

Japan Credit Rating Agency, Ltd. (JCR) announces the following credit rating.

Yasuda Logistics Corporation (security code: 9324)

<Affirmation>

Long-term Issuer Rating:	A-
Outlook:	Stable
Bonds:	A-
Subordinated Loan:	BBB

Rationale

- (1) Yasuda Logistics Corporation (the “Company”) is a comprehensive logistics service company operating primarily in the Tokyo metropolitan area. It engages in the logistics business centering on warehousing and the real estate business utilizing the lands it owns in urban areas. It has strengths in a group of logistics bases in good locations close to large-consumption areas and handling high-value-added products, such as and precision equipment. In recent years, the Company has focuses on medical logistics services as is has become the first logistics provider acquiring a permission to operate medical device repair business. The Company is strengthening the medical logistics services as shown that it opened Tokyo Medical Logistics Center I (Shinonome) and Tokyo Medical Logistics Center II (Tatsumi) in the fiscal year ended March 2021 (FY2020), and also announced that it entered into an agreement of acquisition of Eisai Distribution Co., Ltd., a subsidiary of Eisai Co., Ltd., in December 2022, among others.
- (2) The Company has been making progress in strengthening the revenue base. For the profit perspective, the scope of business has been steadily expanding though an upfront investment burden rose from construction of new warehouses for medical logistics services, and others. Looking ahead, the Company’s business base will be further strengthened through logistics bases, expansion of transportation and delivery network of pharmaceuticals and others. JCR views that the real estate business continuously makes a stable profit contribution and the performance will likely be solid. While the Company continues a high level of growth investment, financial soundness will likely be maintained. Based on the above, JCR has affirmed the ratings on the Company with Stable outlook.
- (3) For FY2022, the Company projects an operating revenue of 58 billion yen, up 9.3% year on year, and an operating profit of 2.7 billion yen, down 5.5% year on year. While the mainstay logistics business will grow revenue through expansion of the medical logistics services and other factors, an increase in various expenses including fuel, utilities, repair will likely be the factor for decline in profits. For FY2023 onward, expansion of operating revenue can still be expected through commencement of operation of a new warehouse for pharmaceuticals in Kazo City, Saitama Prefecture, and others. JCR will pay attention to whether the Company can achieve a profit growth through rationalizing freight charges and initiatives such as cost reductions taking advantage of digital transformation.
- (4) Equity ratio as at the end of the second quarter of FY2022 (after considering the equity content of the hybrid financing) was 54.7%, almost flat from 54.0% at the end of the previous fiscal year. For FY2019 onward, the Company has been making active capital investment and engaging in M&As for strengthening the medical logistics services and expansion of transportation and distribution network. The Company’s financial burden is expected to increase continuously as it projects a cumulative total of 36 billion yen of growth investments for three years centering on the logistics business in the medium-term management plan (FY2022-FY2024). That said, JCR sees the financial base will unlikely deteriorate substantially given its stance of considering the financial side such as procuring some of funds requiring for the growth investments through subordinated loans.

- Please see the news release. If the credit rating is a private rating, please see the report for private rating.

3 The Main Assumptions and Principles used in Constructing the Procedures and Methodologies used to Determine the Credit Rating as Required by Paragraph (a)(1)(ii)(C) of Rule 17g-7

- The credit rating methodology assumes, in principle, to be applied to assess the likelihood of a given debt payment in light of its issuer's condition and business environment, etc. in the relevant future. There is certain limitation, however, in the time horizon that the rating foresees.
- The credit rating methodology assumes, in principle, that the factors posted in the below are particularly important for such likelihood to be determined, and that the rating determination is made by evaluating each of them not only quantitatively but also employing qualitative analyses.

A) Business Bases

The likelihood of a given debt payment is highly conditional to its issuer's business bases - how they can be maintained/ expanded into the future and thereby secure earnings and cash flows in adequacy and in a sustainable way.

B) Financial Grounds and Asset Quality

The likelihood of debt payment is highly dependent on the degree of the issuer's indebtedness and loss absorption capacity in terms of equity capital. Also notable is that a financial institution might see a significant loss of financial grounds as a result of changes in value of the assets under its possession.

C) Liquidity Positions

The likelihood of debt payment is highly dependent on the adequacy of the issuer's cash and other sources of repayment (liquidity positions).

D) Related Parties' Status and Stance of Support/ Assistance for the Issuer

The likelihood of debt payment is affected one way or the other by the issuer's related parties such as parent company, subsidiary, guarantor, and the government of the issuer's business domicile, etc. - by their own conditions and/ or position of support/ assistance for the issuer.

E) Order of Seniority in Debt Payment

The likelihood of debt payment can be different between given debts of the same issuer. The likelihood of debt payment for an individual debt is dependent on the issuer's discretion, and/ or its rank relative to other debts of the same issuer in the order of seniority in principal/ interest payment which is determined by design as financial product or by laws, etc.

4 The Potential Limitations of the Credit Rating as Required by Paragraph (a)(1)(ii)(D) of Rule 17g-7

- The credit rating herewith presented by JCR is its summary opinion with regard to the likelihood of given debt payment and hence not necessarily a perfect representation of such likelihood. The credit rating is not intended to estimate the probability of default or the loss on given default, either.
- The objective of the credit rating herewith presented does not include any concerns other than the likelihood of debt payment, such as risks of price changes, market liquidity, etc.
- The credit rating herewith presented is necessary to be reviewed along with possible changes of the issuer of rated objects in its business performance and/ or circumstances which include regulatory environment, and hence subject to possible alteration.
