

Japan Credit Rating Agency, Ltd. (JCR) announces the following credit rating.

ASICS Corporation (security code: 7936)

<Affirmation>

Long-term Issuer Rating: A+
Outlook: Stable
Bonds: A+

Rationale

- (1) ASICS Corporation (the "Company") deals in sporting good centering on footwear. The Company enjoys high market share in main markets for its mainstay running shoes for serious runners, which are renowned for high quality and functionality. It has established a diversified business portfolio by operating businesses in the Americas, Europe, Japan, Asia, Oceania, and other areas. Royalty revenue from subsidiaries accounts for majority of its operating revenue. In light of the Group's strong unity in terms of management, human affairs, capital, JCR reflects the Group's overall creditworthiness in rating for the Company.
- (2) The Company's earnings are weakening, affected by changes to distribution structure and consumers' preferences in the United States and Europe. It may take time for earnings to be fully recovered in both regions, but given the firm demands for shoes targeted at serious runners, its core users, and the well diversified portfolio, the earnings are unlikely to be further eroded. Moreover, the financial structure is sound, as evidenced by its sustained net debt-free position. As the Company has maintained the disciplined financial management policy, the financial structure will likely remain sound over the medium run. Taking above into consideration, JCR affirmed the rating and retained the Stable outlook.
- (3) The operating income for the fiscal year ending December 31, 2017 (FY2017) is projected to decline for the second consecutive year since the change in fiscal year-end to 22 billion yen, down 13.6% year-on-year. This drop will be attributable to a shrink in sales to bricks and mortar stores against the backdrop of growing internet retailers which led to bankruptcy and closing of retail chains, and shift of well-selling products in the United States, and also contributed by changes to distribution structure stemmed from emerging major retailers in Europe. Though the Company may not see earnings recovery in the Americas and Europe until the second half of FY2018, it is expected to generate firm earnings for the full FY2018, supported by earnings expansion in Asia region, mainly in China, where people are becoming increasingly health-conscious. In an effort to rebuild the businesses in the Americas and Europe, the Company is currently reforming the products development and sales structures. JCR will watch closely whether earnings will catch up early.
- (4) Its shareholders' equity ratio is high at 58.5% as at end-September 2017. It will make capital investments for opening of directly operated stores and software. That said, in light of its fables management status where it does not require large amount of capital expenditures for production facilities, the free cash flow is expected to stay positive for the time being.

3 The Main Assumptions and Principles used in Constructing the Procedures and Methodologies used to Determine the Credit Rating as Required by Paragraph (a)(1)(ii)(C) of Rule 17g-7

- The credit rating methodology assumes, in principle, to be applied to assess the likelihood of a given debt payment in light of its issuer's condition and business environment, etc. in the relevant future. There is certain limitation, however, in the time horizon that the rating foresees.
- The credit rating methodology assumes, in principle, that the factors posted in the below are particularly important for such likelihood to be determined, and that the rating determination is made by evaluating each of them not only quantitatively but also employing qualitative analyses.

A) Business Bases

The likelihood of a given debt payment is highly conditional to its issuer's business bases - how they can be maintained/ expanded into the future and thereby secure earnings and cash flows in adequacy and in a sustainable way.

B) Financial Grounds and Asset Quality

The likelihood of debt payment is highly dependent on the degree of the issuer's indebtedness and loss absorption capacity in terms of equity capital. Also notable is that a financial institution might see a significant loss of financial grounds as a result of changes in value of the assets under its possession.

C) Liquidity Positions

The likelihood of debt payment is highly dependent on the adequacy of the issuer's cash and other sources of repayment (liquidity positions).

D) Related Parties' Status and Stance of Support/ Assistance for the Issuer

The likelihood of debt payment is affected one way or the other by the issuer's related parties such as parent company, subsidiary, guarantor, and the government of the issuer's business domicile, etc. - by their own conditions and/ or position of support/ assistance for the issuer.

E) Order of Seniority in Debt Payment

The likelihood of debt payment can be different between given debts of the same issuer. The likelihood of debt payment for an individual debt is dependent on the issuer's discretion, and/ or its rank relative to other debts of the same issuer in the order of seniority in principal/ interest payment which is determined by design as financial product or by laws, etc.

The resultant alteration of the credit rating is usually by a notch, with possibility of a few notches if and when the change in the business bases is large.

B) Financial Grounds and Asset Quality

The credit rating is subject to alteration if the issuer increases/ decreases its debt/ capital or vice versa and thereby makes its individual debt payment liability less or more bearable and its loss absorption capacity into the future decreased or increased. Also, the changes in the quality of asset under the issuer's holding may affect the credit rating, since such changes could raise or lower the likelihood of future loss of the issuer's financial grounds. The resultant alteration of the credit rating is usually by a notch, with possibility of a few notches if and when the change in the financial grounds and/ or asset quality is large.

C) Liquidity Positions

The credit rating is subject to alteration if there is a change in the issuer's financial management policy or in the relations with fund procurement sources and the change thereby makes its liquidity positions improve or deteriorate. The resultant alteration of the credit rating is usually a notch, with possibility of a few notches if and when the change is large.

E) Order of Seniority in Debt Payment and Non-Payment Forgiven by Contract

The credit rating is subject to alteration if there is a change in the rated debt's status in the order of seniority relative to other debts caused by the improvement/ deterioration of the issuer's financial condition. The resultant alteration of the credit rating is usually a notch, with possibility of a few notches if and when the change is large. Also, in case of the financial products for which non-payment of interest/ principal is contractually permissible, the credit rating is subject to alteration if and when the likelihood of such non-payment is projected to increase or decrease. F) Rise and Fall in General Economy and Markets

The credit rating is subject to alteration if there is a rise/ fall in the general economy and/ or the markets inducing the issuer's revenues/ expenses to increase/ decrease and vice versa, etc. The resultant alteration of the credit rating is usually by a notch, with possibility of a few notches if and when the change is exceptionally large.
