

Japan Credit Rating Agency, Ltd. (JCR) announces the following credit rating.

SEIBU HOLDINGS INC. (security code: 9024)

<Affirmation>

Long-term Issuer Rating:	A-
Outlook:	Positive
Bonds:	A-
Shelf Registration:	Preliminary A-

Rationale

- (1) SEIBU HOLDINGS INC. (the “Company”) is the pure holding company of Seibu Group. The group is engaged in Real Estate business, Hotel & Leisure business, Urban Transportation & Regional business, etc. The Company has strong unity with the group companies in terms of management, capital and financing, and the ratings reflect its overall creditworthiness. With a view to strengthening corporate governance, etc., the Company acquired additional shares in NW Corporation in August and September 2024, making it a consolidated subsidiary. The Company also aims to liquidate Tokyo Garden Terrace Kioicho in the fiscal year ending March 2025 (FY2024). Large-scale redevelopment projects are planned for the Takanawa/Shinagawa area, the Shibakoen area, and the Seibu Shinjuku/Takadanobaba area, but construction will likely begin in or after the second half of the 2020s.
- (2) The business performance has been recovering after the COVID-19 pandemic. For the time being, the Company will likely maintain the high cash flow generation capacity due to factors such as a steady trend in the number of railway passengers, improvement in hotel occupancy rates and average daily rates driven by increasing inbound tourists, and revenue contribution from Emi Terrace Tokorozawa (opened in September 2024). The policy of maximizing real estate value through liquidation and reinvestment in the mid to long term can be positively evaluated. On the other hand, the scale of capital investment in the recently announced medium-term management plan (the “Plan”) for the period from FY2024 to FY2026, is large, and it enhanced the possibility that the financial improvement previously assumed by JCR will slow down. However, if the liquidation of Tokyo Garden Terrace Kioicho is realized, it is likely to contribute to the further improvement of the financial condition, and JCR will be paying close attention to the outcome. Based on the above, JCR has affirmed the ratings on the Company and continues placing Positive outlook.
- (3) Operating profit for FY2024 is planned to be 45 billion yen (down 5.7% year on year). The factors behind the decline in profit include increased personnel expenses and depreciation expenses in the Urban Transportation & Regional business. However, demand is expected to continue to recover in the operations such as railways, buses, hotels at home and abroad. In the medium to long term, the Company has set out a growth strategy centered on the Real Estate business, planning to reinvest the proceeds of liquidation in and new properties. The Company intend to liquidate all properties owned, and JCR will continue to observe the status of the deliberation as well as the results of reinvestment.
- (4) As of the end of FY2023, the net interest-bearing debt/EBITDA ratio was 7.2x (9.9x a year ago), and the DER improved to 1.8x (2.1x a year ago). The capital investment plan in the Plan stood at 383 billion yen (the actual investment amount in the previous Plan was 154.1 billion yen). High levels of investments are expected, including capital expenditures for the sustainable development of the railway business, new property acquisitions, and the renovations of the Mauna Kea Beach Hotel, which are highly likely to push up interest-bearing debt. In addition, a temporary decrease in equity capital is assumed as a result of NW Corporation becoming a consolidated subsidiary. As for Tokyo Garden Terrace Kioicho, procedures for liquidation appear to be underway, and JCR will be following up on the progress of these procedures.

2 The version of the procedure or methodology used to determine the credit rating; as Required by Paragraph (a)(1)(ii)(B) of Rule 17g-7

- Please see the news release. If the credit rating is a private rating, please see the report for private rating.

3 The Main Assumptions and Principles used in Constructing the Procedures and Methodologies used to Determine the Credit Rating as Required by Paragraph (a)(1)(ii)(C) of Rule 17g-7

- The credit rating methodology assumes, in principle, to be applied to assess the likelihood of a given debt payment in light of its issuer's condition and business environment, etc. in the relevant future. There is certain limitation, however, in the time horizon that the rating foresees.
- The credit rating methodology assumes, in principle, that the factors posted in the below are particularly important for such likelihood to be determined, and that the rating determination is made by evaluating each of them not only quantitatively but also employing qualitative analyses.

A) Business Bases

The likelihood of a given debt payment is highly conditional to its issuer's business bases - how they can be maintained/ expanded into the future and thereby secure earnings and cash flows in adequacy and in a sustainable way.

B) Financial Grounds and Asset Quality

The likelihood of debt payment is highly dependent on the degree of the issuer's indebtedness and loss absorption capacity in terms of equity capital. Also notable is that a financial institution might see a significant loss of financial grounds as a result of changes in value of the assets under its possession.

C) Liquidity Positions

The likelihood of debt payment is highly dependent on the adequacy of the issuer's cash and other sources of repayment (liquidity positions).

D) Related Parties' Status and Stance of Support/ Assistance for the Issuer

The likelihood of debt payment is affected one way or the other by the issuer's related parties such as parent company, subsidiary, guarantor, and the government of the issuer's business domicile, etc. - by their own conditions and/ or position of support/ assistance for the issuer.

E) Order of Seniority in Debt Payment

The likelihood of debt payment can be different between given debts of the same issuer. The likelihood of debt payment for an individual debt is dependent on the issuer's discretion, and/ or its rank relative to other debts of the same issuer in the order of seniority in principal/ interest payment which is determined by design as financial product or by laws, etc.

4 The Potential Limitations of the Credit Rating as Required by Paragraph (a)(1)(ii)(D) of Rule 17g-7

- The credit rating herewith presented by JCR is its summary opinion with regard to the likelihood of given debt payment and hence not necessarily a perfect representation of such likelihood. The credit rating is not intended to estimate the probability of default or the loss on given default, either.
- The objective of the credit rating herewith presented does not include any concerns other than the likelihood of debt payment, such as risks of price changes, market liquidity, etc.
- The credit rating herewith presented is necessary to be reviewed along with possible changes of the issuer of rated objects in its business performance and/ or circumstances which include regulatory environment, and hence subject to possible alteration.

11 Explanation or Measure of the Potential Volatility of the Credit Rating as Required by Paragraph (a)(1)(ii)(K) of Rule 17g-7

A) Business Bases

The credit rating is subject to alteration if there is improvement or deterioration of the issuer's business bases, since its revenue, etc. may improve or deteriorate by the change in its business management policies, clients' preferences, competitive situation, or a technological innovation. The resultant alteration of the credit rating is usually by a notch, with possibility of a few notches if and when the change in the business bases is large.

B) Financial Grounds and Asset Quality

The credit rating is subject to alteration if the issuer increases/ decreases its debt/ capital or vice versa and thereby makes its individual debt payment liability less or more bearable and its loss absorption capacity into the future decreased or increased. Also, the changes in the quality of asset under the issuer's holding may affect the credit rating, since such changes could raise or lower the likelihood of future loss of the issuer's financial grounds. The resultant alteration of the credit rating is usually by a notch, with possibility of a few notches if and when the change in the financial grounds and/ or asset quality is large.

C) Liquidity Positions

The credit rating is subject to alteration if there is a change in the issuer's financial management policy or in the relations with fund procurement sources and the change thereby makes its liquidity positions improve or deteriorate. The resultant alteration of the credit rating is usually by a notch, with possibility of a few notches if and when the change is large.

D) Related Parties' Status and Stance of Support/ Assistance for the Issuer

The credit rating is subject to alteration if there is a change in the issuer's parent company or subsidiary, guarantor or other provider of credit enhancement, or the government of the issuer's business domicile, or other related parties' own conditions and/ or position of support/ assistance for the issuer, and the change thereby makes its business bases, financial grounds and/ or liquidity positions improve or deteriorate, and/ or making the effectiveness of guarantee and other credit enhancement improve or deteriorate. The resultant alteration of the credit rating is usually a notch, with possibility of a few notches if and when the change is large.

E) Order of Seniority in Debt Payment and Non-Payment Forgiven by Contract

The credit rating is subject to alteration if there is a change in the rated debt's status in the order of seniority relative to other debts caused by the improvement/ deterioration of the issuer's financial condition. The resultant alteration of the credit rating is usually a notch, with possibility of a few notches if and when the change is large. Also, in case of the financial products for which non-payment of interest/ principal is contractually permissible, the credit rating is subject to alteration if and when the likelihood of such non-payment is projected to increase or decrease. The resultant alteration of the credit rating could be by a notch but often as much as a few notches.

F) Rise and Fall in General Economy and Markets

The credit rating is subject to alteration if there is a rise/ fall in the general economy and/ or the markets inducing the issuer's revenues/ expenses to increase/ decrease and vice versa, etc. The resultant alteration of the credit rating is usually by a notch, with possibility of a few notches if and when the change is exceptionally large.

G) Various Events

The credit rating is subject to alteration on occurrence of various events, such as change in the issuer's major shareholders, M&A and other organizational change, accident, violation of the law, litigation, legal/ regulatory change, natural disaster, etc., which are unforeseeable at the time when the credit rating is determined, causing a significant change on the issuer's business bases, financial grounds, etc. The resultant alteration of the credit rating could be by a notch but more often than not as much as a few notches.

Information on the Sensitivity of the Credit Rating to Assumptions Made as Required by Paragraph (a)(1)(ii)(M) of Rule 17g-7

A) Business Bases

The credit rating herewith presented could be changed if and when the assumptions made at the time of its determination turn out to be inaccurate with regard to the issuer's business bases and powers of earning or cash flow generation, etc. The resultant change of the credit rating is most likely by a notch, as JCR speculates, but possibly as much as a few notches if the development is rapid in improvement or deterioration of the issuer's business bases on some drastic change in the operational environments, etc.

B) Financial Grounds and Asset Quality

The credit rating herewith presented could be changed if and when the assumptions made at the time of its determination turn out to be inaccurate with regard to the issuer's financial grounds and asset quality. The resultant change of the credit rating is most likely by a notch, as JCR speculates, but possibly as much as a few notches if the development is rapid in improvement or deterioration of the issuer's financial grounds and/ or asset quality on some drastic change in its business bases.

C) Liquidity Risks

The credit rating herewith presented could be changed if and when the assumptions made at the time of its determination turn out to be inaccurate with regard to the issuer's liquidity positions. JCR assumes the resultant change of the credit rating is most likely by a notch. The change could be as much as a few notches if the issuer's financial structure differs so much and thereby the balance between debts shifted so greatly. Rating change is also possible in case of the financial products for which non-payment of interest/ principal is contractually permissible, if and when the assumptions made at the time of its determination turns out to be inaccurate. The change of the credit rating is assumed to be by a notch but often as much as a few notches.

E) Rise and Fall in General Economy and Markets

The credit rating herewith presented could be changed if and when the assumptions made at the time of its determination turn out to be inaccurate with regard to the prospects of general economy and markets.
