

Japan Credit Rating Agency, Ltd. (JCR) announces the following credit rating.

SUMITOMO CHEMICAL COMPANY, LIMITED (security code: 4005)

<Affirmation>

Long-term Issuer Rating: A+
Outlook: Stable
Bonds: A+
Bonds (Dated subordinated bonds): A-Shelf Registration: Preliminary A+
CP: J-1

Rationale

- (1) SUMITOMO CHEMICAL COMPANY, LIMITED (the “Company”) is a major diversified chemical company. Based on organic synthesis technology, the Company develops numerous highly competitive businesses such as pesticides, display materials, and semiconductor materials. Through the fiscal year ended March 2025 (FY2024), short-term intensive performance improvement measures were implemented, including business divestitures and asset streamlining based on the best owner perspective. As a result, it promoted improvements in its business portfolio and balance sheet. In the new medium-term management plan (FY2025 to FY2027), while strengthening the Agro & Life Solutions sector and the ICT & Mobility Solutions sector as growth drivers, the Essential & Green Materials sector and Sumitomo Pharma Co., Ltd. (“Sumitomo Pharma”) will continue structural reforms to enhance the resilience of their business standing.
- (2) The performance has regained stability. Sumitomo Pharma has improved profitability with thorough rationalization and the increased shipments of three core products for North America. Essential & Green Materials still posts losses, but reconstruction measures by Rabigh Refining and Petrochemical Company and the restructuring of the domestic petrochemical business are progressing, clarifying the path toward improved performance. Moreover, there is no significant change in the competitiveness of the main products in the two growth-driving segments. Although the outlook for the business environment remains uncertain, JCR assumes that the Company will be able to maintain an earnings recovery trajectory for the time being, backed by the advancement of the business portfolio, and other efforts. The financial structure has also turned toward improvement, and there is a high possibility that this direction will be maintained over the medium term. Based on the above, JCR has affirmed the ratings on the Company with Stable outlook.
- (3) In FY2024, core operating income was 140.5 billion yen (an operating loss of 149 billion yen in FY2023), and net income was 38.6 billion yen (a net loss of 311.8 billion yen in FY2023), achieving a significant recovery. The Company forecasts core operating income of 150 billion yen for FY2025. ICT & Mobility Solutions is expected to see a decline in profit due to the reactionary effects of early shipments in the previous period, but Agro & Life Solutions will likely contribute steadily to profit with increased overseas pesticide shipments. Additionally, Sumitomo Pharma anticipates higher income from gains related to the transfer of its Asian business. Essential & Green Materials is also expected to reduce its deficit with improved equity method investment gains/losses. Following the previous period, gains from business sales will continue to be recorded, and it is believed that there will be substantial progress in earnings improvement.
- (4) The net D/E ratio (based on equity capital, considering the equity content nature of subordinated bonds) at the end of FY2024 was 0.9x (1.1x at the end of FY2023), which is basically at a sound level. Interest-bearing debt (excluding the equity content of subordinated bonds; the same hereinafter) was in the 1.5 trillion-yen range at the end of FY2023 but was reduced by more than 200 billion yen by the end of FY2024 thanks to the short-term intensive performance improvement measures. The equity attributable to owners of the parent has decreased compared to its peak, but as of the end of FY2024, it remains at a level of about 900 billion yen, indicating a reasonable financial resilience. In the new medium-term management plan, business investments will be limited to the scope of operating cash flow, and the Company continues to plan to cut interest-bearing debt.

The Main Assumptions and Principles used in Constructing the Procedures and Methodologies used to Determine the Credit Rating as Required by Paragraph (a)(1)(ii)(C) of Rule 17g-7

- The credit rating methodology assumes, in principle, to be applied to assess the likelihood of a given debt payment in light of its issuer's condition and business environment, etc. in the relevant future. There is certain limitation, however, in the time horizon that the rating foresees.
- The credit rating methodology assumes, in principle, that the factors posted in the below are particularly important for such likelihood to be determined, and that the rating determination is made by evaluating each of them not only quantitatively but also employing qualitative analyses.

A) Business Bases

The likelihood of a given debt payment is highly conditional to its issuer's business bases - how they can be maintained/ expanded into the future and thereby secure earnings and cash flows in adequacy and in a sustainable way.

B) Financial Grounds and Asset Quality

The likelihood of debt payment is highly dependent on the degree of the issuer's indebtedness and loss absorption capacity in terms of equity capital. Also notable is that a financial institution might see a significant loss of financial grounds as a result of changes in value of the assets under its possession.

C) Liquidity Positions

The likelihood of debt payment is highly dependent on the adequacy of the issuer's cash and other sources of repayment (liquidity positions).

D) Related Parties' Status and Stance of Support/ Assistance for the Issuer

The likelihood of debt payment is affected one way or the other by the issuer's related parties such as parent company, subsidiary, guarantor, and the government of the issuer's business domicile, etc. - by their own conditions and/ or position of support/ assistance for the issuer.

E) Order of Seniority in Debt Payment

The likelihood of debt payment can be different between given debts of the same issuer. The likelihood of debt payment for an individual debt is dependent on the issuer's discretion, and/ or its rank relative to other debts of the same issuer in the order of seniority in principal/ interest payment which is determined by design as financial product or by laws, etc.

4 The Potential Limitations of the Credit Rating as Required by Paragraph (a)(1)(ii)(D) of Rule 17g-7

- The credit rating herewith presented by JCR is its summary opinion with regard to the likelihood of given debt payment and hence not necessarily a perfect representation of such likelihood. The credit rating is not intended to estimate the probability of default or the loss on given default, either.
- The objective of the credit rating herewith presented does not include any concerns other than the likelihood of debt payment, such as risks of price changes, market liquidity, etc.
- The credit rating herewith presented is necessary to be reviewed along with possible changes of the issuer of rated objects in its business performance and/ or circumstances which include regulatory environment, and hence subject to possible alteration.

11 Explanation or Measure of the Potential Volatility of the Credit Rating as Required by Paragraph (a)(1)(ii)(K) of Rule 17g-7

A) Business Bases

The credit rating is subject to alteration if there is improvement or deterioration of the issuer's business bases, since its revenue, etc. may improve or deteriorate by the change in its business management policies, clients' preferences, competitive situation, or a technological innovation. The resultant alteration of the credit rating is usually by a notch, with possibility of a few notches if and when the change in the business bases is large.

B) Financial Grounds and Asset Quality

The credit rating is subject to alteration if the issuer increases/ decreases its debt/ capital or vice versa and thereby makes its individual debt payment liability less or more bearable and its loss absorption capacity into the future decreased or increased. Also, the changes in the quality of asset under the issuer's holding may affect the credit rating, since such changes could raise or lower the likelihood of future loss of the issuer's financial grounds. The resultant alteration of the credit rating is usually by a notch, with possibility of a few notches if and when the change in the financial grounds and/ or asset quality is large.

C) Liquidity Positions

The credit rating is subject to alteration if there is a change in the issuer's financial management policy or in the relations with fund procurement sources and the change thereby makes its liquidity positions improve or deteriorate. The resultant alteration of the credit rating is usually by a notch, with possibility of a few notches if and when the change is large.

D) Related Parties' Status and Stance of Support/ Assistance for the Issuer

The credit rating is subject to alteration if there is a change in the issuer's parent company or subsidiary, guarantor or other provider of credit enhancement, or the government of the issuer's business domicile, or other related parties' own conditions and/ or position of support/ assistance for the issuer, and the change thereby makes its business bases, financial grounds and/ or liquidity positions improve or deteriorate, and/ or making the effectiveness of guarantee and other credit enhancement improve or deteriorate. The resultant alteration of the credit rating is usually a notch, with possibility of a few notches if and when the change is large.

E) Order of Seniority in Debt Payment and Non-Payment Forgiven by Contract

The credit rating is subject to alteration if there is a change in the rated debt's status in the order of seniority relative to other debts caused by the improvement/ deterioration of the issuer's financial condition. The resultant alteration of the credit rating is usually a notch, with possibility of a few notches if and when the change is large. Also, in case of the financial products for which non-payment of interest/ principal is contractually permissible, the credit rating is subject to alteration if and when the likelihood of such non-payment is projected to increase or decrease. The resultant alteration of the credit rating could be by a notch but often as much as a few notches.

F) Rise and Fall in General Economy and Markets

The credit rating is subject to alteration if there is a rise/ fall in the general economy and/ or the markets inducing the issuer's revenues/ expenses to increase/ decrease and vice versa, etc. The resultant alteration of the credit rating is usually by a notch, with possibility of a few notches if and when the change is exceptionally large.

G) Various Events

The credit rating is subject to alteration on occurrence of various events, such as change in the issuer's major shareholders, M&A and other organizational change, accident, violation of the law, litigation, legal/ regulatory change, natural disaster, etc., which are unforeseeable at the time when the credit rating is determined, causing a significant change on the issuer's business bases, financial grounds, etc. The resultant alteration of the credit rating could be by a notch but more often than not as much as a few notches.

Information on the Sensitivity of the Credit Rating to Assumptions Made as Required by Paragraph (a)(1)(ii)(M) of Rule 17g-7

A) Business Bases

The credit rating herewith presented could be changed if and when the assumptions made at the time of its determination turn out to be inaccurate with regard to the issuer's business bases and powers of earning or cash flow generation, etc. The resultant change of the credit rating is most likely by a notch, as JCR speculates, but possibly as much as a few notches if the development is rapid in improvement or deterioration of the issuer's business bases on some drastic change in the operational environments, etc.

B) Financial Grounds and Asset Quality

The credit rating herewith presented could be changed if and when the assumptions made at the time of its determination turn out to be inaccurate with regard to the issuer's financial grounds and asset quality. The resultant change of the credit rating is most likely by a notch, as JCR speculates, but possibly as much as a few notches if the development is rapid in improvement or deterioration of the issuer's financial grounds and/ or asset quality on some drastic change in its business bases.

C) Liquidity Risks

The credit rating herewith presented could be changed if and when the assumptions made at the time of its determination turn out to be inaccurate with regard to the issuer's liquidity positions. The resultant change of the credit rating is most likely by a notch, as JCR speculates, but possibly as much as a few notches if the development is rapid in improvement or deterioration of the issuer's liquidity positions on some drastic change in its financial management policy or relations with fund procurement sources, etc.

D) Order of Seniority in Debt Payment and Non-Payment Forgiven by Contract

The credit rating herewith presented could be changed if and when the assumptions made at the time of its determination turn out to be inaccurate with regard to the order of seniority in repayment of interests and principal. JCR assumes the resultant change of the credit rating is most likely by a notch. The change could be as much as a few notches if the issuer's financial structure differs so much and thereby the balance between debts shifted so greatly. Rating change is also possible in case of the financial products for which non-payment of interest/ principal is contractually permissible, if and when the assumptions made at the time of its determination turns out to be inaccurate. The change of the credit rating is assumed to be by a notch but often as much as a few notches.

E) Rise and Fall in General Economy and Markets

The credit rating herewith presented could be changed if and when the assumptions made at the time of its determination turn out to be inaccurate with regard to the prospects of general economy and markets. JCR expects the change should be most likely by a notch but could be as much as a few notches, should the economy or the markets change so greatly.
