

Japan Credit Rating Agency, Ltd. (JCR) announces the following credit ratings.

Frasers Property Limited (security code: -)

<Affirmation>

Foreign Currency Long-term Issuer Rating:	AA-
Outlook:	Stable
Local Currency Long-term Issuer Rating:	AA-
Outlook:	Stable

Rationale

- (1) Frasers Property Limited (FPL) is a comprehensive real estate company based in Singapore, with its business activities broadly ranging from the development, leasing, property management and fund management. Its total assets under management were worth SGD48.4 billion as of the end of March 2025, including two REITs and one stapled trust listed in Singapore and two Thailand-listed REITs which FPL group manages as a sponsor. The ratings reflect FPL's solid business base supported by its operational scale and diversification of investment risks, stable earnings such as rental income, disciplined financial policy and accumulated track records of business operations as well as concerns about its property development and interest rate hike risks.
- (2) The property assets owned by FPL geographically consist of 33% located in Singapore, 28% in Australia, 19% in Europe, 13% in Thailand, 3% in China and 4% in other countries. By asset class, 36% of them are industrial & logistics facilities, followed by retail facilities with 23%, commercial & business parks with 18%, hotels with 11% and residential with 12%. Overall, occupancy rates at the properties stay high. FPL has shown continued focus on investing in industrial & logistics facilities, where stable growth can be expected, and is now expanding its pipelines. With regard to the residential development and sale business, classified as a short-term "Non-Recurring Business", development risks remain below a certain level in accordance with the basic strategy for business composition, while recent trends also show conservative revisions to business plans due to rising construction costs and the utilization of capital partnerships. There are no major concerns regarding the current progress on large-scale development projects, including "One Bangkok," in which the FPL Group is participating.
- (3) On the financial front, the impact of the financial markets has led to lower valuations for some properties and higher borrowing costs. Although the net debt-total equity ratio and net debt-Property assets ratio rose slightly to 89% and 44% respectively as of the end of March 2025, they have been reasonably controlled in accordance with FPL's leverage policy. With the average debt cost of 4.0%, the net interest coverage ratio of 2.1 times, the fixed debt ratio of 70%, and the weighted debt maturity of 2.6 years, FPL needs to enhance profitability relative to interest costs and further stabilize its financing structure. However, given the stable cash flow such as rental income and management fee, the progress in leveling its debt maturity and the size of its liquidity including cash and deposits and commitment lines by lenders, its refinancing risk is kept restrained to some extent. Going forward, FPL intends to reduce its financial burden through capital recycling by property divestments and through joint investments with strategic partners, and JCR will continue to monitor the progress of its financial improvement. As to FPL's capital relations, TCC group, one of major Thai conglomerates, holds a majority equity stake of about 87% in FPL. Given its status as a listed company in Singapore and the healthy composition of independent directors within its board of directors, FPL is considered to retain an adequate degree of independence in management decision-making.

The Main Assumptions and Principles used in Constructing the Procedures and Methodologies used to Determine the Credit Rating as Required by Paragraph (a)(1)(ii)(C) of Rule 17g-7

- The credit rating methodology assumes, in principle, to be applied to assess the likelihood of a given debt payment in light of its issuer's condition and business environment, etc. in the relevant future. There is certain limitation, however, in the time horizon that the rating foresees.
- The credit rating methodology assumes, in principle, that the factors posted in the below are particularly important for such likelihood to be determined, and that the rating determination is made by evaluating each of them not only quantitatively but also employing qualitative analyses.

A) Business Bases

The likelihood of a given debt payment is highly conditional to its issuer's business bases - how they can be maintained/ expanded into the future and thereby secure earnings and cash flows in adequacy and in a sustainable way.

B) Financial Grounds and Asset Quality

The likelihood of debt payment is highly dependent on the degree of the issuer's indebtedness and loss absorption capacity in terms of equity capital. Also notable is that a financial institution might see a significant loss of financial grounds as a result of changes in value of the assets under its possession.

C) Liquidity Positions

The likelihood of debt payment is highly dependent on the adequacy of the issuer's cash and other sources of repayment (liquidity positions).

D) Related Parties' Status and Stance of Support/ Assistance for the Issuer

The likelihood of debt payment is affected one way or the other by the issuer's related parties such as parent company, subsidiary, guarantor, and the government of the issuer's business domicile, etc. - by their own conditions and/ or position of support/ assistance for the issuer.

E) Order of Seniority in Debt Payment

The likelihood of debt payment can be different between given debts of the same issuer. The likelihood of debt payment for an individual debt is dependent on the issuer's discretion, and/ or its rank relative to other debts of the same issuer in the order of seniority in principal/ interest payment which is determined by design as financial product or by laws, etc.

4 The Potential Limitations of the Credit Rating as Required by Paragraph (a)(1)(ii)(D) of Rule 17g-7

- The credit rating herewith presented is necessary to be reviewed along with possible changes of the issuer of rated objects in its business performance and/ or circumstances which include regulatory environment, and hence subject to possible alteration.

The credit rating is subject to alteration if the issuer increases/ decreases its debt/ capital or vice versa and thereby makes its individual debt payment liability less or more bearable and its loss absorption capacity into the future decreased or increased. Also, the changes in the quality of asset under the issuer's holding may affect the credit rating, since such changes could raise or lower the likelihood of future loss of the issuer's financial grounds. The resultant alteration of the credit rating is usually by a notch, with possibility of a few notches if and when the change in the financial grounds and/ or asset quality is large.

C) Liquidity Positions

The credit rating is subject to alteration if there is a change in the issuer's financial management policy or in the relations with fund procurement sources and the change thereby makes its liquidity positions improve or deteriorate. The resultant alteration of the credit rating is usually by a notch, with possibility of a few notches if and when the change is large.

D) Related Parties' Status and Stance of Support/ Assistance for the Issuer

The credit rating is subject to alteration if there is a change in the issuer's parent company or subsidiary, guarantor or other provider of credit enhancement, or the government of the issuer's business domicile, or other related parties' own conditions and/ or position of support/ assistance for the issuer, and the change thereby makes its business bases, financial grounds and/ or liquidity positions improve or deteriorate, and/ or making the effectiveness of guarantee and other credit enhancement improve or deteriorate. The resultant alteration of the credit rating is usually a notch, with possibility of a few notches if and when the change is large.

Also, in case of the financial products for which non-payment of interest/ principal is contractually permissible, the credit rating is subject to alteration if and when the likelihood of such non-payment is projected to increase or decrease. The resultant alteration of the credit rating could be by a notch but often as much as a few notches.

The credit rating is subject to alteration if there is a rise/ fall in the general economy and/ or the markets inducing the issuer's revenues/ expenses to increase/ decrease and vice versa, etc. The resultant alteration of the credit rating is usually by a notch, with possibility of a few notches if and when the change is exceptionally large.
