

Japan Credit Rating Agency, Ltd. (JCR) announces the following credit rating.

Procrea Holdings, Inc. (security code: 7384)

<Affirmation>

Long-term Issuer Rating: A-
Outlook: Stable

Aomori Michinoku Bank, Ltd. (security code: -)

<Affirmation>

Long-term Issuer Rating: A-
Outlook: Stable

Rationale

- (1) The Procrea Group (the “Group”) is a regional financial group having Aomori Michinoku Bank, Ltd. (the “Bank”) and others under the umbrella of the holding company of Procrea Holdings, Inc. (“Procrea HD”). The Bank was inaugurated in January 2025 through the merger between the former Aomori Bank, Ltd. and the former MICHINOKU BANK, LTD. The fund volume is one of the largest in the Tohoku region, 5.3 trillion yen, and exhibits overwhelmingly high local presence with the shares of over 70% for deposits and loans in Aomori Prefecture.
- (2) JCR deems the Group’s creditworthiness to be equivalent to the A- rating. The business foundation in the hometown is robust and the loan asset quality is being maintained by and large. Risk exposure of the market division is also held down to a certain degree. Strengthening the fundamental earning capacity and an improvement in the core capital level are the issues to be addressed, but JCR views that both may be improved by the synergy effects to be created in full swing after the integration, and other factors, thereby determining the rating outlook to be Stable. JCR will watch the progress toward this end.
- (3) There is room for improvement in the earning capacity for a regional financial institution in the A categories. For the fiscal year ended March 2025, core net business income (excluding gains and losses on the cancellation of investment trusts and integration-related expenses) made a relatively large increase. A decrease in fees and commissions, and deteriorated loan-deposit income were offset by earnings of deposit and bonds investment. ROA (based on core net business income) has increased to the middle of 0.1%-range but is still at a low level. Interest on deposits appears to make a relatively large increase in the future as well. Fundamental earning capacity will be strengthened also through cost synergy coming up full swing, in JCR’s view.
- (4) Loan asset quality has been maintained by and large. Non-performing loans ratio under the Financial Reconstruction Act has been hovering around 1.5%. This ratio is still low after considering the fact that large amounts of loans are extended to public entities, and the ratio of credits categorized other than the normal one to the total credit is also low. Credit cost ratio has been low. That said, loss-absorbing capacity based on the core net business income is low and attention needs to be paid to the future trend in credit cost where business condition of large borrowers and others are also considered.
- (5) Risk-taking activities in the market division has been held down to a certain degree. The Bank has considerable exposure to price fluctuation risk for investment trusts, but the balance of holdings was largely reduced in the last few years. Duration of yen-denominated ones is short and the exposure to interest rate risk against the equity capital is small. In response to rising domestic interest rates, valuation loss has been expanding mainly for bonds, but the Bank has been advancing the reduction in assets with valuation losses.
- (6) Capital adequacy against the rating is somewhat low. The Group’s consolidated adjusted core capital ratio has risen to the upper 7%-range, but this is largely attributable to the effect of reduction in risk weighted-assets due to application of Basel III finalization. Going forward, in addition to the full implementation of Basel III, an expansion of loan and investment balance appears to push up risk assets. Therefore, JCR will continue to pay attention to whether capital levels can be further increased.

Issuer: Procrea Holdings, Inc.

Procrea HD is the financial holding company of the Group. Its issuer rating is deemed to be at the same level as the Group's creditworthiness. JCR has not reflected the holding company's structural subordination because the double leverage ratio remains below a certain level and stability of the cash flow balance appear to be maintained into the future considering the financial management policy and others.

Issuer: Aomori Michinoku Bank, Ltd.

The Bank is a regional bank headquartered in Aomori City with a fund volume of 5.3 trillion yen. It has a market share of over 70% for deposits and loans in the prefecture. The issuer rating is deemed to be at the same level as the Group's creditworthiness considering the Bank's core position in the Group and other factors.

3

The Main Assumptions and Principles used in Constructing the Procedures and Methodologies used to Determine the Credit Rating as Required by Paragraph (a)(1)(ii)(C) of Rule 17g-7

- The credit rating methodology assumes, in principle, to be applied to assess the likelihood of a given debt payment in light of its issuer's condition and business environment, etc. in the relevant future. There is certain limitation, however, in the time horizon that the rating foresees.
- The credit rating methodology assumes, in principle, that the factors posted in the below are particularly important for such likelihood to be determined, and that the rating determination is made by evaluating each of them not only quantitatively but also employing qualitative analyses.

A) Business Bases

The likelihood of a given debt payment is highly conditional to its issuer's business bases - how they can be maintained/ expanded into the future and thereby secure earnings and cash flows in adequacy and in a sustainable way.

B) Financial Grounds and Asset Quality

The likelihood of debt payment is highly dependent on the degree of the issuer's indebtedness and loss absorption capacity in terms of equity capital. Also notable is that a financial institution might see a significant loss of financial grounds as a result of changes in value of the assets under its possession.

C) Liquidity Positions

The likelihood of debt payment is highly dependent on the adequacy of the issuer's cash and other sources of repayment (liquidity positions).

D) Related Parties' Status and Stance of Support/ Assistance for the Issuer

The likelihood of debt payment is affected one way or the other by the issuer's related parties such as parent company, subsidiary, guarantor, and the government of the issuer's business domicile, etc. - by their own conditions and/ or position of support/ assistance for the issuer.

E) Order of Seniority in Debt Payment

The likelihood of debt payment can be different between given debts of the same issuer. The likelihood of debt payment for an individual debt is dependent on the issuer's discretion, and/ or its rank relative to other debts of the same issuer in the order of seniority in principal/ interest payment which is determined by design as financial product or by laws, etc.

4 The Potential Limitations of the Credit Rating as Required by Paragraph (a)(1)(ii)(D) of Rule 17g-7

- The credit rating herewith presented by JCR is its summary opinion with regard to the likelihood of given debt payment and hence not necessarily a perfect representation of such likelihood. The credit rating is not intended to estimate the probability of default or the loss on given default, either.
- The objective of the credit rating herewith presented does not include any concerns other than the likelihood of debt payment, such as risks of price changes, market liquidity, etc.
- The credit rating herewith presented is necessary to be reviewed along with possible changes of the issuer of rated objects in its business performance and/ or circumstances which include regulatory environment, and hence subject to possible alteration.

The resultant alteration of the credit rating is usually a notch, with possibility of a few notches if and when the change is large.

E) Order of Seniority in Debt Payment and Non-Payment Forgiven by Contract
