

Japan Credit Rating Agency, Ltd. (JCR) announces the following credit rating.

Eurus Energy Holdings Corporation (security code: -)

<Affirmation>

Long-term Issuer Rating: AA
Outlook: Stable

Rationale

- (1) Eurus Energy Holdings Corporation (the “Company”) is an operating holding company mainly engaged in renewable energy power generation and development, as well as the operation of power plants, and a wholly owned subsidiary of TOYOTA TSUSHO CORPORATION (“TOYOTA TSUSHO”). In consideration of the probability of support from the Toyota Tsusho Group (the “Group”) in light of the degree of the Group’s control over and involvement in the Company and the Company’s managerial importance in the Group, JCR’s rating on the Company is based on the view that it is equivalent to the Group’s creditworthiness. The Company has an installed capacity of 5.15 million kW worldwide, primarily from onshore wind and solar power generation, as of July 31, 2026. In April 2025, it integrated its management with Terras Energy Corporation (“Terras Energy”), which has expertise in energy management.
- (2) Earnings base is favorable. The Company is Japan’s largest wind power generation company and has a wealth of know-how and expertise on the back of many years of experience in development and operation. While attention should be paid to the impact of unseasonable weather on earnings, as demand for renewable energy is projected to increase, geographically dispersed power plants are expected to help maintain solid performance. The Company intends to continue focusing on development investments, including power plants, but, given its cash flow generation capacity and financial relations with TOYOTA TSUSHO, JCR assumes that stable funding can be secured. Based on the above, JCR affirmed the rating on the Company with Stable outlook.
- (3) As it stands, there are no power plants that would drag down earnings. The Company has a strong ability to discern good projects based on practical experience it has gained over the years and engages in development through a diligent evaluation process. As such, projects are carefully selected to meet certain criteria for project schemes, economic viability, financing arrangements, etc. Overseas, the Company is moving ahead with development by collaborating with partners well-versed in local areas, as necessary, to minimize business risks. Domestically, it maintains good relations with local communities where power plants are located.
- (4) While aiming to optimize the power generation portfolio through asset replacement, the Company is working to strengthen asset-light businesses such as energy management and corporate PPA (“CPPA”). Currently, it is gradually building up track records in acquiring CPPA projects. Whether it can increase its earnings capacity across the entire power value chain by achieving synergies with Terras Energy and leveraging TOYOTA TSUSHO’s sales resources while maintaining and improving the earnings capacity of the power generation business will be closely watched.

3

The Main Assumptions and Principles used in Constructing the Procedures and Methodologies used to Determine the Credit Rating as Required by Paragraph (a)(1)(ii)(C) of Rule 17g-7

- The credit rating methodology assumes, in principle, to be applied to assess the likelihood of a given debt payment in light of its issuer's condition and business environment, etc. in the relevant future. There is certain limitation, however, in the time horizon that the rating foresees.
- The credit rating methodology assumes, in principle, that the factors posted in the below are particularly important for such likelihood to be determined, and that the rating determination is made by evaluating each of them not only quantitatively but also employing qualitative analyses.

A) Business Bases

The likelihood of a given debt payment is highly conditional to its issuer's business bases - how they can be maintained/ expanded into the future and thereby secure earnings and cash flows in adequacy and in a sustainable way.

B) Financial Grounds and Asset Quality

The likelihood of debt payment is highly dependent on the degree of the issuer's indebtedness and loss absorption capacity in terms of equity capital. Also notable is that a financial institution might see a significant loss of financial grounds as a result of changes in value of the assets under its possession.

C) Liquidity Positions

The likelihood of debt payment is highly dependent on the adequacy of the issuer's cash and other sources of repayment (liquidity positions).

D) Related Parties' Status and Stance of Support/ Assistance for the Issuer

The likelihood of debt payment is affected one way or the other by the issuer's related parties such as parent company, subsidiary, guarantor, and the government of the issuer's business domicile, etc. - by their own conditions and/ or position of support/ assistance for the issuer.

E) Order of Seniority in Debt Payment

The likelihood of debt payment can be different between given debts of the same issuer. The likelihood of debt payment for an individual debt is dependent on the issuer's discretion, and/ or its rank relative to other debts of the same issuer in the order of seniority in principal/ interest payment which is determined by design as financial product or by laws, etc.

4 The Potential Limitations of the Credit Rating as Required by Paragraph (a)(1)(ii)(D) of Rule 17g-7

- The credit rating herewith presented by JCR is its summary opinion with regard to the likelihood of given debt payment and hence not necessarily a perfect representation of such likelihood. The credit rating is not intended to estimate the probability of default or the loss on given default, either.
- The objective of the credit rating herewith presented does not include any concerns other than the likelihood of debt payment, such as risks of price changes, market liquidity, etc.
- The credit rating herewith presented is necessary to be reviewed along with possible changes of the issuer of rated objects in its business performance and/ or circumstances which include regulatory environment, and hence subject to possible alteration.
