

Japan Credit Rating Agency, Ltd. (JCR) announces the following credit rating.

Restar Corporation (security code: 3156)

<Affirmation>

Long-term Issuer Rating: BBB+
Outlook: Stable
Bonds: BBB+
Subordinated Loan: BBB-

Rationale

- (1) Restar Corporation (the “Company”) is an independent electronics trading company. It integrated management with former VITEC HOLDINGS CO., LTD. in April 2019 and is now one of the largest electronics trading companies in Japan. It engages in wholesaling, primarily dealing in semiconductors produced by SONY Group, and also operates the EMS (electronics manufacturing service), power generation/supply, vegetable factory and other businesses. It is actively carrying out M&A deals as part of the growth strategy. In 2024, it acquired four subsidiaries of TSUZUKI DENKI CO., LTD. in January, Dexerials Corporation’s sales subsidiary in Hong Kong in July and PCI Holdings, Inc. in September. In 2025, it went on to acquire Dexerials’ sales subsidiaries in Hong Kong and Taiwan in January through February and distribution rights for SONY semiconductor products in Europe and North America from Germany’s FRAMOS Holding GmbH in October.
- (2) The Company’s performance is expected to remain solid. In the core devices business, diversified customers and M&A effects underpin its results. Inventory adjustments by customers in the industrial equipment market are progressing, and orders for this market are showing signs of recovery. SONY’s image sensors as mainstay products remain highly competitive. On the financial front, the Company is expected to accelerate investment but will still likely maintain the current level of a financial structure. Based on the above, JCR affirmed the ratings on the Company and retained the Stable outlook.
- (3) Operating profit is projected to rise 12.9% over the year to 16 billion yen in the fiscal year ending March 2026 (FY2025). It showed a year-on-year decline in the first half due in part to exchange rate fluctuations, deterioration in the sales mix because of delays in recovery of the industrial equipment market and intensified competition in the supply-demand adjustment market within the new power sector but is expected to improve in the second half thanks mainly to a turnaround in sales to the industrial equipment industry in the devices business. In the medium run, too, given the growth outlook for the semiconductor market, overall performance will likely remain robust. Continued attention will be paid to the status of recovery in demand for industrial equipment and whether the Company can increase its earnings capacity through collaboration with the companies acquired.
- (4) Equity ratio (after the assessment of the equity content of subordinated loans) at the end of the second quarter of FY2025 was 29.1%, falling from 32.6% a year before due mainly to an increase in total assets as a result of acquisitions, etc. Looking ahead, the Company intends to accelerate growth investments, including M&As, but, given such factors as the financial management policy based on the performance forecast and ensuring of financial soundness, JCR considers that the financial base is not likely to deteriorate significantly. Meanwhile, as the Company shows an active stance toward M&As, JCR will keep an eye on the details of the investments and their impact.

The Main Assumptions and Principles used in Constructing the Procedures and Methodologies used to Determine the Credit Rating as Required by Paragraph (a)(1)(ii)(C) of Rule 17g-7

- The credit rating methodology assumes, in principle, to be applied to assess the likelihood of a given debt payment in light of its issuer's condition and business environment, etc. in the relevant future. There is certain limitation, however, in the time horizon that the rating foresees.
- The credit rating methodology assumes, in principle, that the factors posted in the below are particularly important for such likelihood to be determined, and that the rating determination is made by evaluating each of them not only quantitatively but also employing qualitative analyses.

A) Business Bases

The likelihood of a given debt payment is highly conditional to its issuer's business bases - how they can be maintained/ expanded into the future and thereby secure earnings and cash flows in adequacy and in a sustainable way.

B) Financial Grounds and Asset Quality

The likelihood of debt payment is highly dependent on the degree of the issuer's indebtedness and loss absorption capacity in terms of equity capital. Also notable is that a financial institution might see a significant loss of financial grounds as a result of changes in value of the assets under its possession.

C) Liquidity Positions

The likelihood of debt payment is highly dependent on the adequacy of the issuer's cash and other sources of repayment (liquidity positions).

D) Related Parties' Status and Stance of Support/ Assistance for the Issuer

The likelihood of debt payment is affected one way or the other by the issuer's related parties such as parent company, subsidiary, guarantor, and the government of the issuer's business domicile, etc. - by their own conditions and/ or position of support/ assistance for the issuer.

E) Order of Seniority in Debt Payment

The likelihood of debt payment can be different between given debts of the same issuer. The likelihood of debt payment for an individual debt is dependent on the issuer's discretion, and/ or its rank relative to other debts of the same issuer in the order of seniority in principal/ interest payment which is determined by design as financial product or by laws, etc.

4 The Potential Limitations of the Credit Rating as Required by Paragraph (a)(1)(ii)(D) of Rule 17g-7

- The credit rating herewith presented by JCR is its summary opinion with regard to the likelihood of given debt payment and hence not necessarily a perfect representation of such likelihood. The credit rating is not intended to estimate the probability of default or the loss on given default, either.
- The objective of the credit rating herewith presented does not include any concerns other than the likelihood of debt payment, such as risks of price changes, market liquidity, etc.
- The credit rating herewith presented is necessary to be reviewed along with possible changes of the issuer of rated objects in its business performance and/ or circumstances which include regulatory environment, and hence subject to possible alteration.

The credit rating is subject to alteration if there is improvement or deterioration of the issuer's business bases, since its revenue, etc. may improve or deteriorate by the change in its business management policies, clients' preferences, competitive situation, or a technological innovation. The resultant alteration of the credit rating is usually by a notch, with possibility of a few notches if and when the change in the business bases is large.

B) Financial Grounds and Asset Quality

The credit rating is subject to alteration if the issuer increases/ decreases its debt/ capital or vice versa and thereby makes its individual debt payment liability less or more bearable and its loss absorption capacity into the future decreased or increased. Also, the changes in the quality of asset under the issuer's holding may affect the credit rating, since such changes could raise or lower the likelihood of future loss of the issuer's financial grounds. The resultant alteration of the credit rating is usually by a notch, with possibility of a few notches if and when the change in the financial grounds and/ or asset quality is large.

C) Liquidity Positions

The credit rating is subject to alteration if there is a change in the issuer's financial management policy or in the relations with fund procurement sources and the change thereby makes its liquidity positions improve or deteriorate. The resultant alteration of the credit rating is usually by a notch, with possibility of a few notches if and when the change is large.

D) Related Parties' Status and Stance of Support/ Assistance for the Issuer

The credit rating is subject to alteration if there is a change in the issuer's parent company or subsidiary, guarantor or other provider of credit enhancement, or the government of the issuer's business domicile, or other related parties' own conditions and/ or position of support/ assistance for the issuer, and the change thereby makes its business bases, financial grounds and/ or liquidity positions improve or deteriorate, and/ or making the effectiveness of guarantee and other credit enhancement improve or deteriorate. The resultant alteration of the credit rating is usually a notch, with possibility of a few notches if and when the change is large.

E) Order of Seniority in Debt Payment and Non-Payment Forgiven by Contract

The credit rating is subject to alteration if there is a change in the rated debt's status in the order of seniority relative to other debts caused by the improvement/ deterioration of the issuer's financial condition. The resultant alteration of the credit rating is usually a notch, with possibility of a few notches if and when the change is large. Also, in case of the financial products for which non-payment of interest/ principal is contractually permissible, the credit rating is subject to alteration if and when the likelihood of such non-payment is projected to increase or decrease. The resultant alteration of the credit rating could be by a notch but often as much as a few notches.

F) Rise and Fall in General Economy and Markets

The credit rating is subject to alteration if there is a rise/ fall in the general economy and/ or the markets inducing the issuer's revenues/ expenses to increase/ decrease and vice versa, etc. The resultant alteration of the credit rating is usually by a notch, with possibility of a few notches if and when the change is exceptionally large.

G) Various Events

The credit rating is subject to alteration on occurrence of various events, such as change in the issuer's major shareholders, M&A and other organizational change, accident, violation of the law, litigation, legal/ regulatory change, natural disaster, etc., which are unforeseeable at the time when the credit rating is determined, causing a significant change on the issuer's business bases, financial grounds, etc. The resultant alteration of the credit rating could be by a notch but more often than not as much as a few notches.

B) Financial Grounds and Asset Quality

The credit rating herewith presented could be changed if and when the assumptions made at the time of its determination turn out to be inaccurate with regard to the issuer's financial grounds and asset quality. The change could be as much as a few notches if the issuer's financial structure differs so much and thereby the balance between debts shifted so greatly. Rating change is also possible in case of the financial products for which non-payment of interest/ principal is contractually permissible, if and when the assumptions made at the time of its determination turns out to be inaccurate. The change of the credit rating is assumed to be by a notch but often as much as a few notches.
