

Japan Credit Rating Agency, Ltd. (JCR) announces the following credit rating.

Advance Residence Investment Corporation (security code: 3269)

<Affirmation>

Long-term Issuer Rating: AA
Outlook: Stable
Bonds: AA

Rationale

- (1) Advance Residence Investment Corporation (“ADR”) is a residential J-REIT sponsored by ITOCHU Group. Its asset manager (“AM”) is ITOCHU REIT Management Co., Ltd. ADR’s portfolio currently consists of 283 properties with 22,392 leasable units, and its total acquisition price is 481.9 billion yen, the largest among residential J-REITs. By area, properties in Tokyo 23 Wards account for about 70% (based on acquisition price); and by type, single and compact types in total account for about 60% (based on leasable area).
- (2) Despite the difficult property acquisition environment, ADR, since the period ended July 2023, has acquired 11 properties including RESIDIA Shirokane-Takanawa II, through property replacement (acquired one property, sold two properties) and a public offering for the first time in about four years. Regarding the leasing business operations, track records such as an occupancy rate of 96.9% at the end of December 2023, and acquisition price-based NOI yields in the mid-5% range (5.7% in the period ended July 2023), can be confirmed. Considering these achievements and the fact that it maintains a highly diversified portfolio of properties and tenants, JCR believes that stable leasing operations are assumed to continue going forward. In addition, sound financial management continues in light of a stable trend in total asset LTV. Based on the above, JCR has affirmed the ratings on ADR with Stable outlook.
- (3) For external growth, ADR has continued with the policy of firmly maintaining the perspective at the time of acquisition. While the competition in the property acquisition environment remains severe, JCR will continue to pay attention to whether external growth will progress centered on the sponsor pipeline in line with the perspective at acquisition (such as securing an NOI yield after depreciation of around 4%). Regarding internal growth, large-scale repair work and value-enhancing work have been carried out to maintain and strengthen properties’ competitiveness by utilizing the expertise of AM’s engineering department. Under these circumstances, in March 2023, ADR announced “new initiatives to enhance its earnings base, etc.,” promoting the expansion of renovation work on exclusively-owned areas taking into account the average building age of the entire portfolio, and reviewing the depreciation method of properties, which means a shift to a more aggressive implementation policy. JCR will pay attention to whether these initiatives will contribute to further enhancement of the portfolio cash flow and will reflect this in the ratings.
- (4) The total asset-based LTV and appraisal LTV stand respectively at 49.5% and 33.4% at end-July 2023, controlled within AM’s scope of assumption. The portfolio’s unrealized gain as of the same date amounts to 260 billion yen (unrealized gain ratio: 59.2%), serving as a financial buffer. The financial base is stable, as shown by the maintained lender composition mainly consisting of megabanks, lengthened average remaining years of debts, staggered maturities, access to direct financing through the issuance of investment corporation bonds including green bonds, and the establishment of a commitment line of 20 billion yen. In addition, ADR secures a certain level of flexibility in asset management, through reserves for temporary difference adjustments (balance after dividend payments for the period ended July 2023: 28.4 billion yen), which were transferred from gains on negative goodwill generated upon its merger, and there is no concern on financing.

- Please see the news release. If the credit rating is a private rating, please see the report for private rating.

3 The Main Assumptions and Principles used in Constructing the Procedures and Methodologies used to Determine the Credit Rating as Required by Paragraph (a)(1)(ii)(C) of Rule 17g-7

- The credit rating methodology assumes, in principle, to be applied to assess the likelihood of a given debt payment in light of its issuer's condition and market environment, etc. in the relevant future. There is certain limitation, however, in the time horizon that the rating foresees
- The credit rating methodology assumes, in principle, that the factors posted in the below are particularly important for such likelihood to be determined, and that the rating determination is made by evaluating each of them not only quantitatively but also employing qualitative analyses.

A) Portfolios

The likelihood of a given debt payment is highly conditional to its issuer's portfolios - how they can be maintained/ enhanced into the future and thereby secure earnings and cash flows in adequacy and in a sustainable way.

B) Financial Grounds and Asset Quality

The likelihood of debt payment is highly dependent on the degree of the issuer's indebtedness and loss absorption capacity in terms of equity capital. Also notable is that a J-REIT might see a significant loss of financial grounds as a result of changes in value of the assets under its possession.

C) Liquidity Positions

The likelihood of debt payment is highly dependent on the adequacy of the issuer's cash and other sources of repayment (liquidity positions) including certainty of refinancing.

D) Related Parties' Status and Stance of Support/ Assistance for the Issuer

The likelihood of debt payment is affected one way or the other by the issuer's related parties such as sponsor, asset manager, guarantor, and the government of the issuer's business domicile, etc. - by their own conditions and/ or position of support/ assistance for the issuer.

E) Order of Seniority in Debt Payment

The likelihood of debt payment can be different between given debts of the same issuer. The likelihood of debt payment for an individual debt is dependent on the issuer's discretion, and/ or its rank relative to other debts of the same issuer in the order of seniority in principal/ interest payment which is determined by design as financial product or by laws, etc.

4 The Potential Limitations of the Credit Rating as Required by Paragraph (a)(1)(ii)(D) of Rule 17g-7

- The credit rating herewith presented by JCR is its summary opinion with regard to the likelihood of given debt payment and hence not necessarily a perfect representation of such likelihood. The credit rating is not intended to estimate the probability of default or the loss on given default, either.
- The objective of the credit rating herewith presented does not include any concerns other than the likelihood of debt payment, such as risks of price changes, market liquidity, etc.
- The credit rating herewith presented is necessary to be reviewed along with possible changes of the issuer of rated objects in its business performance and/ or circumstances which include regulatory environment, and hence subject to possible alteration.

11 Explanation or Measure of the Potential Volatility of the Credit Rating as Required by Paragraph (a)(1)(ii)(K) of Rule 17g-7

A) Portfolios

The credit rating is subject to alteration if there is improvement or deterioration of quality, competitive strength and diversification in the issuer's portfolios, since its revenue, etc. may improve or deteriorate by the change in its investment strategies, tenants' preferences, competitive situation, or a technological innovation. The resultant alteration of the credit rating is usually by a notch, with possibility of a few notches if and when the change in the portfolios is large.

B) Financial Grounds and Asset Quality

The credit rating is subject to alteration if the issuer increases/ decreases its debt/ capital or vice versa and thereby makes its individual debt payment liability less or more bearable and its loss absorption capacity into the future decreased or increased. Also, the changes in the quality of asset under the issuer's holding may affect the credit rating, since such changes could raise or lower the likelihood of future loss of the issuer's financial grounds. The resultant alteration of the credit rating is usually by a notch, with possibility of a few notches if and when the change in the financial grounds and/ or asset quality is large.

C) Liquidity Positions

The credit rating is subject to alteration if there is a change in the issuer's financial management policy or in the relations with fund procurement sources and the change thereby makes its liquidity positions improve or deteriorate. The resultant alteration of the credit rating is usually by a notch, with possibility of a few notches if and when the change is large.

D) Related Parties' Status and Stance of Support/ Assistance for the Issuer

The credit rating is subject to alteration if there is a change in the issuer's sponsor or asset manager, guarantor or other provider of credit enhancement, or the government of the issuer's business domicile, or other related parties' own conditions and/ or position of support/ assistance for the issuer, and the change thereby makes its portfolios, financial grounds and/ or liquidity positions improve or deteriorate, and/ or making the effectiveness of guarantee and other credit enhancement improve or deteriorate. The resultant alteration of the credit rating is usually a notch, with possibility of a few notches if and when the change is large.

E) Order of Seniority in Debt Payment and Non-Payment Forgiven by Contract

The credit rating is subject to alteration if there is a change in the rated debt's status in the order of seniority relative to other debts caused by the improvement/ deterioration of the issuer's financial condition. The resultant alteration of the credit rating is usually a notch, with possibility of a few notches if and when the change is large. Also, in case of the financial products for which non-payment of interest/ principal is contractually permissible, the credit rating is subject to alteration if and when the likelihood of such non-payment is projected to increase or decrease. The resultant alteration of the credit rating could be by a notch but often as much as a few notches.

F) Rise and Fall in General Economy and Markets

The credit rating is subject to alteration if there is a rise/ fall in the general economy and/ or the markets, of e.g. real estate or interest rates, inducing the issuer's revenues/ expenses to increase/ decrease and vice versa, etc. The resultant alteration of the credit rating is usually by a notch, with possibility of a few notches if and when the change is exceptionally large.

G) Various Events

The credit rating is subject to alteration on occurrence of various events, such as change in the issuer's sponsor or asset manager, M&A and other organizational change, accident, violation of the law, litigation, legal/ regulatory change, natural disaster, etc., which are unforeseeable at the time when the credit rating is determined, causing a significant change on the issuer's business bases, financial grounds, etc. The resultant alteration of the credit rating could be by a notch but more often than not as much as a few notches.
