

Japan Credit Rating Agency, Ltd. (JCR) announces the following credit rating.

Sankyo Tateyama, Inc. (security code: 5932)

<Affirmation>

Long-term Issuer Rating: BBB-
Outlook: Stable

Rationale

- (1) Sankyo Tateyama, Inc. (the "Company") is a major sash manufacturer. The construction materials business, which handles its mainstay aluminum sashes, has strength in sales channels to distribution agents. The Company also operates the materials business dealing in aluminum billets and extrusions, and the commercial facilities business dealing in fixtures, signages, etc. for retail stores. Through acquisition of aluminum businesses in Europe and Thailand in 2015, the Company expanded business overseas in earnest. In January 2026, the Company announced the revenue structural reforms for the construction materials business and the subsidiaries in Europe addressing deterioration in performance.
- (2) On the back of sluggish demand of new housing and soaring aluminum ingot prices, the business environment continues to be difficult. Certain revenue improvement effects can be expected as the Company is working on indirect cost reductions and improving efficiency of the structures of the organization/operation in addition to the structural reforms in the construction materials business in Japan and the subsidiaries in Europe. That said, attention is required for risks that the effects of these measures may be offset by soaring prices of aluminum ingot, the main raw material, in response to the Middle East situation. Since it is assumed that the financial structure will remain at a current level, there is room for observing progress in the performance recovery. Based on the above, JCR has affirmed the rating on the Company with a Stable outlook.
- (3) Operating income for the fiscal year ended May 2026 (FY2026) is projected to decrease 35.3% from the previous fiscal year to 1.0 billion yen. For FY2027, it assumes that operating income will recover up to 7.0 billion yen, expecting an effect of boosting profit of 11.5 billion yen compared to FY2025. That said, downward pressure on revenues has become stronger responding to soaring aluminum ingot prices. For this reason, it is considered that prompt realization of the effect of the structural reforms is important in addition to steady execution of measures of the reforms.
- (4) While controlling capital investment, the financial level remains stable as shown that the equity ratio at the end of the third quarter of FY2026 was 31.2%. In the Medium-Term Management Plan (FY2025-FY2027), the Company made a downward revision to the capital investment amount from the initial plan of approximately 70 billion yen to approximately 49 billion yen in light of declined cash flow generation capacity. Furthermore, the Company is also working on improving the asset efficiency through selling stocks and real estate as well as curbing interest-bearing debt.

The Main Assumptions and Principles used in Constructing the Procedures and Methodologies used to Determine the Credit Rating as Required by Paragraph (a)(1)(ii)(C) of Rule 17g-7

- The credit rating methodology assumes, in principle, to be applied to assess the likelihood of a given debt payment in light of its issuer's condition and business environment, etc. in the relevant future. There is certain limitation, however, in the time horizon that the rating foresees.
- The credit rating methodology assumes, in principle, that the factors posted in the below are particularly important for such likelihood to be determined, and that the rating determination is made by evaluating each of them not only quantitatively but also employing qualitative analyses.

A) Business Bases

The likelihood of a given debt payment is highly conditional to its issuer's business bases - how they can be maintained/ expanded into the future and thereby secure earnings and cash flows in adequacy and in a sustainable way.

B) Financial Grounds and Asset Quality

The likelihood of debt payment is highly dependent on the degree of the issuer's indebtedness and loss absorption capacity in terms of equity capital. Also notable is that a financial institution might see a significant loss of financial grounds as a result of changes in value of the assets under its possession.

C) Liquidity Positions

The likelihood of debt payment is highly dependent on the adequacy of the issuer's cash and other sources of repayment (liquidity positions).

D) Related Parties' Status and Stance of Support/ Assistance for the Issuer

The likelihood of debt payment is affected one way or the other by the issuer's related parties such as parent company, subsidiary, guarantor, and the government of the issuer's business domicile, etc. - by their own conditions and/ or position of support/ assistance for the issuer.

E) Order of Seniority in Debt Payment

The likelihood of debt payment can be different between given debts of the same issuer. The likelihood of debt payment for an individual debt is dependent on the issuer's discretion, and/ or its rank relative to other debts of the same issuer in the order of seniority in principal/ interest payment which is determined by design as financial product or by laws, etc.

4 The Potential Limitations of the Credit Rating as Required by Paragraph (a)(1)(ii)(D) of Rule 17g-7

- The credit rating herewith presented by JCR is its summary opinion with regard to the likelihood of given debt payment and hence not necessarily a perfect representation of such likelihood. The credit rating is not intended to estimate the probability of default or the loss on given default, either.
- The objective of the credit rating herewith presented does not include any concerns other than the likelihood of debt payment, such as risks of price changes, market liquidity, etc.
- The credit rating herewith presented is necessary to be reviewed along with possible changes of the issuer of rated objects in its business performance and/ or circumstances which include regulatory environment, and hence subject to possible alteration.

Also, the changes in the quality of asset under the issuer's holding may affect the credit rating, since such changes could raise or lower the likelihood of future loss of the issuer's financial grounds.
