

Japan Credit Rating Agency, Ltd. (JCR) announces the following credit rating.

DISCO CORPORATION (security code: 6146)

<Affirmation>

Long-term Issuer Rating: AA-
Outlook: Stable

Rationale

- (1) DISCO CORPORATION (the "Company") is a semiconductor production equipment manufacturer specializing in the following three technological areas: Kiru (dicing), Kezuru (grinding) and Migaku (polishing). It boasts overwhelming market shares for both precision processing equipment, such as dicing saws, grinders and polishers, and precision processing tools (consumables) that are installed to such equipment and used as cutting tools. The Company responds to customers' needs by, for instance, conducting processing tests for various materials provided by customers, and, as its strength, is able to provide the customers with optimal combinations of equipment and consumables as well as processing solutions. Consequently, it also successfully retains its customers.
- (2) The Company's recent earnings results have been favorable. Both demand for consumables, which is linked to customers' equipment utilization rate, and demand for equipment, which is linked to customers' capital investments, are robust. Against the backdrop of strong demand for semiconductors, equipment utilization rates at customers, such as semiconductor manufacturers and OSAT (Outsourced Semiconductor Assembly and Test) companies, are trending at high levels, and capital investments are also active. The Company's financial structure is extremely favorable, and it will likely continue in the future. Based on the above, JCR has affirmed the rating on the Company and retained the outlook of Stable.
- (3) Operating income in the fiscal year ended March 2021 (FY2020) reached a record high of 53.1 billion yen (up 45.7% year on year) for the first time in three fiscal years, and the operating income margin approached a record high. Disclosing earnings estimates ahead a quarter in advance, the Company plans an operating income of 58.8 billion yen (up 60.3% year on year) for the first three quarters of FY2021. This is above the level of operating income for the full year of FY2020, and operating income for full FY2021 will highly likely hit a record high for the second consecutive fiscal year. With inquiries of equipment currently not being slowing, the Company remains extremely busy for equipment production. At this point, no significant negative factor is found toward FY2022.
- (4) As a result of accumulation of stable periodic income and so on, the Company's equity capital has expanded, and its equity ratio is at a high level of 76.3% as of the end of FY2020. As the liquidity on hand has improved backed by the increased cash flow generation capability, it has no debts already. The Company's recent capital expenditure has ballooned partly due to investments in factory expansion as well as acquisition of real estate to enhance R&D functions, and it is positive about shareholder returns through dividend payments. That said, the Company's favorable financial structure is unlikely to be impaired.

3 The Main Assumptions and Principles used in Constructing the Procedures and Methodologies used to Determine the Credit Rating as Required by Paragraph (a)(1)(ii)(C) of Rule 17g-7

- The credit rating methodology assumes, in principle, to be applied to assess the likelihood of a given debt payment in light of its issuer's condition and business environment, etc. in the relevant future. There is certain limitation, however, in the time horizon that the rating foresees.
- The credit rating methodology assumes, in principle, that the factors posted in the below are particularly important for such likelihood to be determined, and that the rating determination is made by evaluating each of them not only quantitatively but also employing qualitative analyses.

A) Business Bases

The likelihood of a given debt payment is highly conditional to its issuer's business bases - how they can be maintained/ expanded into the future and thereby secure earnings and cash flows in adequacy and in a sustainable way.

B) Financial Grounds and Asset Quality

The likelihood of debt payment is highly dependent on the degree of the issuer's indebtedness and loss absorption capacity in terms of equity capital. Also notable is that a financial institution might see a significant loss of financial grounds as a result of changes in value of the assets under its possession.

C) Liquidity Positions

The likelihood of debt payment is highly dependent on the adequacy of the issuer's cash and other sources of repayment (liquidity positions).

D) Related Parties' Status and Stance of Support/ Assistance for the Issuer

E) Order of Seniority in Debt Payment

The likelihood of debt payment can be different between given debts of the same issuer. The likelihood of debt payment for an individual debt is dependent on the issuer's discretion, and/ or its rank relative to other debts of the same issuer in the order of seniority in principal/ interest payment which is determined by design as financial product or by laws, etc.

4 The Potential Limitations of the Credit Rating as Required by Paragraph (a)(1)(ii)(D) of Rule 17g-7

Also, the changes in the quality of asset under the issuer's holding may affect the credit rating, since such changes could raise or lower the likelihood of future loss of the issuer's financial grounds. The resultant alteration of the credit rating is usually by a notch, with possibility of a few notches if and when the change in the financial grounds and/ or asset quality is large.

C) Liquidity Positions

The resultant alteration of the credit rating is usually a notch, with possibility of a few notches if and when the change is large.

The credit rating is subject to alteration if there is a rise/ fall in the general economy and/ or the markets inducing the issuer's revenues/ expenses to increase/ decrease and vice versa, etc. The resultant alteration of the credit rating is usually by a notch, with possibility of a few notches if and when the change is exceptionally large.
