

Japan Credit Rating Agency, Ltd. (JCR) announces the following credit rating.

AIN HOLDINGS INC. (security code: 9627)

<Affirmation>

Long-term Issuer Rating: A-
Outlook: Stable

Rationale

- (1) AIN HOLDINGS INC. (the “Company”) is the holding company of Japan’s largest dispensing pharmacy operator AIN Group (the “Group”). Its rating reflects the Group’s overall creditworthiness in light of management unity as shown by the Company’s governance, etc. The pharmacy business operates nationwide, mainly in the vicinity of large hospitals, and is working to fulfill the functions of a primary pharmacist/pharmacy. The Company has strong purchasing power for pharmaceuticals, and its ability to recruit pharmacists, supported by a well-developed education and training system, is also a key strength. The Company made Kraft Inc., which operates the Sakura Pharmacy Group (“Sakura Pharmacy Group”), a subsidiary in August 2025. In the retail business, the Company operates the cosmetics store Ainz & Tulpe and the lifestyle shop Francfranc. At the end of April 2026, it operated 2,137 dispensing pharmacies and 269 retail stores.
- (2) The Company’s core pharmacy business is expected to grow steadily. The Group is committed to advancing pharmacy functions and streamlining store operations and has a strong ability to respond to regulatory reforms. Additionally, the Company is increasing its number of stores through new store openings and the use of M&A. The integration process for Sakura Pharmacy Group, which was a major acquisition, is also progressing smoothly, and synergies are expected to continue to materialize. In the retail business, growth is also expected in both business formats. On the back of solid business performance, the deteriorated financial condition is expected to steadily improve. Based on the above, JCR has affirmed the rating on the Company with a Stable outlook.
- (3) For the fiscal year ending April 2027 (FY2026), the Company plans net sales of 721.5 billion yen, up 11.4% from the previous year, and operating profit of 32.5 billion yen, up 8.9%. Although there will be investment burdens associated with human capital and DX, revenue and profit are expected to increase due to the organic growth of both businesses and the full-year contribution of Sakura Pharmacy Group. Growth in both businesses is expected from FY2027 onward. In the pharmacy business, in addition to store development based on stringent standards, the Company is working to enhance store profitability. The Company is pursuing initiatives to increase the number of prescriptions processed and raise technical service fees, among others. In the retail business, in addition to standalone store openings by both retail formats, the Company is seeking to create synergies by leveraging the strengths of each format through joint store openings and other initiatives.
- (4) The large-scale acquisition is weighing on the Company’s financial foundation. At the end of FY2025, the equity ratio was 31.2% (45.7% at the end of FY2024) and the D/E ratio stood at 1.1x (0.3x), indicating a deterioration in the Company’s financial position. In addition, the goodwill balance increased to a level exceeding equity. However, while continuing to generate stable cash flows, the Company intends to focus on repaying its interest-bearing debt for the time being. Furthermore, as regular amortization of goodwill and the accumulation of profits progress, the Company’s financial condition is expected to steadily improve.

The Main Assumptions and Principles used in Constructing the Procedures and Methodologies used to Determine the Credit Rating as Required by Paragraph (a)(1)(ii)(C) of Rule 17g-7

- The credit rating methodology assumes, in principle, to be applied to assess the likelihood of a given debt payment in light of its issuer's condition and business environment, etc. in the relevant future. There is certain limitation, however, in the time horizon that the rating foresees.
- The credit rating methodology assumes, in principle, that the factors posted in the below are particularly important for such likelihood to be determined, and that the rating determination is made by evaluating each of them not only quantitatively but also employing qualitative analyses.

A) Business Bases

The likelihood of a given debt payment is highly conditional to its issuer's business bases - how they can be maintained/ expanded into the future and thereby secure earnings and cash flows in adequacy and in a sustainable way.

B) Financial Grounds and Asset Quality

The likelihood of debt payment is highly dependent on the degree of the issuer's indebtedness and loss absorption capacity in terms of equity capital. Also notable is that a financial institution might see a significant loss of financial grounds as a result of changes in value of the assets under its possession.

C) Liquidity Positions

The likelihood of debt payment is highly dependent on the adequacy of the issuer's cash and other sources of repayment (liquidity positions).

D) Related Parties' Status and Stance of Support/ Assistance for the Issuer

The likelihood of debt payment is affected one way or the other by the issuer's related parties such as parent company, subsidiary, guarantor, and the government of the issuer's business domicile, etc. - by their own conditions and/ or position of support/ assistance for the issuer.

E) Order of Seniority in Debt Payment

The likelihood of debt payment can be different between given debts of the same issuer. The likelihood of debt payment for an individual debt is dependent on the issuer's discretion, and/ or its rank relative to other debts of the same issuer in the order of seniority in principal/ interest payment which is determined by design as financial product or by laws, etc.

4 The Potential Limitations of the Credit Rating as Required by Paragraph (a)(1)(ii)(D) of Rule 17g-7

- The objective of the credit rating herewith presented does not include any concerns other than the likelihood of debt payment, such as risks of price changes, market liquidity, etc.
- The credit rating herewith presented is necessary to be reviewed along with possible changes of the issuer of rated objects in its business performance and/ or circumstances which include regulatory environment, and hence subject to possible alteration.

B) Financial Grounds and Asset Quality

The credit rating is subject to alteration if the issuer increases/ decreases its debt/ capital or vice versa and thereby makes its individual debt payment liability less or more bearable and its loss absorption capacity into the future decreased or increased. Also, the changes in the quality of asset under the issuer's holding may affect the credit rating, since such changes could raise or lower the likelihood of future loss of the issuer's financial grounds. The resultant alteration of the credit rating is usually by a notch, with possibility of a few notches if and when the change in the financial grounds and/ or asset quality is large.

C) Liquidity Positions

The credit rating is subject to alteration if there is a change in the issuer's financial management policy or in the relations with fund procurement sources and the change thereby makes its liquidity positions improve or deteriorate. The resultant alteration of the credit rating is usually a notch, with possibility of a few notches if and when the change is large.

E) Order of Seniority in Debt Payment and Non-Payment Forgiven by Contract

The credit rating is subject to alteration if there is a change in the rated debt's status in the order of seniority relative to other debts caused by the improvement/ deterioration of the issuer's financial condition. The resultant alteration of the credit rating is usually a notch, with possibility of a few notches if and when the change is large. Also, in case of the financial products for which non-payment of interest/ principal is contractually permissible, the credit rating is subject to alteration if and when the likelihood of such non-payment is projected to increase or decrease.
