

Japan Credit Rating Agency, Ltd. (JCR) announces the following credit rating.

FUKUYAMA TRANSPORTING CO., LTD. (security code: 9075)

<Affirmation>

Long-term Issuer Rating: A+
Outlook: Stable

Rationale

- (1) FUKUYAMA TRANSPORTING CO., LTD. (the "Company") is a major transportation company for consolidated deliveries. It has a nationwide logistics network. The transportation business accounts for approximately 90% of the net sales. It also operates the distribution processing and international businesses. It maintains a high transportation quality and is continuing business relationships with a wide range of customers. Recently, it has been strengthening the distribution processing business.
- (2) In the midst of the COVID crisis, volume of cargo handled has been still stable centering on consumer-related cargo. It is continuing to work on the initiative to receive fair freight charges, and it has been absorbed the increases in costs including fuel cost. Backed by the high transportation quality, the Company's continuing business relationships with shippers remain unchanged, and solid performance is expected for foreseeable future. Although it plans to construct new logistics facilities, etc. to strengthen the distribution processing business, it will highly likely maintain the present favorable financial structure. Based on the above, JCR has affirmed the rating on the Company with Stable outlook.
- (3) The Company projects an operating income of 23.1 billion yen, up 4.6% over the year, for the fiscal year ending March 2023 (FY2022). Steady cargo movements are expected for the transportation business. While impacts of rising fuel costs and others to the performance are concerned; it has been absorbing the increases through price pass-through. Preparation of logistics bases to strengthen the distribution processing business is expected to continue. JCR will pay attention to the contribution to the consolidated profits going forward.
- (4) The Company maintains a good equity ratio as indicated by 55.2% at the end of the second quarter of FY2022 (52.8% at the end of FY2021). Investments, such as enhancement of the logistics network and introduction of environment-friendly vehicles, are expected under the medium-term term management plan with the last fiscal year of FY2023. The amount will likely be within operating cash flow.

3 The Main Assumptions and Principles used in Constructing the Procedures and Methodologies used to Determine the Credit Rating as Required by Paragraph (a)(1)(ii)(C) of Rule 17g-7

- The credit rating methodology assumes, in principle, to be applied to assess the likelihood of a given debt payment in light of its issuer's condition and business environment, etc. in the relevant future. There is certain limitation, however, in the time horizon that the rating foresees.
- The credit rating methodology assumes, in principle, that the factors posted in the below are particularly important for such likelihood to be determined, and that the rating determination is made by evaluating each of them not only quantitatively but also employing qualitative analyses.

A) Business Bases

The likelihood of a given debt payment is highly conditional to its issuer's business bases - how they can be maintained/ expanded into the future and thereby secure earnings and cash flows in adequacy and in a sustainable way.

B) Financial Grounds and Asset Quality

The likelihood of debt payment is highly dependent on the degree of the issuer's indebtedness and loss absorption capacity in terms of equity capital. Also notable is that a financial institution might see a significant loss of financial grounds as a result of changes in value of the assets under its possession.

C) Liquidity Positions

The likelihood of debt payment is highly dependent on the adequacy of the issuer's cash and other sources of repayment (liquidity positions).

D) Related Parties' Status and Stance of Support/ Assistance for the Issuer

The likelihood of debt payment is affected one way or the other by the issuer's related parties such as parent company, subsidiary, guarantor, and the government of the issuer's business domicile, etc. - by their own conditions and/ or position of support/ assistance for the issuer.

E) Order of Seniority in Debt Payment

The likelihood of debt payment can be different between given debts of the same issuer. The likelihood of debt payment for an individual debt is dependent on the issuer's discretion, and/ or its rank relative to other debts of the same issuer in the order of seniority in principal/ interest payment which is determined by design as financial product or by laws, etc.

The resultant alteration of the credit rating is usually by a notch, with possibility of a few notches if and when the change in the business bases is large.

C) Liquidity Positions

The credit rating is subject to alteration if there is a change in the issuer's financial management policy or in the relations with fund procurement sources and the change thereby makes its liquidity positions improve or deteriorate. The resultant alteration of the credit rating is usually by a notch, with possibility of a few notches if and when the change is large..

D) Order of Seniority in Debt Payment and Non-Payment Forgiven by Contract

The credit rating is subject to alteration if there is a change in the rated debt's status in the order of seniority relative to other debts caused by the improvement/ deterioration of the issuer's financial condition. The resultant alteration of the credit rating is usually a notch, with possibility of a few notches if and when the change is large. Also, in case of the financial products for which non-payment of interest/ principal is contractually permissible, the credit rating is subject to alteration if and when the likelihood of such non-payment is projected to increase or decrease. The resultant alteration of the credit rating could be by a notch but often as much as a few notches.

E) Rise and Fall in General Economy and Markets

The credit rating is subject to alteration if there is a rise/ fall in the general economy and/ or the markets inducing the issuer's revenues/ expenses to increase/ decrease and vice versa, etc. The resultant alteration of the credit rating is usually by a notch, with possibility of a few notches if and when the change is exceptionally large.
