

Japan Credit Rating Agency, Ltd. (JCR) announces the following credit rating.

THE TAIKO BANK, LTD. (security code: 8537)

<Affirmation>

Long-term Issuer Rating: A-
Outlook: Stable

Rationale

- (1) THE TAIKO BANK, LTD. (the "Bank") is a regional bank II headquartered in Nagaoka City, Niigata Prefecture with total funds of 1.4 trillion yen. The Bank ranks second in the prefecture with a 10% market share in terms of deposits and loans. A reasonable level of capital adequacy and relatively favorable loan asset quality are supporting the rating. JCR regards a low basic earnings capacity as an issue to address for its rating and will pay attention to the degree of improvement going forward. Another point is the level at which the core capital ratio can be maintained amid anticipated increases in risk-weighted assets in loans and securities investment.
- (2) The core net business income (excluding gains on cancellation of investment trusts, etc. ; the same applies hereafter), had been on a long-term downward trend, but turned around after hitting the latest bottom in the fiscal year ended March 2020 (FY2019). Behind this there was support by active implementation of government directed credits related to COVID-19 pandemic, as well as contribution from cost reductions. However, given that ROA (based on core net business income) in FY2020 was in the low range between 0.10% and 0.15%, to strengthen earnings capacity remains an issue to address. Looking ahead, although downward pressure on revenues such as a decline in loan yield is expected to remain, the impact would be mitigated to a considerable extent by cost reductions through review of the branch network and optimization of the number of employees. JCR will pay attention to whether the Bank can increase earnings capacity by accumulating highly profitable loans the Bank is focusing on and strengthening its fee business.
- (3) The quality of loan assets is relatively favorable. In FY2020, other borrowers requiring caution increased, but the unsecured portion did not grow much. There is no significant change in the amount of claims disclosed under the Financial Reconstruction Act, and the ratio of disclosed claims is contained at 1.7%. In addition, its loan portfolio is well diversified into small lots and various industries, and credit costs have been restrained relative to loans outstanding through such comparatively conservative credit management. However, attention should be paid to future trends in credit costs, including the impact of the COVID-19 pandemic.
- (4) There is no problem with the status of risk-taking in securities investments. Although the ratio of securities to deposits is somewhat high, the quantity of risk of interest rate and stock price fluctuations is not large relative to capital. The Bank plans to cover the income decline caused by bond redemptions by reinvesting in investment trusts, etc., but the increase in the quantity of risk associated with this will not be excessive in JCR's view.
- (5) The consolidated core capital ratio after adjusting for provision for bad debts was around 8.5% at the end of March 2021, which was in the level comparable to that of regional banks with A- rating. However, JCR believes that going forward risk-weighted assets may increase due to expansion of the outstanding balance of proper loans (loans without credit guarantee through a credit guarantee organization) to SMEs and investment trusts, which may have downward pressure on the core capital ratio.

3 The Main Assumptions and Principles used in Constructing the Procedures and Methodologies used to Determine the Credit Rating as Required by Paragraph (a)(1)(ii)(C) of Rule 17g-7

- The credit rating methodology assumes, in principle, to be applied to assess the likelihood of a given debt payment in light of its issuer's condition and business environment, etc. in the relevant future. There is certain limitation, however, in the time horizon that the rating foresees.
- The credit rating methodology assumes, in principle, that the factors posted in the below are particularly important for such likelihood to be determined, and that the rating determination is made by evaluating each of them not only quantitatively but also employing qualitative analyses.

A) Business Bases

The likelihood of a given debt payment is highly conditional to its issuer's business bases - how they can be maintained/ expanded into the future and thereby secure earnings and cash flows in adequacy and in a sustainable way.

B) Financial Grounds and Asset Quality

The likelihood of debt payment is highly dependent on the degree of the issuer's indebtedness and loss absorption capacity in terms of equity capital. Also notable is that a financial institution might see a significant loss of financial grounds as a result of changes in value of the assets under its possession.

C) Liquidity Positions

The likelihood of debt payment is highly dependent on the adequacy of the issuer's cash and other sources of repayment (liquidity positions).

D) Related Parties' Status and Stance of Support/ Assistance for the Issuer

The likelihood of debt payment is affected one way or the other by the issuer's related parties such as parent company, subsidiary, guarantor, and the government of the issuer's business domicile, etc. - by their own conditions and/ or position of support/ assistance for the issuer.

E) Order of Seniority in Debt Payment

The likelihood of debt payment can be different between given debts of the same issuer. The likelihood of debt payment for an individual debt is dependent on the issuer's discretion, and/ or its rank relative to other debts of the same issuer in the order of seniority in principal/ interest payment which is determined by design as financial product or by laws, etc.

The credit rating is subject to alteration if the issuer increases/ decreases its debt/ capital or vice versa and thereby makes its individual debt payment liability less or more bearable and its loss absorption capacity into the future decreased or increased. Also, the changes in the quality of asset under the issuer's holding may affect the credit rating, since such changes could raise or lower the likelihood of future loss of the issuer's financial grounds. The resultant alteration of the credit rating is usually by a notch, with possibility of a few notches if and when the change in the financial grounds and/ or asset quality is large.
