

Japan Credit Rating Agency, Ltd. (JCR) announces the following credit rating.

NEC Corporation (security code: 6701)

<Affirmation>

Long-term Issuer Rating: A+
Outlook: Stable

Rationale

- (1) NEC Corporation ("NEC") is one of Japan's major general electronics manufacturers. Its core businesses are system integration, maintenance and other services. NEC has the world's top-level technologies in facial authentication, iris recognition, fingerprint identification, etc. The network-related service, including 5G, is also one of its core businesses. Though highly relying on domestic operations for sales, NEC has established a stable blue-chip customer base. In the Mid-term Management Plan 2025, NEC is aiming to achieve earnings growth both in the growth business and the base business, positioning the follows as the growth business: Digital Government / Digital Finance (DG/DF), Global 5G, and Core DX.
- (2) NEC's current performance is basically strong. Given factors such as the favorable business environment, its technological capability and industry position, NEC's performance is expected to stay solid for the foreseeable future. A trend toward DX and the 5G penetration serve as a tailwind for the core domestic IT service-related operations and the network service-related operations, respectively. The financial base enhancement also continues to progress. Based on the above, JCR has affirmed the rating on the Company with Stable outlook.
- (3) The Company's operating profit (IFRS) for the fiscal year ended March 2022 (FY2021) took a downward turn to 132.5 billion yen, declining 13.8% year on year, while exceeding 100 billion yen for three periods in a row. The decrease in profit was mainly attributable to an about 26 billion yen-increase in strategic expenses as well as the impact of parts shortage. Meanwhile, NEC is planning an expansion of operating profit for FY2022. It intends to see a profit rise in its all five core segments, expecting higher profits both in the growth business and the base business. For the parts shortage, the Company intends to restrain its impact on earnings by continuing to take various measures following the previous period.
- (4) As of March 31, 2022, the ratio of equity attributable to owners of the parent and the net D/E ratio respectively improved to 40.2% (35.7% a year earlier) and 0.11x (0.14x a year earlier). On the other hand, operating cash flow in FY2021 stood at 147.5 billion yen (274.9 billion yen in the previous period), partly due to a strategic increase in inventory with consideration given to the parts shortage. The operating cash flow is planned to be 280 billion yen for FY2022, based on an assumption of the normalization of inventory. NEC is setting M&A execution as the axis of its growth strategy, but its financial capacities have been on the rise.

The Main Assumptions and Principles used in Constructing the Procedures and Methodologies used to Determine the Credit Rating as Required by Paragraph (a)(1)(ii)(C) of Rule 17g-7

- The credit rating methodology assumes, in principle, to be applied to assess the likelihood of a given debt payment in light of its issuer's condition and business environment, etc. in the relevant future. There is certain limitation, however, in the time horizon that the rating foresees.
- The credit rating methodology assumes, in principle, that the factors posted in the below are particularly important for such likelihood to be determined, and that the rating determination is made by evaluating each of them not only quantitatively but also employing qualitative analyses.

A) Business Bases

The likelihood of a given debt payment is highly conditional to its issuer's business bases - how they can be maintained/ expanded into the future and thereby secure earnings and cash flows in adequacy and in a sustainable way.

B) Financial Grounds and Asset Quality

The likelihood of debt payment is highly dependent on the degree of the issuer's indebtedness and loss absorption capacity in terms of equity capital. Also notable is that a financial institution might see a significant loss of financial grounds as a result of changes in value of the assets under its possession.

C) Liquidity Positions

The likelihood of debt payment is highly dependent on the adequacy of the issuer's cash and other sources of repayment (liquidity positions).

D) Related Parties' Status and Stance of Support/ Assistance for the Issuer

The likelihood of debt payment is affected one way or the other by the issuer's related parties such as parent company, subsidiary, guarantor, and the government of the issuer's business domicile, etc. - by their own conditions and/ or position of support/ assistance for the issuer.

E) Order of Seniority in Debt Payment

The likelihood of debt payment can be different between given debts of the same issuer. The likelihood of debt payment for an individual debt is dependent on the issuer's discretion, and/ or its rank relative to other debts of the same issuer in the order of seniority in principal/ interest payment which is determined by design as financial product or by laws, etc.

4 The Potential Limitations of the Credit Rating as Required by Paragraph (a)(1)(ii)(D) of Rule 17g-7

- The credit rating herewith presented by JCR is its summary opinion with regard to the likelihood of given debt payment and hence not necessarily a perfect representation of such likelihood. The credit rating is not intended to estimate the probability of default or the loss on given default, either.
- The objective of the credit rating herewith presented does not include any concerns other than the likelihood of debt payment, such as risks of price changes, market liquidity, etc.
- The credit rating herewith presented is necessary to be reviewed along with possible changes of the issuer of rated objects in its business performance and/ or circumstances which include regulatory environment, and hence subject to possible alteration.

Consequently, the credit rating determined on the grounds of such information does not constitute, explicitly or implicitly, any representation or warrant of JCR on the information itself or any consequences of its use in terms of accuracy, relevance, timeliness, wholeness, market value, or usefulness for any specific purposes.

Also, the changes in the quality of asset under the issuer's holding may affect the credit rating, since such changes could raise or lower the likelihood of future loss of the issuer's financial grounds. The resultant alteration of the credit rating is usually by a notch, with possibility of a few notches if and when the change in the financial grounds and/ or asset quality is large.
