Rationale

- (1) KKR & Co. Inc. (KKR) is a leading global investment firm headquartered in the state of New York, the United States. JCR considers that the creditworthiness of the group is equivalent to AA-. The group's creditworthiness is primarily supported by its prominent market position in the U.S., Europe and Asia, a large volume of Assets Under Management (AUM) it holds and their solid investment performance, its stable fee incomes, ample liquidity and solid capital base. JCR considers that KKR's credit rating is identical to the group's creditworthiness, given its ability to control the group. Its AUM is expanding. However, its performance from January to September 2023 was lower year-on-year due to reduced exits. KKR's performance in 2024 is expected to recover moderately on expanding AUM and increased exits. For these reasons, JCR has affirmed its rating and kept the outlook Stable. KKR Group Finance Co. IV LLC and KKR Group Finance Co. XI LLC are financial subsidiaries of KKR. As payments of the principal and interests of the bonds issued by those two subsidiaries are jointly and severally guaranteed by KKR & Co. Inc. and KKR Group Partnership L.P., their ratings reflect the credit standing of the guarantors.
- (2) The group was founded in 1976 by Henry Kravis and George Roberts (currently, Co-Executive Chairmen). Today, KKR is one of the largest investment management firms in the world. It manages investments in various assets centering on private equity (PE) and offers accompanying financial services. With 26 offices in 18 countries, it has a solid customer base. More than 80% of its investors are acquired Global Atlantic (GA), pension funds and insurance companies. KKR's AUM from insurance companies increased with the acquisition of GA on February 1, 2021. Ensuring stable fee incomes by building up AUM holds the key to the PE business. KKR has generated strong investment performances and diversified its invested assets to meet the customer requirements. Consequently, its AUM grew approximately 5.3 times from USD 99.9 billion at the end of 2013 to USD 527.7 billion at the end of September 2023. The inflow of USD 145 billion worth of AUM through GA is a factor that has contributed to the recent expansion.
- (3) The performances of the 43 investment funds managed since 1999 by KKR's Private Equity and Real Assets business lines have been comparatively high, with the fair value of investment assets totaling USD 286.3 billion, and with gross IRR, net IRR and multiple of invested capital standing at 16.1%, 12.3% and 1.8 times, respectively, at the end of September 2023. Return on many of the investment assets reported by its Credit and Liquid Strategies has also been higher than the benchmark. KKR's own investments were valued at USD 19.1 billion at the end of September 2023, with PE accounting for the majority. Its own investment was kept at around 72% of its equity. In Japan, KKR announced the purchase of Rakuten's stake in Seiyu in May 2023. With this purchase, KKR increased its stake in Seiyu from 65% to 85%. Japan Post Insurance Co., Ltd. (Japan Post Insurance) and KKR announced their entrance into a strategic partnership in June 2023. Japan Post Insurance has agreed to make a material investment in a reinsurance co-investment vehicle sponsored by GA.

- (4) KKR's fee incomes such as Management Fees calculated as a percentage of AUM sufficiently cover its fixed costs and are the source of its stable earnings. In the first three quarters of 2023, KKR's distributable operating earnings decreased 15.5% year-on-year to USD 3 billion on a shrinkage of Performance Income and Investment Income resulting from reduced exits. JCR expects that KKR's performance will moderately recover in 2024 on increased AUM and exits.
- (5) The ratio of Debt Obligations to the equity and the equity ratio also stayed solid as compared to those of peers, standing at 26.9% and 70.2%, respectively, at the end of September 2023. KKR has ample cash and short-term investments. In addition, it has a USD 1.5 billion revolving facility, keeping its liquidity sufficient enough. Its ability to pay debts is high, with Debt Obligations/EBITDA and EBITDA/interest expense ratios standing at 2.4 times and 11 times, respectively, at the end of September 2023.

The Main Assumptions and Principles used in Constructing the Procedures and Methodologies used to Determine the Credit Rating as Required by Paragraph (a)(1)(ii)(C) of Rule 17g-7

- The credit rating methodology assumes, in principle, to be applied to assess the likelihood of a given debt payment in light of its issuer's condition and business environment, etc. in the relevant future. There is certain limitation, however, in the time horizon that the rating foresees.
- The credit rating methodology assumes, in principle, that the factors posted in the below are particularly important for such likelihood to be determined, and that the rating determination is made by evaluating each of them not only quantitatively but also employing qualitative analyses.

A) Business Bases

The likelihood of a given debt payment is highly conditional to its issuer's business bases - how they can be maintained/ expanded into the future and thereby secure earnings and cash flows in adequacy and in a sustainable way.

B) Financial Grounds and Asset Quality

The likelihood of debt payment is highly dependent on the degree of the issuer's indebtedness and loss absorption capacity in terms of equity capital. Also notable is that a financial institution might see a significant loss of financial grounds as a result of changes in value of the assets under its possession.

C) Liquidity Positions

The likelihood of debt payment is highly dependent on the adequacy of the issuer's cash and other sources of repayment (liquidity positions).

D) Related Parties' Status and Stance of Support/ Assistance for the Issuer

The likelihood of debt payment is affected one way or the other by the issuer's related parties such as parent company, subsidiary, guarantor, and the government of the issuer's business domicile, etc. - by their own conditions and/ or position of support/ assistance for the issuer.

E) Order of Seniority in Debt Payment

The likelihood of debt payment can be different between given debts of the same issuer. The likelihood of debt payment for an individual debt is dependent on the issuer's discretion, and/ or its rank relative to other debts of the same issuer in the order of seniority in principal/ interest payment which is determined by design as financial product or by laws, etc.

4 The Potential Limitations of the Credit Rating as Required by Paragraph (a)(1)(ii)(D) of Rule 17g-7

- The credit rating herewith presented by JCR is its summary opinion with regard to the likelihood of given debt payment and hence not necessarily a perfect representation of such likelihood. The credit rating is not intended to estimate the probability of default or the loss on given default, either.
- The objective of the credit rating herewith presented does not include any concerns other than the likelihood of debt payment, such as risks of price changes, market liquidity, etc.
- The credit rating herewith presented is necessary to be reviewed along with possible changes of the issuer of rated objects in its business performance and/ or circumstances which include regulatory environment, and hence subject to possible alteration.

5 Information on the Uncertainty of the Credit Rating as Required by Paragraph (a)(1)(ii)(E) of Rule 17g-7

11 Explanation or Measure of the Potential Volatility of the Credit Rating as Required by Paragraph (a)(1)(ii)(K) of Rule 17g-7

A) Business Bases

The credit rating is subject to alteration if there is improvement or deterioration of the issuer's business bases, since its revenue, etc. may improve or deteriorate by the change in its business management policies, clients' preferences, competitive situation, or a technological innovation. The resultant alteration of the credit rating is usually by a notch, with possibility of a few notches if and when the change in the business bases is large.

B) Financial Grounds and Asset Quality

The credit rating is subject to alteration if the issuer increases/ decreases its debt/ capital or vice versa and thereby makes its individual debt payment liability less or more bearable and its loss absorption capacity into the future decreased or increased. Also, the changes in the quality of asset under the issuer's holding may affect the credit rating, since such changes could raise or lower the likelihood of future loss of the issuer's financial grounds. The resultant alteration of the credit rating is usually by a notch, with possibility of a few notches if and when the change in the financial grounds and/ or asset quality is large.

C) Liquidity Positions

The credit rating is subject to alteration if there is a change in the issuer's financial management policy or in the relations with fund procurement sources and the change thereby makes its liquidity positions improve or deteriorate. The resultant alteration of the credit rating is usually by a notch, with possibility of a few notches if and when the change is large.

D) Related Parties' Status and Stance of Support/ Assistance for the Issuer

The credit rating is subject to alteration if there is a change in the issuer's parent company or subsidiary, guarantor or other provider of credit enhancement, or the government of the issuer's business domicile, or other related parties' own conditions and/ or position of support/ assistance for the issuer, and the change thereby makes its business bases, financial grounds and/ or liquidity positions improve or deteriorate, and/ or making the effectiveness of guarantee and other credit enhancement improve or deteriorate. The resultant alteration of the credit rating is usually a notch, with possibility of a few notches if and when the change is large.

E) Order of Seniority in Debt Payment and Non-Payment Forgiven by Contract

The credit rating is subject to alteration if there is a change in the rated debt's status in the order of seniority relative to other debts caused by the improvement/ deterioration of the issuer's financial condition. The resultant alteration of the credit rating is usually a notch, with possibility of a few notches if and when the change is large. Also, in case of the financial products for which non-payment of interest/ principal is contractually permissible, the credit rating is subject to alteration if and when the likelihood of such non-payment is projected to increase or decrease. The resultant alteration of the credit rating could be by a notch but often as much as a few notches.

F) Rise and Fall in General Economy and Markets

The credit rating is subject to alteration if there is a rise/ fall in the general economy and/ or the markets inducing the issuer's revenues/ expenses to increase/ decrease and vice versa, etc. The resultant alteration of the credit rating is usually by a notch, with possibility of a few notches if and when the change is exceptionally large.

G) Various Events

The credit rating is subject to alteration on occurrence of various events, such as change in the issuer's major shareholders, M&A and other organizational change, accident, violation of the law, litigation, legal/ regulatory change, natural disaster, etc., which are unforeseeable at the time when the credit rating is determined, causing a significant change on the issuer's business bases, financial grounds, etc. The resultant alteration of the credit rating could be by a notch but more often than not as much as a few notches.
