

Japan Credit Rating Agency, Ltd. (JCR) announces the following credit rating.

Toyo Logistics Co., Ltd. (security code: 9306)

<Affirmation>

Long-term Issuer Rating: BBB
Outlook: Stable

Rationale

- (1) Toyo Logistics Co., Ltd. (the "Company") is a comprehensive logistics company operating mainly in the Chubu and Kanto regions. It engages in the physical distribution business for warehousing, land transportation, harbor transportation and other services, as well as the real estate leasing business by utilizing vacant warehouse sites, and has long-term close business relations with leading multinational corporations and blue-chip companies in the food, chemical and other industries. It enjoys high reputation for the quality of distribution by providing, for instance, comprehensive deployment services that span from controlling inventory for customers to proposing the revision of customers' production plans. The real estate business is continuously making profit contribution, mainly through Terrasse Nayabashi that was completed in June 2017.
- (2) The Company maintains a certain level of earnings capacity even in the midst of the COVID crisis. In the physical distribution business, it is striving to strengthen its business foundation through the constant development of new customers, enhancement of operations at distribution centers, etc. while cutting redeposit and other costs to improve profitability. Overall performance is also supported by the real estate business as a stable earnings source and will in JCR's view remain solid for a while. Financial indicators stay at good levels. Based on the above, JCR affirmed the rating on the Company with Stable outlook.
- (3) Operating income for the fiscal year ending March 2022 (FY2021) is expected to improve 18.3% over the year to 1.2 billion yen, returning close to the pre-COVID level. As contributing factors here, the resumption of economic activities will likely help turn around the volume of cargo handled for harbor transportation and other services, where business weakened in the previous year, while operations at distribution centers remain steady. Looking ahead, the Company will strive to strengthen its business foundation in Japan by establishing new warehouses and sales bases and promoting third-party logistics and to enhance global operations by, for instance, expanding overseas bases. JCR will closely watch whether earnings capacity will increase through these growth strategies.
- (4) Financial position remains sound, as shown by equity ratio standing at 50.2% as of September 30, 2021, as opposed to 49.3% at the end of FY2020. Free cash flow has been positive, and net interest-bearing debt has been on the decline, since FY2018 following the completion of Terrasse Nayabashi. JCR assumes that the favorable financial structure will be maintained even when a certain amount of investments are required for the construction of new warehouses and so forth.

3

The Main Assumptions and Principles used in Constructing the Procedures and Methodologies used to Determine the Credit Rating as Required by Paragraph (a)(1)(ii)(C) of Rule 17g-7

- The credit rating methodology assumes, in principle, to be applied to assess the likelihood of a given debt payment in light of its issuer's condition and business environment, etc. in the relevant future. There is certain limitation, however, in the time horizon that the rating foresees.
- The credit rating methodology assumes, in principle, that the factors posted in the below are particularly important for such likelihood to be determined, and that the rating determination is made by evaluating each of them not only quantitatively but also employing qualitative analyses.

A) Business Bases

The likelihood of a given debt payment is highly conditional to its issuer's business bases - how they can be maintained/ expanded into the future and thereby secure earnings and cash flows in adequacy and in a sustainable way.

B) Financial Grounds and Asset Quality

The likelihood of debt payment is highly dependent on the degree of the issuer's indebtedness and loss absorption capacity in terms of equity capital. Also notable is that a financial institution might see a significant loss of financial grounds as a result of changes in value of the assets under its possession.

C) Liquidity Positions

The likelihood of debt payment is highly dependent on the adequacy of the issuer's cash and other sources of repayment (liquidity positions).

D) Related Parties' Status and Stance of Support/ Assistance for the Issuer

The likelihood of debt payment is affected one way or the other by the issuer's related parties such as parent company, subsidiary, guarantor, and the government of the issuer's business domicile, etc. - by their own conditions and/ or position of support/ assistance for the issuer.

E) Order of Seniority in Debt Payment

The likelihood of debt payment can be different between given debts of the same issuer. The likelihood of debt payment for an individual debt is dependent on the issuer's discretion, and/ or its rank relative to other debts of the same issuer in the order of seniority in principal/ interest payment which is determined by design as financial product or by laws, etc.

4 The Potential Limitations of the Credit Rating as Required by Paragraph (a)(1)(ii)(D) of Rule 17g-7

- The credit rating herewith presented by JCR is its summary opinion with regard to the likelihood of given debt payment and hence not necessarily a perfect representation of such likelihood. The credit rating is not intended to estimate the probability of default or the loss on given default, either.
- The objective of the credit rating herewith presented does not include any concerns other than the likelihood of debt payment, such as risks of price changes, market liquidity, etc.
- The credit rating herewith presented is necessary to be reviewed along with possible changes of the issuer of rated objects in its business performance and/ or circumstances which include regulatory environment, and hence subject to possible alteration.

B) Financial Grounds and Asset Quality

The credit rating is subject to alteration if the issuer increases/ decreases its debt/ capital or vice versa and thereby makes its individual debt payment liability less or more bearable and its loss absorption capacity into the future decreased or increased. Also, the changes in the quality of asset under the issuer's holding may affect the credit rating, since such changes could raise or lower the likelihood of future loss of the issuer's financial grounds. The resultant alteration of the credit rating is usually by a notch, with possibility of a few notches if and when the change in the financial grounds and/ or asset quality is large.

C) Liquidity Positions

The credit rating is subject to alteration if there is a change in the issuer's financial management policy or in the relations with fund procurement sources and the change thereby makes its liquidity positions improve or deteriorate. The resultant alteration of the credit rating is usually by a notch, with possibility of a few notches if and when the change is large.

D) Related Parties' Status and Stance of Support/ Assistance for the Issuer

The resultant alteration of the credit rating is usually a notch, with possibility of a few notches if and when the change is large.

E) Order of Seniority in Debt Payment and Non-Payment Forgiven by Contract

The credit rating is subject to alteration if there is a change in the rated debt's status in the order of seniority relative to other debts caused by the improvement/ deterioration of the issuer's financial condition. Also, in case of the financial products for which non-payment of interest/ principal is contractually permissible, the credit rating is subject to alteration if and when the likelihood of such non-payment is projected to increase or decrease. The credit rating herewith presented could be changed if and when the assumptions made at the time of its determination turn out to be inaccurate with regard to the issuer's financial grounds and asset
