

Japan Credit Rating Agency, Ltd. (JCR) announces the following credit rating.

The Toho Bank, Ltd. (security code: 8346)

<Affirmation>

Long-term Issuer Rating: A
Outlook: Stable

Rationale

- (1) The Toho Bank, Ltd. (the "Bank") is a regional bank headquartered in Fukushima City, Fukushima Prefecture with a fund volume of approximately 6 trillion yen. Factors including its strong business base as shown by the largest market shares for balances of loans and deposits in the Prefecture and appropriate capital level are supporting the Bank's rating. JCR views that core net business income (excluding gains and losses on cancellation of investment trusts, etc., the same applies hereafter) will likely be steady due partly to support of the Bank's effort to reduce expenses. However, ROA (based on core net business income) still needs to be improved, and JCR will pay attention to outcome of the initiatives toward strengthening the top-line revenue.
- (2) Core net business income increased two consecutive fiscal years for the fiscal year ended March 2022 (FY2021), and for the first half of FY2022, it also increased 22% from a year earlier to 6.4 billion yen. ROA remains around 0.2%. The performance has been led by continuing expense reductions resulted from reviewing branch network in Fukushima Prefecture and streamlining of manpower allocation. System-related costs are expected to increase for FY2023 in association with joint use of the core system; however, the impact will be mitigated to a certain extent partly by the outcome of the initiatives, which the Bank carried out to date. On the other hand, the Bank's active efforts toward renewable energy field contributed to an increase in balances of loans, as well as ensuring non-interest income; however, such efforts for new transactions are about to peak out. It is focusing on lending to SMEs primarily in the Prefecture; however, the balance does not increase as expected. Going forward, JCR will monitor the trend in interest on loans and discounts under the situation where repayments of the COVID-related loans are being made.
- (3) Non-performing loans ratio disclosed under the Financial Reconstruction Act was at a low level standing at 1.32% (0.99% where partial direct write-offs are conducted) as at the end of September 2022. Credit costs significantly increased for the fiscal year ended March 2021 (FY2020) due partly to downgrading of borrowers with large amount of credits and reviewing the classification of borrowers eyeing on the COVID crisis. However, the costs remained at low levels for FY2021 and the first half of FY2022. Although attention needs to be paid to the impact of soaring resource prices, etc., the Bank has made provisions conservatively, and this, among others, is expected to contribute to holding down credit costs.
- (4) For securities investment, the Bank has been increasing the balance primarily for yen-denominated bonds; however, the Bank's exposure to interest rate risk relating to bonds holdings is not excessive against the capital. While the market environment is significantly changing, unrealized loss on available-for-sale securities at the end of September 2022 remained within a narrow range.
- (5) Consolidated core capital ratio adjusted for allowance for bad debts, etc. was approximately 9% as at the end of September 2022. JCR views that the Bank can maintain current level of core capital ratio since it has controlled risk-weighted assets through reducing loans to large corporations, the profitability is low, etc., and accumulation of retained earnings is expected.

3 The Main Assumptions and Principles used in Constructing the Procedures and Methodologies used to Determine the Credit Rating as Required by Paragraph (a)(1)(ii)(C) of Rule 17g-7

- The credit rating methodology assumes, in principle, to be applied to assess the likelihood of a given debt payment in light of its issuer's condition and business environment, etc. in the relevant future. There is certain limitation, however, in the time horizon that the rating foresees.
- The credit rating methodology assumes, in principle, that the factors posted in the below are particularly important for such likelihood to be determined, and that the rating determination is made by evaluating each of them not only quantitatively but also employing qualitative analyses.

A) Business Bases

The likelihood of a given debt payment is highly conditional to its issuer's business bases - how they can be maintained/ expanded into the future and thereby secure earnings and cash flows in adequacy and in a sustainable way.

B) Financial Grounds and Asset Quality

The likelihood of debt payment is highly dependent on the degree of the issuer's indebtedness and loss absorption capacity in terms of equity capital. Also notable is that a financial institution might see a significant loss of financial grounds as a result of changes in value of the assets under its possession.

C) Liquidity Positions

The likelihood of debt payment is highly dependent on the adequacy of the issuer's cash and other sources of repayment (liquidity positions).

D) Related Parties' Status and Stance of Support/ Assistance for the Issuer

The likelihood of debt payment is affected one way or the other by the issuer's related parties such as parent company, subsidiary, guarantor, and the government of the issuer's business domicile, etc. - by their own conditions and/ or position of support/ assistance for the issuer.

E) Order of Seniority in Debt Payment

The likelihood of debt payment can be different between given debts of the same issuer. The likelihood of debt payment for an individual debt is dependent on the issuer's discretion, and/ or its rank relative to other debts of the same issuer in the order of seniority in principal/ interest payment which is determined by design as financial product or by laws, etc.

4 The Potential Limitations of the Credit Rating as Required by Paragraph (a)(1)(ii)(D) of Rule 17g-7
