

Japan Credit Rating Agency, Ltd. (JCR) announces the following credit rating.

WARABEYA NICHIO HOLDINGS CO., LTD. (security code: 2918)

<Affirmation>

Long-term Issuer Rating: BBB+

Outlook: Stable

Rationale

- (1) WARABEYA NICHIO HOLDINGS CO., LTD. (the “Company”) is a holding company. Under the umbrella, it has companies including Warabeya Nichio Foods Co., Ltd., which manufactures and sells fast foods, such as bento meal boxes, onigiri rice balls and prepared foods, primarily for convenience stores (CVS). The main customer is the nation’s largest CVS operator, Seven-Eleven Japan Co., Ltd. (“Seven-Eleven”). The Company possesses a high-level expertise in product development, manufacturing technology, quality and sanitary control, etc. and is a core vendor supporting Seven-Eleven’s home meal replacement business. Given the Company’s strong governance over the group companies and solid unity with them, JCR reflects the group’s overall creditworthiness in the Company’s rating.
- (2) The Company’s earnings capacity has improved from the past as the initiatives the Company intensively worked on in recent years, such as strict product standard control and reconstruction of production system, have yielded positive results. While higher costs, including raw material prices and utility expenses, are concerned for the factors squeezing profits, JCR sees the Company’s profits are expected to be still steady in the future through continuing review on product standard and cost reduction activities. In recent years, the Company’s earnings base has been expanding overseas, indicating that regional diversification of the businesses in the portfolio is gradually in progress. As for the financial perspective, financial structure is maintained at a sound level while interest-bearing debt is increasing for the funds investing in a new plant in Virginia. Based on the above, JCR has affirmed the rating on the Company with Stable outlook.
- (3) For the fiscal year ending February 2023 (FY2022), the Company projects a net sales of 195.0 billion, up 1.4% over the year, and an operating income of 4.8 billion yen, up 8.1% over the year. Due partly to the effects of various measures focusing on profitability, profits are expected to increase for four consecutive fiscal years after FY2019. On the other hand, since changes in lifestyle and consumer demand are observed, transformation of the products in the portfolio is increasingly necessary. Going forward, the Company intends to enhance the production capacity of chilled rice products and sweets. JCR will watch whether it can continuously grow the performance over the medium term as well through stimulating consumers’ appetite for purchasing products it offers. Overseas, the new plant in Virginia is scheduled to commence the operation in 2023. JCR will watch whether the overall profit level will rise as the operation goes into full swing.
- (4) The equity ratio as of the end of the second quarter of FY2022 was 54.4% (57.9% as of the end of FY2021). Financial indicators remained at good levels. Over the 3 years through FY2024, the Company plans to invest more than 25 billion yen in the new plant in Virginia, among others, and interest-bearing debt is expected to remain at a higher level than that in the past. Despite the fact, financial soundness will unlikely be impaired since the amount of equity capital will also increase in association with profit accumulation.

The Main Assumptions and Principles used in Constructing the Procedures and Methodologies used to Determine the Credit Rating as Required by Paragraph (a)(1)(ii)(C) of Rule 17g-7

- The credit rating methodology assumes, in principle, to be applied to assess the likelihood of a given debt payment in light of its issuer's condition and business environment, etc. in the relevant future. There is certain limitation, however, in the time horizon that the rating foresees.
- The credit rating methodology assumes, in principle, that the factors posted in the below are particularly important for such likelihood to be determined, and that the rating determination is made by evaluating each of them not only quantitatively but also employing qualitative analyses.

A) Business Bases

The likelihood of a given debt payment is highly conditional to its issuer's business bases - how they can be maintained/ expanded into the future and thereby secure earnings and cash flows in adequacy and in a sustainable way.

B) Financial Grounds and Asset Quality

The likelihood of debt payment is highly dependent on the degree of the issuer's indebtedness and loss absorption capacity in terms of equity capital. Also notable is that a financial institution might see a significant loss of financial grounds as a result of changes in value of the assets under its possession.

C) Liquidity Positions

The likelihood of debt payment is highly dependent on the adequacy of the issuer's cash and other sources of repayment (liquidity positions).

D) Related Parties' Status and Stance of Support/ Assistance for the Issuer

The likelihood of debt payment is affected one way or the other by the issuer's related parties such as parent company, subsidiary, guarantor, and the government of the issuer's business domicile, etc. - by their own conditions and/ or position of support/ assistance for the issuer.

E) Order of Seniority in Debt Payment

The likelihood of debt payment can be different between given debts of the same issuer. The likelihood of debt payment for an individual debt is dependent on the issuer's discretion, and/ or its rank relative to other debts of the same issuer in the order of seniority in principal/ interest payment which is determined by design as financial product or by laws, etc.

4 The Potential Limitations of the Credit Rating as Required by Paragraph (a)(1)(ii)(D) of Rule 17g-7

- The credit rating herewith presented by JCR is its summary opinion with regard to the likelihood of given debt payment and hence not necessarily a perfect representation of such likelihood. The credit rating is not intended to estimate the probability of default or the loss on given default, either.
- The objective of the credit rating herewith presented does not include any concerns other than the likelihood of debt payment, such as risks of price changes, market liquidity, etc.
- The credit rating herewith presented is necessary to be reviewed along with possible changes of the issuer of rated objects in its business performance and/ or circumstances which include regulatory environment, and hence subject to possible alteration.

5 Information on the Uncertainty of the Credit Rating as Required by Paragraph (a)(1)(ii)(E) of Rule 17g-7

Consequently, the credit rating determined on the grounds of such information does not constitute, explicitly or implicitly, any representation or warrant of JCR on the information itself or any consequences of its use in terms of accuracy, relevance, timeliness, wholeness, market value, or usefulness for any specific purposes.

11 Explanation or Measure of the Potential Volatility of the Credit Rating as Required by Paragraph (a)(1)(ii)(K) of Rule 17g-7

A) Business Bases

The credit rating is subject to alteration if there is improvement or deterioration of the issuer's business bases, since its revenue, etc. may improve or deteriorate by the change in its business management policies, clients' preferences, competitive situation, or a technological innovation. The resultant alteration of the credit rating is usually by a notch, with possibility of a few notches if and when the change in the business bases is large.

B) Financial Grounds and Asset Quality

The credit rating is subject to alteration if the issuer increases/ decreases its debt/ capital or vice versa and thereby makes its individual debt payment liability less or more bearable and its loss absorption capacity into the future decreased or increased. Also, the changes in the quality of asset under the issuer's holding may affect the credit rating, since such changes could raise or lower the likelihood of future loss of the issuer's financial grounds. The resultant alteration of the credit rating is usually by a notch, with possibility of a few notches if and when the change in the financial grounds and/ or asset quality is large.

C) Liquidity Positions

The credit rating is subject to alteration if there is a change in the issuer's financial management policy or in the relations with fund procurement sources and the change thereby makes its liquidity positions improve or deteriorate. The resultant alteration of the credit rating is usually by a notch, with possibility of a few notches if and when the change is large.

D) Related Parties' Status and Stance of Support/ Assistance for the Issuer

The credit rating is subject to alteration if there is a change in the issuer's parent company or subsidiary, guarantor or other provider of credit enhancement, or the government of the issuer's business domicile, or other related parties' own conditions and/ or position of support/ assistance for the issuer, and the change thereby makes its business bases, financial grounds and/ or liquidity positions improve or deteriorate, and/ or making the effectiveness of guarantee and other credit enhancement improve or deteriorate. The resultant alteration of the credit rating is usually a notch, with possibility of a few notches if and when the change is large.

E) Order of Seniority in Debt Payment and Non-Payment Forgiven by Contract

The credit rating is subject to alteration if there is a change in the rated debt's status in the order of seniority relative to other debts caused by the improvement/ deterioration of the issuer's financial condition. The resultant alteration of the credit rating is usually a notch, with possibility of a few notches if and when the change is large. Also, in case of the financial products for which non-payment of interest/ principal is contractually permissible, the credit rating is subject to alteration if and when the likelihood of such non-payment is projected to increase or decrease. The resultant alteration of the credit rating could be by a notch but often as much as a few notches.

F) Rise and Fall in General Economy and Markets

The credit rating is subject to alteration if there is a rise/ fall in the general economy and/ or the markets inducing the issuer's revenues/ expenses to increase/ decrease and vice versa, etc. The resultant alteration of the credit rating is usually by a notch, with possibility of a few notches if and when the change is exceptionally large.

G) Various Events

The credit rating is subject to alteration on occurrence of various events, such as change in the issuer's major shareholders, M&A and other organizational change, accident, violation of the law, litigation, legal/ regulatory change, natural disaster, etc., which are unforeseeable at the time when the credit rating is determined, causing a significant change on the issuer's business bases, financial grounds, etc. The resultant alteration of the credit rating could be by a notch but more often than not as much as a few notches.
