

Japan Credit Rating Agency, Ltd. (JCR) announces the following credit rating.

THE TOTTORI BANK, LTD. (security code: 8383)

<Affirmation>

Long-term Issuer Rating: BBB
Outlook: Stable

Rationale

- (1) THE TOTTORI BANK, LTD. (the "Bank") is a regional bank headquartered in Tottori City, Tottori Prefecture, with a fund volume of 1 trillion yen. It has a strong presence in the prefecture, its main operating base, with a market share of over 30% for loans. Factors reflected in the rating include the Bank's stable business base, good assets and decent capital adequacy. Fundamental earnings capacity has improved but still remains at a low level. Whether the Bank can further increase its earnings capacity will be a key to future rating decisions.
- (2) Core net business income (excluding gains on cancellation of investment trusts; hereinafter the same) has improved since hitting bottom in the fiscal year ended March 2017 (FY2016) thanks to a cut in expenses and increase in fee income from corporate and retail customers. The income for the nine months through November 2022 showed a slight year-on-year fall; however, because this was largely due to higher personnel expenses attributable to special factors, overall performance otherwise remained robust. That said, profitability measured by ROA and overhead ratio is still weak. Given that the Bank's efforts to strengthen consulting sales are beginning to yield positive results, including a rise in the number of contracts concluded for corporate solutions, JCR will watch whether these initiatives will lead to the improvement of earnings capacity.
- (3) Asset quality is good. Non-performing loans ratio under the Financial Reconstruction Act stands at around 1%, which is below the average of regional banks. Even with the large percentage of loans to local public organizations in the total taken into consideration, it is still low. The percentage of other assets requiring caution in the total is also small. Credit costs relative to the average balance of loans outstanding have been staying low. That said, as SMEs are facing tough conditions, including rising raw material and fuel prices, future trends in credit costs must be watched. Risks associated with securities investment are constrained. Securities-to-deposit ratio is low, and the portfolio is mostly comprised of yen-denominated bonds centering on local bonds, which indicate that the Bank is making investments conservatively.
- (4) Capital adequacy is at the level equivalent to the rating. Consolidated core capital ratio adjusted for general allowance for bad debts, etc. as of December 31, 2022 was in the upper 7% range. Looking ahead, an increase in risk assets due to growth in loan balance may become a downward pressure, but JCR assumes that capital adequacy will still be maintained at the level commensurate with the rating for a while.

3

The Main Assumptions and Principles used in Constructing the Procedures and Methodologies used to Determine the Credit Rating as Required by Paragraph (a)(1)(ii)(C) of Rule 17g-7

- The credit rating methodology assumes, in principle, to be applied to assess the likelihood of a given debt payment in light of its issuer's condition and business environment, etc. in the relevant future. There is certain limitation, however, in the time horizon that the rating foresees.
- The credit rating methodology assumes, in principle, that the factors posted in the below are particularly important for such likelihood to be determined, and that the rating determination is made by evaluating each of them not only quantitatively but also employing qualitative analyses.

A) Business Bases

The likelihood of a given debt payment is highly conditional to its issuer's business bases - how they can be maintained/ expanded into the future and thereby secure earnings and cash flows in adequacy and in a sustainable way.

B) Financial Grounds and Asset Quality

The likelihood of debt payment is highly dependent on the degree of the issuer's indebtedness and loss absorption capacity in terms of equity capital. Also notable is that a financial institution might see a significant loss of financial grounds as a result of changes in value of the assets under its possession.

C) Liquidity Positions

The likelihood of debt payment is highly dependent on the adequacy of the issuer's cash and other sources of repayment (liquidity positions).

D) Related Parties' Status and Stance of Support/ Assistance for the Issuer

The likelihood of debt payment is affected one way or the other by the issuer's related parties such as parent company, subsidiary, guarantor, and the government of the issuer's business domicile, etc. - by their own conditions and/ or position of support/ assistance for the issuer.

E) Order of Seniority in Debt Payment

The likelihood of debt payment can be different between given debts of the same issuer. The likelihood of debt payment for an individual debt is dependent on the issuer's discretion, and/ or its rank relative to other debts of the same issuer in the order of seniority in principal/ interest payment which is determined by design as financial product or by laws, etc.

4 The Potential Limitations of the Credit Rating as Required by Paragraph (a)(1)(ii)(D) of Rule 17g-7

- The objective of the credit rating herewith presented does not include any concerns other than the likelihood of debt payment, such as risks of price changes, market liquidity, etc.
- The credit rating herewith presented is necessary to be reviewed along with possible changes of the issuer of rated objects in its business performance and/ or circumstances which include regulatory environment, and hence subject to possible alteration.

A) Business Bases

The credit rating is subject to alteration if there is improvement or deterioration of the issuer's business bases, since its revenue, etc. may improve or deteriorate by the change in its business management policies, clients' preferences, competitive situation, or a technological innovation. The resultant alteration of the credit rating is usually by a notch, with possibility of a few notches if and when the change in the business bases is large.

B) Financial Grounds and Asset Quality

The credit rating is subject to alteration if the issuer increases/ decreases its debt/ capital or vice versa and thereby makes its individual debt payment liability less or more bearable and its loss absorption capacity into the future decreased or increased. Also, the changes in the quality of asset under the issuer's holding may affect the credit rating, since such changes could raise or lower the likelihood of future loss of the issuer's financial grounds. The resultant alteration of the credit rating is usually by a notch, with possibility of a few notches if and when the change in the financial grounds and/ or asset quality is large.

C) Liquidity Positions

The credit rating is subject to alteration if there is a change in the issuer's financial management policy or in the relations with fund procurement sources and the change thereby makes its liquidity positions improve or deteriorate. The resultant alteration of the credit rating is usually by a notch, with possibility of a few notches if and when the change is large.

D) Related Parties' Status and Stance of Support/ Assistance for the Issuer

The credit rating is subject to alteration if there is a change in the issuer's parent company or subsidiary, guarantor or other provider of credit enhancement, or the government of the issuer's business domicile, or other related parties' own conditions and/ or position of support/ assistance for the issuer, and the change thereby makes its business bases, financial grounds and/ or liquidity positions improve or deteriorate, and/ or making the effectiveness of guarantee and other credit enhancement improve or deteriorate. The resultant alteration of the credit rating is usually a notch, with possibility of a few notches if and when the change is large.

E) Order of Seniority in Debt Payment and Non-Payment Forgiven by Contract

The credit rating is subject to alteration if there is a change in the rated debt's status in the order of seniority relative to other debts caused by the improvement/ deterioration of the issuer's financial condition. The resultant alteration of the credit rating is usually a notch, with possibility of a few notches if and when the change is large. Also, in case of the financial products for which non-payment of interest/ principal is contractually permissible, the credit rating is subject to alteration if and when the likelihood of such non-payment is projected to increase or decrease. The resultant alteration of the credit rating could be by a notch but often as much as a few notches.

The credit rating is subject to alteration if there is a rise/ fall in the general economy and/ or the markets inducing the issuer's revenues/ expenses to increase/ decrease and vice versa, etc. The resultant alteration of the credit rating is usually by a notch, with possibility of a few notches if and when the change is exceptionally large.
