

Japan Credit Rating Agency, Ltd. (JCR) announces the following credit rating.

AEON KYUSHU CO., LTD. (security code: 2653)

<Affirmation>

Long-term Issuer Rating: A
Outlook: Stable
CP: J-1

Rationale

- (1) AEON KYUSHU CO., LTD. (the "Company") is the regional subsidiary of AEON Group in the Kyushu region and a consolidated subsidiary of AEON CO., LTD. ("AEON"; 74.92% voting rights at the end of the fiscal period ended February 2025). The Company operates supermarkets (SM), discount stores (DS), general merchandise stores (GMS), home centers (HC), etc. and ranks among the top in terms of sales in the Kyushu region. As of the end of November 2025, the numbers of stores are as follows: SM 162, DS 28, GMS 67, HC 32, Drug & Food 16, and other stores 43. The Company is actively opening stores, such as Welcia Plus, which combines a drugstore with a pharmacy and a supermarket, and MaxValu Express, a small supermarket in urban areas. In addition, the Company acquired Joyful Sun Alpha (Nagasaki Prefecture) in July 2025 and plans to make Tokiwa Industry (Oita Prefecture) a subsidiary in March 2026, thereby strengthening its dominant market position in the Kyushu area through M&A.
- (2) There has been no change in JCR's assessment that the Company's strategic/functional importance within the parent company group is high. In creating an AEON Living Area as outlined in the Group's medium-term management plan for the period from the fiscal year ended February 2022 (FY2021) to FY2025, the Company is working to provide products, services and lifestyle infrastructure that are rooted in the local community. The Company, which is at the core of the GMS and SM businesses in the Kyushu region, plays a very important role in realizing the growth strategy of the entire group. In light of the above, the long-term issuer rating of the Company is at the same level as AEON's group creditworthiness.
- (3) For FY2025, the Company plans to achieve operating revenue of 551 billion yen (up 3.6% year on year) and operating profit of 10.6 billion yen (up 0.6% year on year), indicating increases in both revenue and profit. Amid continued price increases, mainly for food items, the Company's recent same-store sales have generally exceeded those of the previous year, supported by product initiatives aligned with changes in consumer behavior and large-scale promotions such as Black Friday. Furthermore, initiatives to improve productivity and operational efficiency through the DX investments and labor-saving investments are also expected to contribute. Going forward, in addition to the expansion of Welcia Plus and MaxValu Express stores, attention will be focused on whether the Company can enhance its earnings capacity by generating synergies with the companies it has acquired.
- (4) The equity ratio at the end of the third quarter of FY2025 was 26.9% (30.6% at end-FY2024), remaining at a steady level. It is expected that the Company will continue to incur financial burdens associated with proactive growth investments, such as opening new stores and remodeling existing ones. However, JCR believes that concerns about a significant deterioration in financial soundness are limited, as equity capital is expected to increase through the Company's cash flow generation capacity and the steady accumulation of profits.

3

The Main Assumptions and Principles used in Constructing the Procedures and Methodologies used to Determine the Credit Rating as Required by Paragraph (a)(1)(ii)(C) of Rule 17g-7

- The credit rating methodology assumes, in principle, to be applied to assess the likelihood of a given debt payment in light of its issuer's condition and business environment, etc. in the relevant future. There is certain limitation, however, in the time horizon that the rating foresees.
- The credit rating methodology assumes, in principle, that the factors posted in the below are particularly important for such likelihood to be determined, and that the rating determination is made by evaluating each of them not only quantitatively but also employing qualitative analyses.

A) Business Bases

The likelihood of a given debt payment is highly conditional to its issuer's business bases - how they can be maintained/ expanded into the future and thereby secure earnings and cash flows in adequacy and in a sustainable way.

B) Financial Grounds and Asset Quality

The likelihood of debt payment is highly dependent on the degree of the issuer's indebtedness and loss absorption capacity in terms of equity capital. Also notable is that a financial institution might see a significant loss of financial grounds as a result of changes in value of the assets under its possession.

C) Liquidity Positions

The likelihood of debt payment is highly dependent on the adequacy of the issuer's cash and other sources of repayment (liquidity positions).

D) Related Parties' Status and Stance of Support/ Assistance for the Issuer

The likelihood of debt payment is affected one way or the other by the issuer's related parties such as parent company, subsidiary, guarantor, and the government of the issuer's business domicile, etc. - by their own conditions and/ or position of support/ assistance for the issuer.

E) Order of Seniority in Debt Payment

The likelihood of debt payment can be different between given debts of the same issuer. The likelihood of debt payment for an individual debt is dependent on the issuer's discretion, and/ or its rank relative to other debts of the same issuer in the order of seniority in principal/ interest payment which is determined by design as financial product or by laws, etc.

4 The Potential Limitations of the Credit Rating as Required by Paragraph (a)(1)(ii)(D) of Rule 17g-7

- The credit rating herewith presented by JCR is its summary opinion with regard to the likelihood of given debt payment and hence not necessarily a perfect representation of such likelihood. The credit rating is not intended to estimate the probability of default or the loss on given default, either.
- The objective of the credit rating herewith presented does not include any concerns other than the likelihood of debt payment, such as risks of price changes, market liquidity, etc.
- The credit rating herewith presented is necessary to be reviewed along with possible changes of the issuer of rated objects in its business performance and/ or circumstances which include regulatory environment, and hence subject to possible alteration.

Consequently, the credit rating determined on the grounds of such information does not constitute, explicitly or implicitly, any representation or warrant of JCR on the information itself or any consequences of its use in terms of accuracy, relevance, timeliness, wholeness, market value, or usefulness for any specific purposes.

11 Explanation or Measure of the Potential Volatility of the Credit Rating as Required by Paragraph (a)(1)(ii)(K) of Rule 17g-7

A) Business Bases

The credit rating is subject to alteration if there is improvement or deterioration of the issuer's business bases, since its revenue, etc. may improve or deteriorate by the change in its business management policies, clients' preferences, competitive situation, or a technological innovation. The resultant alteration of the credit rating is usually by a notch, with possibility of a few notches if and when the change in the business bases is large.

B) Financial Grounds and Asset Quality

The credit rating is subject to alteration if the issuer increases/ decreases its debt/ capital or vice versa and thereby makes its individual debt payment liability less or more bearable and its loss absorption capacity into the future decreased or increased. Also, the changes in the quality of asset under the issuer's holding may affect the credit rating, since such changes could raise or lower the likelihood of future loss of the issuer's financial grounds. The resultant alteration of the credit rating is usually by a notch, with possibility of a few notches if and when the change in the financial grounds and/ or asset quality is large.

C) Liquidity Positions

The credit rating is subject to alteration if there is a change in the issuer's financial management policy or in the relations with fund procurement sources and the change thereby makes its liquidity positions improve or deteriorate. The resultant alteration of the credit rating is usually by a notch, with possibility of a few notches if and when the change is large.

D) Related Parties' Status and Stance of Support/ Assistance for the Issuer

The credit rating is subject to alteration if there is a change in the issuer's parent company or subsidiary, guarantor or other provider of credit enhancement, or the government of the issuer's business domicile, or other related parties' own conditions and/ or position of support/ assistance for the issuer, and the change thereby makes its business bases, financial grounds and/ or liquidity positions improve or deteriorate, and/ or making the effectiveness of guarantee and other credit enhancement improve or deteriorate. The resultant alteration of the credit rating is usually a notch, with possibility of a few notches if and when the change is large.

E) Order of Seniority in Debt Payment and Non-Payment Forgiven by Contract

The credit rating is subject to alteration if there is a change in the rated debt's status in the order of seniority relative to other debts caused by the improvement/ deterioration of the issuer's financial condition. The resultant alteration of the credit rating is usually a notch, with possibility of a few notches if and when the change is large. Also, in case of the financial products for which non-payment of interest/ principal is contractually permissible, the credit rating is subject to alteration if and when the likelihood of such non-payment is projected to increase or decrease. The resultant alteration of the credit rating could be by a notch but often as much as a few notches.

F) Rise and Fall in General Economy and Markets

The credit rating is subject to alteration if there is a rise/ fall in the general economy and/ or the markets inducing the issuer's revenues/ expenses to increase/ decrease and vice versa, etc. The resultant alteration of the credit rating is usually by a notch, with possibility of a few notches if and when the change is exceptionally large.

G) Various Events

The credit rating is subject to alteration on occurrence of various events, such as change in the issuer's major shareholders, M&A and other organizational change, accident, violation of the law, litigation, legal/ regulatory change, natural disaster, etc., which are unforeseeable at the time when the credit rating is determined, causing a significant change on the issuer's business bases, financial grounds, etc. The resultant alteration of the credit rating could be by a notch but more often than not as much as a few notches.
