

Japan Credit Rating Agency, Ltd. (JCR) announces the following credit rating.

KONICA MINOLTA, INC. (security code: 4902)

<Affirmation>

Long-term Issuer Rating: A
Outlook: Stable
Bonds: A
Subordinated Loan: BBB+

Rationale

- (1) KONICA MINOLTA, INC. (the “Company”) is a major multifunctional equipment manufacturer. It mainly operates the Digital Workplace Business centered on multifunctional printers for offices and Professional Print Business centered on production print. Other than these, it also operates the Industry Business consisting of functional films, measuring instruments, etc. and Healthcare Business. In the Healthcare Business, it had previously been working to strengthen the precision medicine business for genetic testing, pharmaceutical development support services and so forth as a strategic new business, which however was redefined as a non-priority business under the medium-term business plan announced in May 2023. After this, the Company decided to transfer the entire shares of Invicro, LLC, a subsidiary which supports drug discovery in the U.S. and the transfer was executed in April 2024.
- (2) Full recovery in business performance will likely take time. For the fiscal year ended March 2024 (FY2023), operating profit (IFRS) was in the black for the first time in four fiscal years, but it is projected to decrease for FY2024 in relation to recording of expenses for structural reforms. That said, JCR believes that the performance will likely pick up due partly to outcome of the structural reforms and others for FY2025. On the financial front, the Company has sufficient equity attributable to owners of the parent (equity capital) and financial structure also improved at the end of FY2023. Based on the above, JCR has affirmed the ratings on the Company with Stable outlook. On the other hand, demand for multifunctional printers for offices, the Company’s mainstay, is expected to decrease over the medium- to long-term along with progress in paperless society. The Company continues to face the challenge of improving the earning capacity through strengthening businesses in the growth field such as Professional Print and Industry.
- (3) The Company posted an operating profit of 26.0 billion yen for FY2023, as opposed to FY2022’s 95.1 billion yen in the red. The main factors for the improvement are elimination of a large amount of impairment loss recorded in the previous fiscal year, holding down of logistics cost and reduction in production cost. It projects an operating profit of 13.0 billion yen for FY2024. It plans to decrease the profit because of a projection of 20.0 billion yen related to the structural reforms. On the other hand, JCR assumes the Company’s profit will grow for FY2025 due to outcome of structural reforms, etc.
- (4) As at the end of FY2023, both the ratio of equity attributable to owners of the parent, which reflects the equity content of subordinated loans, and net D/E ratio improved to 42.5% and 0.59x from 38.0% and 0.63x a year before. Other capital components expanded due to the weaker yen and resulted an increase in capital, total assets decreased through reducing inventories and other factors. Looking ahead, the Company intends to work on reducing inventories and interest-bearing debt toward the end of FY2025. JCR will watch the future financial trend.

1 The Symbol, Number, or Score in the Rating Scale used to Denote Credit Rating Categories and Notches and, the Identity of the Obligor or the Identity and a Description of the Security or Money Market Instrument as Required by Paragraph (a)(1)(ii)(A) of Rule 17g-7

2 The version of the procedure or methodology used to determine the credit rating; as Required by Paragraph (a)(1)(ii)(B) of Rule 17g-7

- Please see the news release. If the credit rating is a private rating, please see the report for private rating.

3 The Main Assumptions and Principles used in Constructing the Procedures and Methodologies used to Determine the Credit Rating as Required by Paragraph (a)(1)(ii)(C) of Rule 17g-7

- The credit rating methodology assumes, in principle, to be applied to assess the likelihood of a given debt payment in light of its issuer's condition and business environment, etc. in the relevant future. There is certain limitation, however, in the time horizon that the rating foresees.
- The credit rating methodology assumes, in principle, that the factors posted in the below are particularly important for such likelihood to be determined, and that the rating determination is made by evaluating each of them not only quantitatively but also employing qualitative analyses.

A) Business Bases

The likelihood of a given debt payment is highly conditional to its issuer's business bases - how they can be maintained/ expanded into the future and thereby secure earnings and cash flows in adequacy and in a sustainable way.

B) Financial Grounds and Asset Quality

The likelihood of debt payment is highly dependent on the degree of the issuer's indebtedness and loss absorption capacity in terms of equity capital. Also notable is that a financial institution might see a significant loss of financial grounds as a result of changes in value of the assets under its possession.

C) Liquidity Positions

The likelihood of debt payment is highly dependent on the adequacy of the issuer's cash and other sources of repayment (liquidity positions).

D) Related Parties' Status and Stance of Support/ Assistance for the Issuer

The likelihood of debt payment is affected one way or the other by the issuer's related parties such as parent company, subsidiary, guarantor, and the government of the issuer's business domicile, etc. - by their own conditions and/ or position of support/ assistance for the issuer.

E) Order of Seniority in Debt Payment

The likelihood of debt payment can be different between given debts of the same issuer. The likelihood of debt payment for an individual debt is dependent on the issuer's discretion, and/ or its rank relative to other debts of the same issuer in the order of seniority in principal/ interest payment which is determined by design as financial product or by laws, etc.

4 The Potential Limitations of the Credit Rating as Required by Paragraph (a)(1)(ii)(D) of Rule 17g-7

- The credit rating herewith presented by JCR is its summary opinion with regard to the likelihood of given debt payment and hence not necessarily a perfect representation of such likelihood. The credit rating is not intended to estimate the probability of default or the loss on given default, either.
- The objective of the credit rating herewith presented does not include any concerns other than the likelihood of debt payment, such as risks of price changes, market liquidity, etc.
- The credit rating herewith presented is necessary to be reviewed along with possible changes of the issuer of rated objects in its business performance and/ or circumstances which include regulatory environment, and hence subject to possible alteration.

The credit rating is subject to alteration if there is improvement or deterioration of the issuer's business bases, since its revenue, etc. may improve or deteriorate by the change in its business management policies, clients' preferences, competitive situation, or a technological innovation. The resultant alteration of the credit rating is usually by a notch, with possibility of a few notches if and when the change in the business bases is large.

B) Financial Grounds and Asset Quality

The credit rating is subject to alteration if the issuer increases/ decreases its debt/ capital or vice versa and thereby makes its individual debt payment liability less or more bearable and its loss absorption capacity into the future decreased or increased. Also, the changes in the quality of asset under the issuer's holding may affect the credit rating, since such changes could raise or lower the likelihood of future loss of the issuer's financial grounds. The resultant alteration of the credit rating is usually by a notch, with possibility of a few notches if and when the change in the financial grounds and/ or asset quality is large.

C) Liquidity Positions

The credit rating is subject to alteration if there is a change in the issuer's financial management policy or in the relations with fund procurement sources and the change thereby makes its liquidity positions improve or deteriorate. The resultant alteration of the credit rating is usually by a notch, with possibility of a few notches if and when the change is large.

D) Related Parties' Status and Stance of Support/ Assistance for the Issuer

The credit rating is subject to alteration if there is a change in the issuer's parent company or subsidiary, guarantor or other provider of credit enhancement, or the government of the issuer's business domicile, or other related parties' own conditions and/ or position of support/ assistance for the issuer, and the change thereby makes its business bases, financial grounds and/ or liquidity positions improve or deteriorate, and/ or making the effectiveness of guarantee and other credit enhancement improve or deteriorate. The resultant alteration of the credit rating is usually a notch, with possibility of a few notches if and when the change is large.

E) Order of Seniority in Debt Payment and Non-Payment Forgiven by Contract

The credit rating is subject to alteration if there is a change in the rated debt's status in the order of seniority relative to other debts caused by the improvement/ deterioration of the issuer's financial condition. The resultant alteration of the credit rating is usually a notch, with possibility of a few notches if and when the change is large. Also, in case of the financial products for which non-payment of interest/ principal is contractually permissible, the credit rating is subject to alteration if and when the likelihood of such non-payment is projected to increase or decrease. The resultant alteration of the credit rating could be by a notch but often as much as a few notches.

F) Rise and Fall in General Economy and Markets

The credit rating is subject to alteration if there is a rise/ fall in the general economy and/ or the markets inducing the issuer's revenues/ expenses to increase/ decrease and vice versa, etc. The resultant alteration of the credit rating is usually by a notch, with possibility of a few notches if and when the change is exceptionally large.

G) Various Events

The credit rating is subject to alteration on occurrence of various events, such as change in the issuer's major shareholders, M&A and other organizational change, accident, violation of the law, litigation, legal/ regulatory change, natural disaster, etc., which are unforeseeable at the time when the credit rating is determined, causing a significant change on the issuer's business bases, financial grounds, etc. The resultant alteration of the credit rating could be by a notch but more often than not as much as a few notches.
