in the electronics manufacturing services (EMS) business, the Company is characterized by functioning both as a trading firm and a manufacturer. The Electronic Components business, which offers components sales and EMS serves, is its core business that generates over 80% of the total net sales. Customers are well diversified into a wide-ranging industries such as automotive, information equipment, amusement equipment, etc. The Company is expanding its operations, as shown by acquisition of Fujitsu Electronics Inc. (present KAGA FEI Co., Ltd., "KAGA FEI") that designs, develops and sells electronic devices in January 2019, and EXCEL CO., LTD. that sells and imports/exports electronic components and equipment in April 2020.
- (2) Presently performance of the Electronic Components business, the Company's core business, is slowing down partly because of deteriorated market conditions. Having said that, it will unlikely largely deteriorate as the industries customers belong to are dispersed, demand for semiconductors, electronic components and EMS is on the trend toward expansion over the medium term due to the electrification / electric motorization of automobiles, 5G popularization, new demand creation through IoT, and other factors. Financial standing is good as indicated by the Company's virtually debt-free status and others. Based on the above, JCR has affirmed the rating on the Company with Stable outlook.
- (3) For the fiscal year ending March 2024 (FY2023), the Company forecasts an operating income of 25 billion yen (down 22.5% from the previous fiscal year). Profits are expected to decrease because of elimination of spot sales, which are not based on the trade rights, in the previous fiscal year, customers' moves of inventory adjustments and others. However, operating income will still likely remain at a level higher than before FY2021 levels through capturing steady demand for products to equip automotive and others. For FY2024 onward, JCR assumes that performance will turn upward when the semiconductor market recovers. Going forward, JCR will watch whether the Company can raise the earnings capacity through strengthening EMS and overseas businesses, and others.
- (4) The equity ratio and DER at the end of the second quarter of FY2023 respectively improved to 49.4% from 42.9% a year earlier and to 0.30x from 0.42x a year earlier. Equity capital also increased from the past. Although attention still needs to be paid to the Company's active stance toward M&As, JCR believes favorable financial structure will likely be maintained going forward given the cash flow generation capacity and others.

3 The Main Assumptions and Principles used in Constructing the Procedures and Methodologies used to Determine the Credit Rating as Required by Paragraph (a)(1)(ii)(C) of Rule 17g-7

- The credit rating methodology assumes, in principle, to be applied to assess the likelihood of a given debt payment in light of its issuer's condition and business environment, etc. in the relevant future. There is certain limitation, however, in the time horizon that the rating foresees.
- The credit rating methodology assumes, in principle, that the factors posted in the below are particularly important for such likelihood to be determined, and that the rating determination is made by evaluating each of them not only quantitatively but also employing qualitative analyses.

A) Business Bases

The likelihood of a given debt payment is highly conditional to its issuer's business bases - how they can be maintained/ expanded into the future and thereby secure earnings and cash flows in adequacy and in a sustainable way.

B) Financial Grounds and Asset Quality

The likelihood of debt payment is highly dependent on the degree of the issuer's indebtedness and loss absorption capacity in terms of equity capital. Also notable is that a financial institution might see a significant loss of financial grounds as a result of changes in value of the assets under its possession.

C) Liquidity Positions

The likelihood of debt payment is highly dependent on the adequacy of the issuer's cash and other sources of repayment (liquidity positions).

D) Related Parties' Status and Stance of Support/ Assistance for the Issuer

The likelihood of debt payment is affected one way or the other by the issuer's related parties such as parent company, subsidiary, guarantor, and the government of the issuer's business domicile, etc. - by their own conditions and/ or position of support/ assistance for the issuer.

E) Order of Seniority in Debt Payment

The likelihood of debt payment can be different between given debts of the same issuer. The likelihood of debt payment for an individual debt is dependent on the issuer's discretion, and/ or its rank relative to other debts of the same issuer in the order of seniority in principal/ interest payment which is determined by design as financial product or by laws, etc.

4 The Potential Limitations of the Credit Rating as Required by Paragraph (a)(1)(ii)(D) of Rule 17g-7

B) Financial Grounds and Asset Quality

The credit rating is subject to alteration if the issuer increases/ decreases its debt/ capital or vice versa and thereby makes its individual debt payment liability less or more bearable and its loss absorption capacity into the future decreased or increased. Also, the changes in the quality of asset under the issuer's holding may affect the credit rating, since such changes could raise or lower the likelihood of future loss of the issuer's financial grounds. The resultant alteration of the credit rating is usually by a notch, with possibility of a few notches if and when the change in the financial grounds and/ or asset quality is large.

C) Liquidity Positions

The credit rating is subject to alteration if there is a change in the issuer's financial management policy or in the relations with fund procurement sources and the change thereby makes its liquidity positions improve or deteriorate. The resultant alteration of the credit rating is usually by a notch, with possibility of a few notches if and when the change is large.

D) Related Parties' Status and Stance of Support/ Assistance for the Issuer

The resultant alteration of the credit rating is usually a notch, with possibility of a few notches if and when the change is large.

E) Order of Seniority in Debt Payment and Non-Payment Forgiven by Contract

The credit rating is subject to alteration if there is a change in the rated debt's status in the order of seniority relative to other debts caused by the improvement/ deterioration of the issuer's financial condition. Also, in case of the financial products for which non-payment of interest/ principal is contractually permissible, the credit rating is subject to alteration if and when the likelihood of such non-payment is projected to increase or decrease.
