Japan Credit Rating Agency, Ltd. (JCR) announces the following credit rating.

Kasumigaseki Hotel REIT Investment Corporation (security code: 401A)

<Affirmation>
Long-term Issuer Rating: A-
Outlook: Stable

Rationale

(1) Listed in August 2025, Kasumigaseki Hotel REIT Investment Corporation (the "Corporation") is Japan's first developer-sponsored J-REIT focused exclusively on hotels. Its assets are managed by Kasumigaseki Reit Advisors Co., Ltd., which is sponsored by developer Kasumigaseki Capital Co., Ltd. Hotels are operated by fav hospitality group Co., Ltd. under the sponsor group. The main characteristics of the target hotels are "multi-occupancy accommodation," "labor-saving operations," and expansion into some of Japan's major regional tourist destinations, addressing the demand for multi-occupancy accommodation and the labor shortage, which are issues in the domestic hotel market. The Corporation aims to achieve sustainable growth and enhance unitholder value by leveraging the development and operational capabilities of the sponsor group to attract tourists, including inbound travelers, to regional cities and contribute to the development of Japan as a tourism nation.

(2) The current portfolio consists of 15 properties, with a total acquisition price of 49.2 billion yen. The investment ratio by hotel brand is as follows: "fav" 33.1% (10 properties), "FAV LUX" 18.2% (3 properties), and "seven x seven" 48.6% (2 properties). The rent structure includes GOP-based variable rent with a minimum guaranteed rent, and for some properties that have recently opened, a fixed rent period is set, creating a scheme that ensures cash flow stability while allowing for rent upside. The hotel market is primarily supported by inbound tourism demand, and accommodation demand remains resilient. The Corporation's leasing operations are also performing well, with a favorable track record in hotel KPIs. The sponsor pipeline has expanded to a scale of 350 billion yen, with 7 properties already open. Although no properties have been acquired in the past year, the Corporation is steadily building a pipeline to achieve an asset size of 300 billion yen. Based on the above, JCR has affirmed the rating on the Corporation with Stable outlook.

(3) For the fiscal period ended July 2026, operating revenue and net income increased by 3.6% and 11.3% from the previous period, respectively, and DPU also exceeded the initial forecast at the time of listing. RevPAR at hotels subject to variable rent rose 14.4% year on year during the most recent one-year period (August 2025 to July 2026) and is expected to continue increasing over the next year. Not only is accommodation demand steady, but initiatives such as large-scale advertising by the sponsor and the enhancement of unitholder benefits are also producing positive results. While there are many multi-occupying hotels in and around Tokyo, more than half of both its portfolio and pipeline assets are located in regional tourist areas, and current competition seems to be limited. CAPEX remains limited due to the relatively young average building age of approximately 3.0 years. On the other hand, the occupancy rate for the past year has been around 75%, indicating that it is in a growth phase, and JCR monitors the trends in hotel KPIs, including future occupancy rates. In addition, it is necessary to continue paying attention to the volatility of cash flows in the hotel-specialized portfolio.

(4) Regarding its financial profile, the Corporation maintains a lender formation centered on Mizuho Bank, Ltd., and has added two new banks through refinancing. The total asset LTV at the end of July 2026 was 44.1%, maintained within the normal target range of 40%–50%. The average remaining debt term is 2.5 years, and the fixed interest rate debt ratio is 70.7%. While no major refinancing is expected for the time being, JCR will monitor the borrowing terms for new financing in the current rising interest rate environment, the LTV level, and the progress on the diversification of repayment maturities.

3 The Main Assumptions and Principles used in Constructing the Procedures and Methodologies used to Determine the Credit Rating as Required by Paragraph (a)(1)(ii)(C) of Rule 17g-7

- The credit rating methodology assumes, in principle, to be applied to assess the likelihood of a given debt payment in light of its issuer's condition and market environment, etc. in the relevant future. There is certain limitation, however, in the time horizon that the rating foresees
- The credit rating methodology assumes, in principle, that the factors posted in the below are particularly important for such likelihood to be determined, and that the rating determination is made by evaluating each of them not only quantitatively but also employing qualitative analyses.

A) Portfolios

The likelihood of a given debt payment is highly conditional to its issuer's portfolios - how they can be maintained/ enhanced into the future and thereby secure earnings and cash flows in adequacy and in a sustainable way.

B) Financial Grounds and Asset Quality

The likelihood of debt payment is highly dependent on the degree of the issuer's indebtedness and loss absorption capacity in terms of equity capital. Also notable is that a J-REIT might see a significant loss of financial grounds as a result of changes in value of the assets under its possession.

C) Liquidity Positions

The likelihood of debt payment is highly dependent on the adequacy of the issuer's cash and other sources of repayment (liquidity positions) including certainty of refinancing.

D) Related Parties' Status and Stance of Support/ Assistance for the Issuer

The likelihood of debt payment is affected one way or the other by the issuer's related parties such as sponsor, asset manager, guarantor, and the government of the issuer's business domicile, etc. - by their own conditions and/ or position of support/ assistance for the issuer.

E) Order of Seniority in Debt Payment

The likelihood of debt payment can be different between given debts of the same issuer. The likelihood of debt payment for an individual debt is dependent on the issuer's discretion, and/ or its rank relative to other debts of the same issuer in the order of seniority in principal/ interest payment which is determined by design as financial product or by laws, etc.

4 The Potential Limitations of the Credit Rating as Required by Paragraph (a)(1)(ii)(D) of Rule 17g-7

- The credit rating herewith presented by JCR is its summary opinion with regard to the likelihood of given debt payment and hence not necessarily a perfect representation of such likelihood. The credit rating is not intended to estimate the probability of default or the loss on given default, either.
- The objective of the credit rating herewith presented does not include any concerns other than the likelihood of debt payment, such as risks of price changes, market liquidity, etc.
- The credit rating herewith presented is necessary to be reviewed along with possible changes of the issuer of rated objects in its business performance and/ or circumstances which include regulatory environment, and hence subject to possible alteration.

11 Explanation or Measure of the Potential Volatility of the Credit Rating as Required by Paragraph (a)(1)(ii)(K) of Rule 17g-7

A) Portfolios

The credit rating is subject to alteration if there is improvement or deterioration of quality, competitive strength and diversification in the issuer's portfolios, since its revenue, etc. may improve or deteriorate by the change in its investment strategies, tenants' preferences, competitive situation, or a technological innovation. The resultant alteration of the credit rating is usually by a notch, with possibility of a few notches if and when the change in the portfolios is large.

B) Financial Grounds and Asset Quality

The credit rating is subject to alteration if the issuer increases/ decreases its debt/ capital or vice versa and thereby makes its individual debt payment liability less or more bearable and its loss absorption capacity into the future decreased or increased. Also, the changes in the quality of asset under the issuer's holding may affect the credit rating, since such changes could raise or lower the likelihood of future loss of the issuer's financial grounds. The resultant alteration of the credit rating is usually by a notch, with possibility of a few notches if and when the change in the financial grounds and/ or asset quality is large.

C) Liquidity Positions

The credit rating is subject to alteration if there is a change in the issuer's financial management policy or in the relations with fund procurement sources and the change thereby makes its liquidity positions improve or deteriorate. The resultant alteration of the credit rating is usually by a notch, with possibility of a few notches if and when the change is large.

D) Related Parties' Status and Stance of Support/ Assistance for the Issuer

The credit rating is subject to alteration if there is a change in the issuer's sponsor or asset manager, guarantor or other provider of credit enhancement, or the government of the issuer's business domicile, or other related parties' own conditions and/ or position of support/ assistance for the issuer, and the change thereby makes its portfolios, financial grounds and/ or liquidity positions improve or deteriorate, and/ or making the effectiveness of guarantee and other credit enhancement improve or deteriorate. The resultant alteration of the credit rating is usually a notch, with possibility of a few notches if and when the change is large.

E) Order of Seniority in Debt Payment and Non-Payment Forgiven by Contract

The credit rating is subject to alteration if there is a change in the rated debt's status in the order of seniority relative to other debts caused by the improvement/ deterioration of the issuer's financial condition. The resultant alteration of the credit rating is usually a notch, with possibility of a few notches if and when the change is large. Also, in case of the financial products for which non-payment of interest/ principal is contractually permissible, the credit rating is subject to alteration if and when the likelihood of such non-payment is projected to increase or decrease. The resultant alteration of the credit rating could be by a notch but often as much as a few notches.

F) Rise and Fall in General Economy and Markets

The credit rating is subject to alteration if there is a rise/ fall in the general economy and/ or the markets, of e.g. real estate or interest rates, inducing the issuer's revenues/ expenses to increase/ decrease and vice versa, etc. The resultant alteration of the credit rating is usually by a notch, with possibility of a few notches if and when the change is exceptionally large.

G) Various Events

The credit rating is subject to alteration on occurrence of various events, such as change in the issuer's sponsor or asset manager, M&A and other organizational change, accident, violation of the law, litigation, legal/ regulatory change, natural disaster, etc., which are unforeseeable at the time when the credit rating is determined, causing a significant change on the issuer's business bases, financial grounds, etc. The resultant alteration of the credit rating could be by a notch but more often than not as much as a few notches.
