

Japan Credit Rating Agency, Ltd. (JCR) announces the following credit rating.

THE FUKUSHIMA BANK, LTD. (security code: 8562)

<Affirmation>

Long-term Issuer Rating: BBB
Outlook: Stable

Rationale

- (1) THE FUKUSHIMA BANK, LTD. (the "Bank") is a regional bank II headquartered in Fukushima City, Fukushima Prefecture with a fund volume of approximately 770 billion yen. It is among the top three banks in the prefecture in terms of fund volume and loan balance. Factors supporting the rating include decent earnings capacity thanks to successful efforts aimed at strengthening the ordinary revenue and reducing expenses, and also relatively good quality of loan assets. On the other hand, there is room for improvement in capital adequacy. JCR will closely watch the future trend.
- (2) For the fiscal year ended March 2021 (FY2020) onward, core net business income (excluding gains/losses on cancellation of investment trusts; hereinafter the same) and ROA based on the core net business income have remained in the middle of 1 billion range and around 0.2% respectively. In the fee business, in which the Bank is putting efforts, sales of assets to be under the Bank's custody and fee income relating to private placement bonds, etc. have been stable. While repayments of COVID-related loans are in progress, interest on loans is steady contributed by building up of loans through various institutional loan programs, housing and unsecured loans, and others. The Bank has been consistently reducing expenses through conducting review on the branch network, decreasing manpower, etc. That said, system-related expenses are expected to increase as the Bank intends to migrate to the core system jointly developing with SBI Group in FY2024. On the other hand, the Bank will be able to improve efficiency of the branch network operation and others in relation to the migration to the new system; therefore, JCR will monitor whether it can make use of the opportunity to strengthen the sales structure and reduce expenses to maintain the earnings capacity.
- (3) Non-performing loans ratio under the Financial Reconstruction Act stays at around 2%, which does not give a rise of concern. Although credit costs amounted to nearly 1 billion yen (including gain on bad debts recovered) for both FY2020 and FY2021 partly because of the reclassification of specific large borrowers into lower categories, the amount decreased to as low as 0.2 billion yen for FY2022. Attention needs to be paid to the impacts of higher raw material and energy prices on the business conditions of borrowers. Note that JCR views that the credit costs will remain at a low level given the loans diversified into small amount and conservative reserves.
- (4) In the securities investment, the Bank increased its exposure to ultra-long-term JGBs and foreign-currency-denominated foreign bonds toward FY2020. After rising market interest rates, it has been reducing the exposure; however, the interest rate risk amount involved in the securities holdings is not small. Valuation difference on available-for-sale securities was 6.4 billion yen in unrealized loss as of June 30, 2023. It is large against the equity capital and the impact of fluctuation in the market conditions needs to be closely watched.
- (5) Consolidated core capital ratio as of March 31, 2023 was 7.74%. However, core capital ratio conservatively adjusted for general allowance for bad debts, unrealized losses on securities holdings, etc. was around 6%, which is somewhat low among the regional financial institutions falling in the range of BBB.

3

The Main Assumptions and Principles used in Constructing the Procedures and Methodologies used to Determine the Credit Rating as Required by Paragraph (a)(1)(ii)(C) of Rule 17g-7

- The credit rating methodology assumes, in principle, to be applied to assess the likelihood of a given debt payment in light of its issuer's condition and business environment, etc. in the relevant future. There is certain limitation, however, in the time horizon that the rating foresees.
- The credit rating methodology assumes, in principle, that the factors posted in the below are particularly important for such likelihood to be determined, and that the rating determination is made by evaluating each of them not only quantitatively but also employing qualitative analyses.

A) Business Bases

The likelihood of a given debt payment is highly conditional to its issuer's business bases - how they can be maintained/ expanded into the future and thereby secure earnings and cash flows in adequacy and in a sustainable way.

B) Financial Grounds and Asset Quality

The likelihood of debt payment is highly dependent on the degree of the issuer's indebtedness and loss absorption capacity in terms of equity capital. Also notable is that a financial institution might see a significant loss of financial grounds as a result of changes in value of the assets under its possession.

C) Liquidity Positions

The likelihood of debt payment is highly dependent on the adequacy of the issuer's cash and other sources of repayment (liquidity positions).

D) Related Parties' Status and Stance of Support/ Assistance for the Issuer

The likelihood of debt payment is affected one way or the other by the issuer's related parties such as parent company, subsidiary, guarantor, and the government of the issuer's business domicile, etc. - by their own conditions and/ or position of support/ assistance for the issuer.

E) Order of Seniority in Debt Payment

The likelihood of debt payment can be different between given debts of the same issuer. The likelihood of debt payment for an individual debt is dependent on the issuer's discretion, and/ or its rank relative to other debts of the same issuer in the order of seniority in principal/ interest payment which is determined by design as financial product or by laws, etc.

4 The Potential Limitations of the Credit Rating as Required by Paragraph (a)(1)(ii)(D) of Rule 17g-7

- The credit rating herewith presented by JCR is its summary opinion with regard to the likelihood of given debt payment and hence not necessarily a perfect representation of such likelihood. The credit rating is not intended to estimate the probability of default or the loss on given default, either.
- The objective of the credit rating herewith presented does not include any concerns other than the likelihood of debt payment, such as risks of price changes, market liquidity, etc.
- The credit rating herewith presented is necessary to be reviewed along with possible changes of the issuer of rated objects in its business performance and/ or circumstances which include regulatory environment, and hence subject to possible alteration.

5 Information on the Uncertainty of the Credit Rating as Required by Paragraph (a)(1)(ii)(E) of Rule 17g-7

Consequently, the credit rating determined on the grounds of such information does not constitute, explicitly or implicitly, any representation or warrant of JCR on the information itself or any consequences of its use in terms of accuracy, relevance, timeliness, wholeness, market value, or usefulness for any specific purposes.

The credit rating is subject to alteration if the issuer increases/ decreases its debt/ capital or vice versa and thereby makes its individual debt payment liability less or more bearable and its loss absorption capacity into the future decreased or increased. Also, the changes in the quality of asset under the issuer's holding may affect the credit rating, since such changes could raise or lower the likelihood of future loss of the issuer's financial grounds. The resultant alteration of the credit rating is usually by a notch, with possibility of a few notches if and when the change in the financial grounds and/ or asset quality is large.

C) Liquidity Positions

The credit rating is subject to alteration if there is a change in the issuer's financial management policy or in the relations with fund procurement sources and the change thereby makes its liquidity positions improve or deteriorate. The resultant alteration of the credit rating is usually by a notch, with possibility of a few notches if and when the change is large.

The resultant alteration of the credit rating is usually a notch, with possibility of a few notches if and when the change is large.

E) Order of Seniority in Debt Payment and Non-Payment Forgiven by Contract

The credit rating is subject to alteration if there is a change in the rated debt's status in the order of seniority relative to other debts caused by the improvement/ deterioration of the issuer's financial condition. The resultant alteration of the credit rating is usually a notch, with possibility of a few notches if and when the change is large. Also, in case of the financial products for which non-payment of interest/ principal is contractually permissible, the credit rating is subject to alteration if and when the likelihood of such non-payment is projected to increase or decrease. The resultant alteration of the credit rating could be by a notch but often as much as a few notches.

The credit rating is subject to alteration if there is a rise/ fall in the general economy and/ or the markets inducing the issuer's revenues/ expenses to increase/ decrease and vice versa, etc. The resultant alteration of the credit rating is usually by a notch, with possibility of a few notches if and when the change is exceptionally large.
