

Japan Credit Rating Agency, Ltd. (JCR) announces the following credit rating.

INPEX CORPORATION (security code: 1605)

<Affirmation>

Long-term Issuer Rating: AA+
Outlook: Stable

Rationale

- (1) INPEX CORPORATION (the "Company") is Japan's largest oil and natural gas developer. It has a number of good interests both at home and abroad. It is viewed as a core company responsible for the stable supply of energy for Japan as the government aims to raise the ratio of self-development. The Minister of Economy, Trade and Industry is the largest shareholder (shareholding ratio of 21.99% as of June 30, 2025) and, by holding golden shares, also possesses veto rights for certain major corporate decisions. While receiving support from the government through high-level resource diplomacy when acquiring resource interests, the Company is pressing ahead with projects by utilizing financial support from government-affiliated financial institutions and other organizations.
- (2) The Company's performance is steady. The Ichthys LNG Project in Australia, a core profit generator, maintains stable operations and shipment volume. Projects in other areas including Abu Dhabi also continue stable production without any major issues. As regards the Abadi LNG Project in Indonesia, it appears to be making steady progress towards the final investment decision to be made in 2027, as indicated by its transition to the FEED (Front End Engineering Design) phase in August 2025. Despite the expectation that crude oil prices will remain weak, JCR predicts that the Company can maintain the high profit level into the future through the Profit Booster 500 initiatives, maintenance and expansion of production volumes at existing projects and so forth. Financial base is solid. Based on the above, JCR affirmed the rating on the Company with Stable outlook.
- (3) According to the Company's announcement in November 2025, profit attributable to owners of parent was projected to fall 8.7% over the year to 390 billion yen in the fiscal year ended December 2025 (FY2025). This decline was expected mainly due to a drop in crude oil prices, but, based on historical performance, a high profit level will still likely be attained. For Ichthys, even though maintenance works carried out in the second half of the year by temporarily shutting it down took slightly longer than initially planned, annual shipment volume is expected to remain on par with the previous year. Moreover, among the Profit Booster 500 initiatives, those including the recording of foreign exchange gain from Ichthys paid-in capital reduction will work positively. As Ichthys' production volume will likely turn around in FY2026 thanks to the elimination of maintenance effects, JCR assumes that steady performance will continue.
- (4) Financial balance remains largely unchanged, as indicated by net D/E ratio as of the end of the third quarter of FY2025 remaining flat from the previous year-end at 0.33x. The Company aims to increase shareholder returns under the medium-term business plan for 2025 through 2027 but will nevertheless continue disciplined financial management to prepare for future growth investments, including Abadi. JCR assumes that good financial indicators will be maintained for a while thanks in part to an increase in equity capital with profit accumulation and in available funds for investment in Abadi.

3

The Main Assumptions and Principles used in Constructing the Procedures and Methodologies used to Determine the Credit Rating as Required by Paragraph (a)(1)(ii)(C) of Rule 17g-7

- The credit rating methodology assumes, in principle, to be applied to assess the likelihood of a given debt payment in light of its issuer's condition and business environment, etc. in the relevant future. There is certain limitation, however, in the time horizon that the rating foresees.
- The credit rating methodology assumes, in principle, that the factors posted in the below are particularly important for such likelihood to be determined, and that the rating determination is made by evaluating each of them not only quantitatively but also employing qualitative analyses.

A) Business Bases

The likelihood of a given debt payment is highly conditional to its issuer's business bases - how they can be maintained/ expanded into the future and thereby secure earnings and cash flows in adequacy and in a sustainable way.

B) Financial Grounds and Asset Quality

The likelihood of debt payment is highly dependent on the degree of the issuer's indebtedness and loss absorption capacity in terms of equity capital. Also notable is that a financial institution might see a significant loss of financial grounds as a result of changes in value of the assets under its possession.

C) Liquidity Positions

The likelihood of debt payment is highly dependent on the adequacy of the issuer's cash and other sources of repayment (liquidity positions).

D) Related Parties' Status and Stance of Support/ Assistance for the Issuer

The likelihood of debt payment is affected one way or the other by the issuer's related parties such as parent company, subsidiary, guarantor, and the government of the issuer's business domicile, etc. - by their own conditions and/ or position of support/ assistance for the issuer.

E) Order of Seniority in Debt Payment

The likelihood of debt payment can be different between given debts of the same issuer. The likelihood of debt payment for an individual debt is dependent on the issuer's discretion, and/ or its rank relative to other debts of the same issuer in the order of seniority in principal/ interest payment which is determined by design as financial product or by laws, etc.

4 The Potential Limitations of the Credit Rating as Required by Paragraph (a)(1)(ii)(D) of Rule 17g-7

- The credit rating herewith presented by JCR is its summary opinion with regard to the likelihood of given debt payment and hence not necessarily a perfect representation of such likelihood. The credit rating is not intended to estimate the probability of default or the loss on given default, either.
- The objective of the credit rating herewith presented does not include any concerns other than the likelihood of debt payment, such as risks of price changes, market liquidity, etc.
- The credit rating herewith presented is necessary to be reviewed along with possible changes of the issuer of rated objects in its business performance and/ or circumstances which include regulatory environment, and hence subject to possible alteration.
