

Japan Credit Rating Agency, Ltd. (JCR) announces the following credit rating.

NISSAN FINANCIAL SERVICES CO., LTD. (security code: -)

<Outlook Change>

Long-term Issuer Rating: A
Outlook: from Negative to Stable

Rationale

- (1) NISSAN FINANCIAL SERVICES CO., LTD. (the "Company") is a domestic sales finance company of NISSAN MOTOR CO., LTD. ("NISSAN"). It engages in the credit business, leasing business and car-life business. NISSAN owns 100% of voting rights in the Company and sends directors to and has strong unity in terms of decision makings and business management with the latter. The Company is strategically important for the NISSAN Group as shown that it assumes sales support for NISSAN. In addition, NISSAN concludes a keep-well agreement, which ensures maintenance of capital and supplementing liquidity, with the Company, indicating NISSAN's willingness to support the latter. In light of the above, JCR assigns the same rating as NISSAN Group's creditworthiness, which is "A" equivalent, to the Company's long-term issuer rating. As for the outlook, JCR has revised it from Negative to Stable in line with that of Nissan's.
- (2) On the back of NISSAN's new car sales capacity, the credit business has certain market position and competitiveness. The Company's earnings sources such as leasing business mainly for corporate customers and the car-life business, which handles credit cards, insurance and maintenance services, are also decent. Although the Company is taking time to turn around the balance of operating assets due to sluggish sales of domestic NISSAN new car sales affected by recent supply shortage of semiconductors and others, it still maintains good earnings capacity. Earnings are highly stable and bad debt-related expenses are also kept low. The Company's margin to absorb a certain amount of bad debt-related and financial expenses by fundamental profits before write-offs and provisions, and ordinary income-based ROA are high.
- (3) Asset quality is highly sound. The operating assets are primarily auto finance assets diversified into small amounts. Its credit management policy is prudent and credit risk exposure is small. There are no concerns over the residual value risk as used cars are being disposed consistently. Bad debt-related expenses relative to operating assets are low. Capital adequacy is sufficient. Despite slow capital accumulation due to a large amount of dividends, JCR's adjusted equity ratio remains at a high level. Margin of capital relative to risk exposure has been sufficiently ensured. JCR finds no particular concerns about liquidity. As for indirect financing, the Company has been maintaining stable relationships with financial institutions in addition to the inter-group financing of the NISSAN Group. As for direct financing, it uses various methods such as corporate bonds and securitization of receivables.

The Main Assumptions and Principles used in Constructing the Procedures and Methodologies used to Determine the Credit Rating as Required by Paragraph (a)(1)(ii)(C) of Rule 17g-7

- The credit rating methodology assumes, in principle, to be applied to assess the likelihood of a given debt payment in light of its issuer's condition and business environment, etc. in the relevant future. There is certain limitation, however, in the time horizon that the rating foresees.
- The credit rating methodology assumes, in principle, that the factors posted in the below are particularly important for such likelihood to be determined, and that the rating determination is made by evaluating each of them not only quantitatively but also employing qualitative analyses.

A) Business Bases

The likelihood of a given debt payment is highly conditional to its issuer's business bases - how they can be maintained/ expanded into the future and thereby secure earnings and cash flows in adequacy and in a sustainable way.

B) Financial Grounds and Asset Quality

The likelihood of debt payment is highly dependent on the degree of the issuer's indebtedness and loss absorption capacity in terms of equity capital. Also notable is that a financial institution might see a significant loss of financial grounds as a result of changes in value of the assets under its possession.

C) Liquidity Positions

The likelihood of debt payment is highly dependent on the adequacy of the issuer's cash and other sources of repayment (liquidity positions).

D) Related Parties' Status and Stance of Support/ Assistance for the Issuer

The likelihood of debt payment is affected one way or the other by the issuer's related parties such as parent company, subsidiary, guarantor, and the government of the issuer's business domicile, etc. - by their own conditions and/ or position of support/ assistance for the issuer.

E) Order of Seniority in Debt Payment

The likelihood of debt payment can be different between given debts of the same issuer. The likelihood of debt payment for an individual debt is dependent on the issuer's discretion, and/ or its rank relative to other debts of the same issuer in the order of seniority in principal/ interest payment which is determined by design as financial product or by laws, etc.

4 The Potential Limitations of the Credit Rating as Required by Paragraph (a)(1)(ii)(D) of Rule 17g-7
